A NEW ERA in the history of California began one hundred years ago when the cry of gold echoed across the nation. By the thousands came the forty niners . . . in their hearts swelled a faith and pride in the unbounded wealth of the golden state . . .

BUT STRANGELY enough California's wealth was soon to be measured not by the ore found beneath the ground, but by her agriculture, her industry, her climate and her youth . . .

TODAY THE young men and women of California and of the world come to Westwood looking for a different wealth . . . but the faith and pride in our great state is the same for we know that still . . .

. . . 'there's

gold in them thar hills?

When our university was founded in 1919 the record of that year was set down in the first Southern Campus; and so, through three decades of growth, progress and expansion, has the history of UCLA been told. On the hundredth anniversary of the gold rush it is only logical that we look at our university and realize the opportunities which she offers. It is this wealth that we have tried to capture in the thirtieth volume of our annual. We hope the story presented here will recall to memory some of the happiest days of your life, and while turning the pages of the '49 SOUTHERN CAMPUS you will find a growing pride in the greatness of California and an undying love for our Alma Mater.

To a man who typifies UCLA in every way we pay honor. It is not only for what he does that we admire him, but for what he inspires us to do. It is with deepest respect and with sincere appreciation that we dedicate the 1949 edition of the SOUTHERN CAMPUS to our loyal rooter, to our friend, MR. JOE E. BROWN.

Joe E. Brown's sports and war souvenirs are found alongside UCLA's own trophies in the Varsity Trophy room, one his many gifts to the students. The official presentation of the room (right) was made last year by the inimitable Brown himself. Joe waved Babe Ruth's famous "sixtieth home run" bat approvingly (above) while Ralph Gold, track star, was amazed by Boxer Primo Carnera's size 23 shoes and football great Cal Rossi found out if Red Grange's "77" jersey fit him. Among Joe's other projects for the school are the main building at the University Summer camp for underprivileged children and the recently inaugurated Don Brown Memorial award to the most improved UCLA football player.

Entertaining America and the world is the job of Joe E. Brown. He entered show business when only nine, and he has been with the profession ever since . . . on the stage and in the movies. His greatest performances, however, were during the war when the whole world was his stage and the armed forces of many nations his audiences. Not only Joe, but the entire Brown family is UCLA minded. Two sons, Don and Joe Jr., attended UCLA and a daughter, Mary, is now on campus. Enthusiastic sportsmen, the boys played football and basketball, and Don held the student body president's chair in 1938-39. A captain in the Air Forces, Don was killed in a plane crash in October, 1942.

Joe's gifts to the student body have been numerous . . . all from the heart of an unselfish person. But the greatest gift of all is the feeling of school pride which he has imparted to the Westwood campus. Just when the going seems the toughest, his appearances and messages fill Bruins everywhere with an unconquerable spirit . . . that Joe E. Brown spirit.

Always ready to help out and make any event a success, Joe's presence is remembered at numerous UCLA functions. As usual he kept 'em laughing at the annual tennis banquet last year.

RICKEL

A welcome event for the whole University was the cutting of the ribbon opening the new library wing.

When you're young you think of the man with the jolly, jovial laugh as Santa Claus . . . when you have come to UCLA and met our president you remember Robert G. Sproul as the man with the "Santa Claus" laugh. Even though his many activities as president of the eight campuses prevent him from visiting UCLA as often as we'd like, Dr. Sproul manages to keep an eye on our affairs and to make his pleasing personality a permanent factor of our campus life.

Members of the Board of Regents take time off from their many duties to pose for the photographer. These men and women who have the final say so on all university policies are, from left to right: J. Corley, B. Alport, F. P. Griffiths, E. J. Fenston, C. Minitz, Secretary M. Woolman, R. Underhill, E. A. Dickson, R. G. Sproul, M. Harrison, A. P. Giannini, F. M. Jordan, P. R. Hutchinson, A. J. McFadden, and Associate Attorney A. H. Conard.

Cal's staunchest rooter . . . that's Governor Earl Warren. As an ex-officio member of the Board of Regents he helps guide all university policies and shows sincere interest in the students on all eight campuses.

. . . at los angeles

The "southern branch" . . . "the second branch" . . . by such titles "big brother Cal" tries to place UCLA in a minor position among the eight campuses which comprise the University of California. Though the southern campus was not first in line of founding, there is nothing in the size or educational advantages offered which can be termed secondary. To the Bruins, this campus situated in the hills of Westwood, is the principal branch . . . the nugget . . . among the golden campuses of the University of California.

"For he's a jolly good fellow!" We sang that refrain to him at the Christmas serenade and we sang his praises throughout the year. We boast of his school spirit, of his ability as our chief executive; but, above all, we're proud that UCLA's provost is Dr. Clarence Dykstra.

provost dykstra

On the door of 239 in the Ad building are the new words "Associated Dean of Students." It's just a new title for one of UCLA's staunchest rooters, Dr. Jessie Rhulman, who serves our student body in her capable, understanding manner.

Impressed with our student government is Dean of Students Milton E. Hahn. In his capacity as administrative representative to SEC during the fall semester he was ever willing to offer advice, but showed his faith in UCLA's campus leaders by never using his prerogative of a vote.

If you want to see the latest things in trees, flowers, or shrubs, go to the Botany department . . . for Ye Olde Botanical Gardens present the new look in plant life.

Not a course in trail blazing . . . just the sub-tropical horticulture students blazing away on the latest in foliage fashions. Everyone should take this course on "How to know leaves and impress people."

college

No, it's not an Indian scout . . . look again! Here we are in the bee-youtiful orchards of UCLA where off in the distance we detect the towering spire of the Village Theatre . . . civilization, here we come!

A mighty talented man is Vernon T. Stoutemeyer. His hobbies include violin making, woodcraft, journalism . . . also he's head of Ornamental Horticulture.

Genial Sidney Cameron rarely gets aggravated, even at students in his sub-tropical horticulure classes, but inaccurate reports "get his goat."

Not posed for a "man of distinction" ad, but always playing the part is Dr. R. W. Hodgson. Although originally from Texas, it was on a California farm that he discovered his true talent for horticulture work.

of agriculture

"The world is my apple," claims jovial Martin R. Huberty, and as a professor teaching irrigation and soil courses, he should know about apples!

Walter Ebeling "relaxes" from his classes in Entomology by going away from school for mountain climbing in the Rockies, Alps, or Sierras.

Always in a rush, this prof prefaces most of his remarks with "Now boys and girls." Who's he? Anyone in the Botany department will easily identify Carl C. Epling.

"Is that so?" queries Dr. Arthur W. Haupt, when students from his botany classes gripe after the tests. According to him, it usually isn't!

Let's get the right pitch! Under the capable direction of Professor Raymond Moreman, UCLA's choir and glee clubs seem to do just that.

Avocation . . . vocation . . . shmocation . . . it's all art as far as Doctor William Bowne is concerned, and he's good at it . . . anyone who's had Art 1B knows.

college of applied

Learn how to make your own clothes in three easy lessons! Well, it may take a little longer, but Mrs. Clarice Lindsey, of the Home Ec department, is the person to teach you.

She comes from Spokane, "God's Country," Washington, and during her short stay at UCLA, gym teacher Jackie Albi has gained great acclaim . . . she's a Troll, remember?

Dean of the College of Applied Arts, acting head of the Home Economics department, Director of Vocational Education, professor of education . . . and Dean David Jackey still finds time to counsel every student who comes into his office.

How smooth can one man be? And he played college football, too . . . John R. Winnie looks as though he should be in pictures instead of teaching Theater Arts.

arts

Back to the "good ole days," the gold rush days, and the Navaho art of pottery production . . . a hunk of clay, a turning wheel, and you, too, can make your own cooking utensils in a ceramics class . . . or maybe this is only a regression to the days of mud pies and flower salads.

Film! Film! Film! Just as plentiful around here now as gold was in 1849. Guess these industrious prospective film technicians from the Theater Arts department are learning one of the more complicated ways to earn that precious stuff.

No, it's not a new Indian war dance, it's an eleven o'clock tennis class perfecting its form . . . looks pretty good, too! Where does a man sign up for a class like this?

"A dream come true" . . . that's the new Business Administration building for Dean N. H. Jacoby. All that room, those modern classrooms, and those beautiful offices really make the big job of moving and reorganizing worthwhile.

A Business Administration teacher's teacher is S. J. Wanous, who teaches prospective Business Administration teachers. In other words he's a teacher!

A pleasing personality, a good sense of humor, and a yen for sailing and grand opera combine to make a "Grade A" shorthand teacher . . . Mrs. E. B. Plough.

college of business admini

Busy little minds and busy little fingers mean these business administration majors are on the right trail. The hunt and peck system just isn't what it used to be in high school.

That's no mine detector on the desk, but these boys are prospecting into the deeper side of calculation. Looks like they've reached the conclusion that business administration is no picnic.

Just looking, thanks. There's nothing quite so refreshing as a good exchange of notes while the teacher isn't watching. Looks like somebody got caught in the act.

The only fault with this university is that there isn't enough student-faculty contact, according to Alfred Nicols, but he still thinks our school is pretty swell.

They call him "The Trapper" . . . could be 'cause R. H. Lusk goes in for hunting and fishing in a big way, besides taking interest in his fraternity, Sigma Nu, and teaching Brimful of school spirit is L. W. Erickson. Not only does he think UCLA is the greatest, but he claims we have the highest caliber students! . . . students take note!

Enjoying music and sponsoring the Society for the Advancement of Management take up most of the spare time of Professor W. L. McNaughton.

F. D. McClusky brings diversion to the Education department . . . a top notch game of tennis or bowling are among his many accomplishments.

Lecturing from the podium in EB 145 is Dr. Malcolm McClean. His fascinating courses are one of the reasons so many prospective teachers attend UCLA.

With no pet peeves, no idiosyncracies, Dr. Edward Lee is "the man" of the School of Education where he serves as chairman. An expert "divoter" he takes his occasional anger out on the golf course where he confounds experts by making a sandtrap in one.

school of educa

The genial gentleman of the Education department is Lloyd N. Morrisett. If his students follow his example of "good profing," school will be "but" wonderful!

Any Bruin can sympathize with E. R. Keislar, who has a dislike of waitresses that expect all the change for a tip! If those gals only knew what a prof's salary is!

At last a man who doesn't spend his spare time in hipboots . . . every time J. A. Hockett tries his luck, the fishermen are thicker than fish.

Most people who were prominent enough to participate in the framing of the United Nations Charter wouldn't be as modest as Dr. Flaud Wooten.

Typical UCLA classroom . . . you'll find half the students squatting on the floor Indian style! What we want to know is who gets the training in the Training School . . . teachers or students?

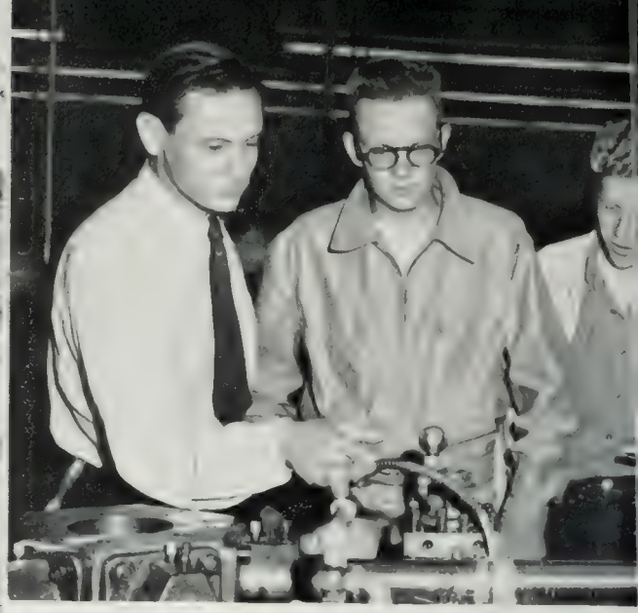

Any education major will recognize Miss Seeds and her Education 330. This year that little box is about the Hopi Indians . . . fits in with our theme perfectly.

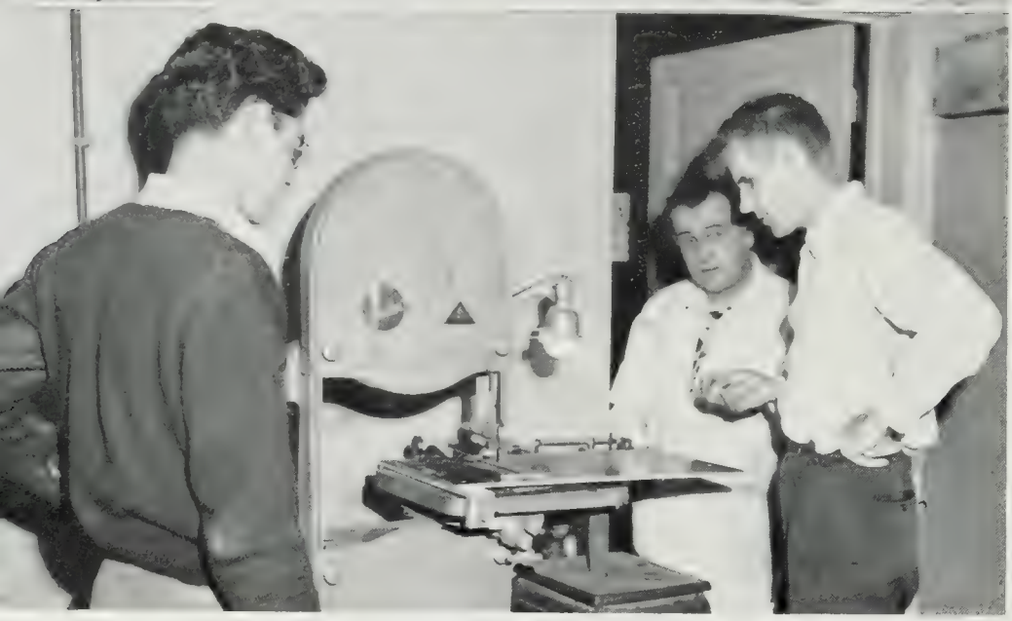

tion

Recognize the room? If not, you might recognize Bob Mills, former Southern Campus slave, now doing duty as a practice teacher at University High . . . and trying to add interest to the map of Australia.

college

Sighting for gold in them thar hills. For all that work and concentration you should get some material results. Maybe the kids figure an "A" in their surveying class is just as good . . . hope their efforts are rewarded.

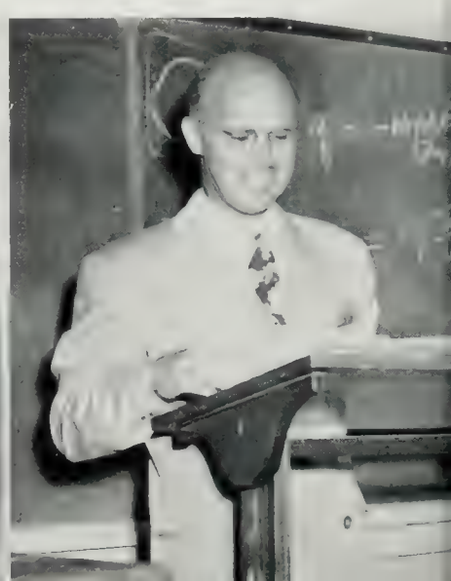

"Kerckhoff Hall has nothing on us" . . . wheels turn all over this school. Wonder if their brains are turning too? Fascinating, isn't it? Guess they know what they're doing.

It's fun to watch the machines work . . . with a stop watch too. Modern mechanisms sure save on muscle power, but from the looks of concentration, I guess they don't spare the mind.

What's in a name? Plenty, says Dr. Joseph W. McCutchan (Mac, to the boys) who finds it a "must" to know the names of all his students.

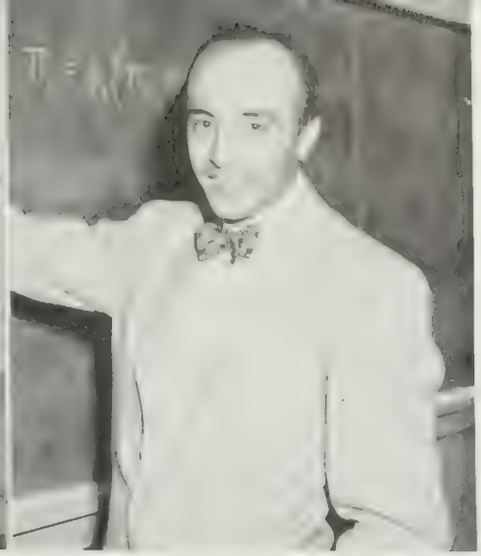

A smooth dresser and man of many talents, is Dr. Harry W. Case. Fact of interest . . . he's an associate prof in both engineering and psychology . . a connection?

The $64 question is "What does Dr. Wesley L. Orr carry in that big, bulging, black briefcase?" Could be engineering plans or notes on his favorite grid teams.

"It is intuitively obvious," everything that is connected with mechanical engineering and Joseph Manildi. The most obvious being students who socialize on his time.

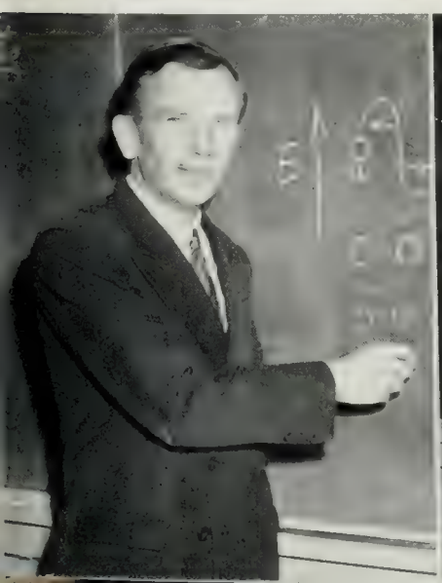

of engineering

UCLA just can't go wrong with Dean L. M. K. Boelter leading the College of Engineering. Not only does he encourage his former students to return and talk with him, but he keeps records of the work they're doing.

"Each scientist should have an idiosyncracy," says Dr. Walter P. Wallace. Could be . . . western music and radio murder mysteries are Wally's favorite pastimes.

Musician, teacher, and committeeman . . . what more can one man do? Even so, Dr. Warren A. Hall can still find time to rate as a favorite with his students.

college of letters and

As the sun rises in the East we find this lecture class in its weekly pow-wow. Wow! Note the eager little faces watching their leader breathlessly . . . quick, Henry, the notes!

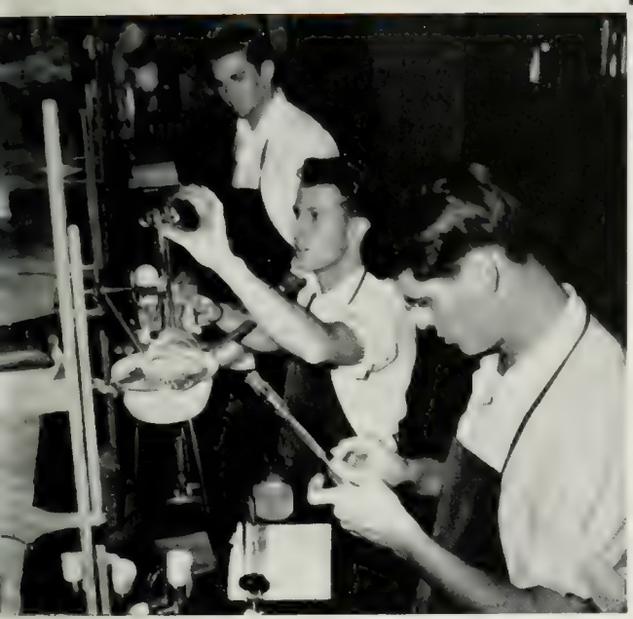

Just one glance will tell you that a "serious" problem is confronting this English class. The cause of these mirthful expressions is Don Juan, who, whether he knows it or not, can be very amusing.

What a way to earn your living! Dean Paul Dodd, serving in his capacity as head of the College of Letters and Science, spends most of his time counseling and listening to the never-ceasing, always increasing, complaints of frustrated Bruins . . . and he likes his job!

UCLA students are proving that most anything can be mixed up in a chem lab. Don't look so sad fellows, even the ancient Greek chemists couldn't make gold . . . (nice try anyway!).

"Old man" of the PE department is William Young, all 'round person who sees that the Physical Science branch of L and S runs smoothly. Though his office is deep in the Men's Gym, he keeps in touch with the campus, thinks UCLA's "OK."

Zoology . . . shmoology . . . it's all the same to Dr. A. W. Bellamy in charge of the Biological Sciences! Closeted high in PB, he doesn't understand the lack of study time on the Westwood campus. Oh, well!

Pope? Jonson? Shakespeare? Who the heck are they? The 49'ers didn't know, and neither do we, but Dr. F. P. Rolfe, L and S Humanities department chairman does . . . he was an English prof, remember?

More "3.2" time plus extra study hours is Dean McHenry's prescription for "the better life" at UCLA. Poli sci prof deluxe and head of the Social Sciences department he advocates more "spirit" and "spirits."

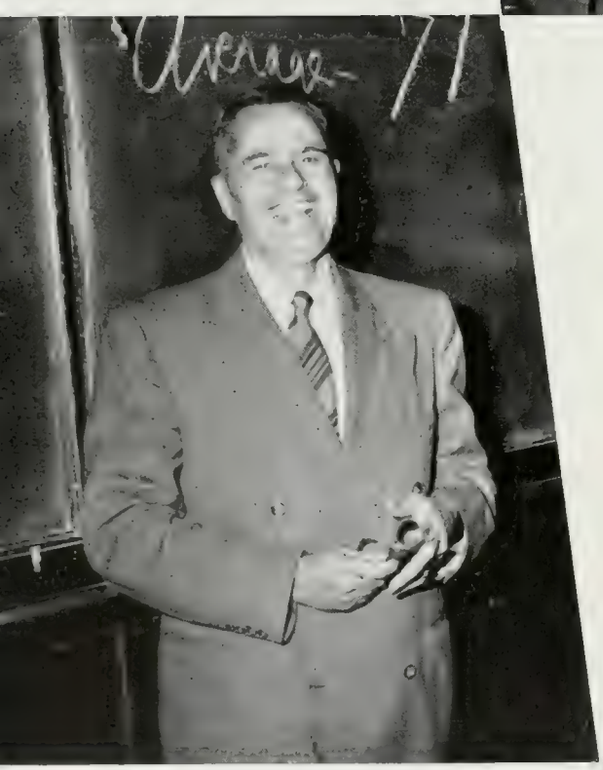

Stupid people who ask stupid questions should never take an English class with Dr. Majl Ewing. He doesn't like 'em.

If you ever want to hear "Road to Mandalay" sung by an expert, listen to Dr. Donald C. Piatt, who yearly serenades his philosophy class.

It's not hypnosis . . . just the fascinating lectures of Dr. Marion A. Wenger that keeps his psychology students on the edges of their chairs.

Blasting car horns and repetitious radio commercials jar the sensitive ears of Physics prof, Dr. Joseph W. Ellis, who flees to a golf course in self defense.

Thoughts of sailing bring a wistful look to the friendly brown eyes of Economics professor, Dr. Earl J. Miller, but duties leave little time for such a pleasure.

Nicknamed "Brainy" in his college days, Dr. Brainerd Dyer holds his audiences entranced even in a required course . . . American History, that is.

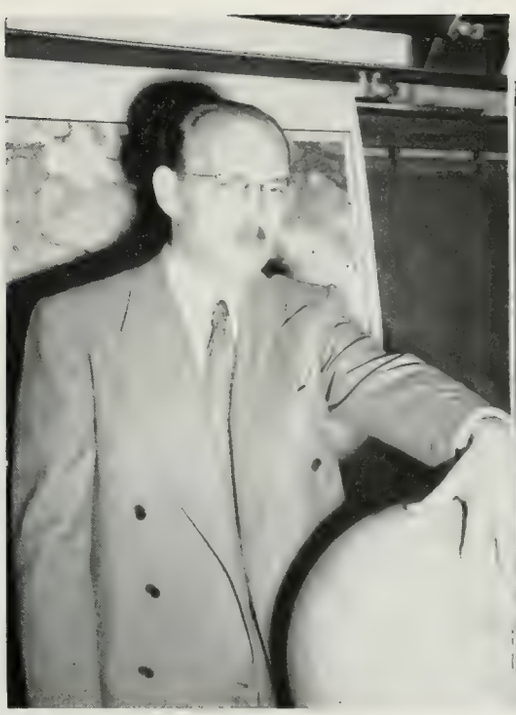

A booming voice and unmanageable hair announce Poly Sci prof, Dr. "Joe" Grant. He's writing on Colombian public law . . . no native Colombian has!

Informality is the keynote of Dr. Foster H. Sherwood's poli sci classes . . . looks like a movie version of a young college prof, but his tests weren't made in Hollywood.

knowledge is a dangerous thing

Seeing his geography first hand as an iron miner and able seaman in his younger days, Dr. Robert Glendinning now preaches what he practiced.

Glasses can't hide the twinkle in the blue eyes of Dr. Clinton C. Humiston, of the French department, who communes with nature by puttering in his garden.

Like the proverbial professor, Dr. Fred Bryan admits being absent minded and, therefore, it's easy to understand why UCLA's large classes are his pet peeve.

"Leprosy, my gosh I've got Leprosy!" The song parody may be funny, but developing a cure for this disease involves Charles M. Carpenter in hours of research.

The men working on the construction of UCLA's new med school buildings are becoming accustomed to daily visits from the friendly gentleman in high top shoes. Dr. Stafford L. Warren's interest is understandable since his official capacity is Dean of the Medical School.

There've been some changes made for Dr. Norman Nelson. He's moved the Chairman of Public Health's office to south campus and heads Preventive Medicine.

"People who are late" are Dr. John S. Lawrence's pet peeves, and Theta sisters of his daughter, Jean, can testify that a love for promptness is a family trait.

Looks, brains, personality . . . Dr. Ruth A. Boak is a combination of all these qualities. She spends her spare time at Birmingham Hospital doing research.

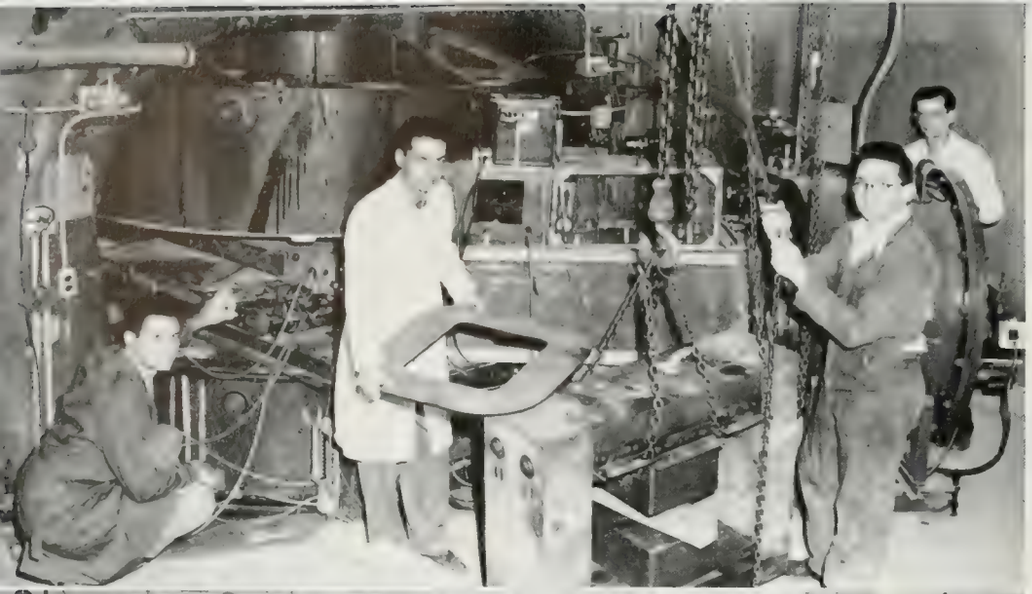

The young men at the right are students of . . . ahem . . . physiology. Maybe if the 49'ers had had a little of this expert research they'd have come through with less "fools" and more "real" gold.

Not the newest things in kitchens . . . just a research lab . . . and our friends in white are wearing the latest thing in Vogue's med school creations!

As the number of colleges increases some are forced into "TB's" . . . e.g. the med school. It's a long way down to Le Conte and the location of the research labs. Maybe that's why med students buy more shoes than anyone else.

Life has changed around here! A hundred years ago the 49'ers were digging for gold with pick-axes but now UCLA's ambitious grads are digging for the "leedle" atom with a cyclotron, and it looks like they're going to stay until they find it . . . one of those permanent visits.

You have a question? Don't blame you . . . confidentially life must have been easier in the "good ole days" before the advent of test tubes, bunsen burners, and the like . . . in other words, labs. Now ambitious grads track down everything from . . . well your guess is as good as ours!

graduate school

Dean Francis Blacet, the flame of chemistry . . . department chairman, that is, has achieved national fame as well as local recognition. President Truman awarded him the Certificate of Merit and UCLA appointed him acting Dean of the Graduate Division.

Avocation and vocation are one and the same to George Taylor, who says that his chief interest is his work as Business Manager and Assistant Secretary of the Regents.

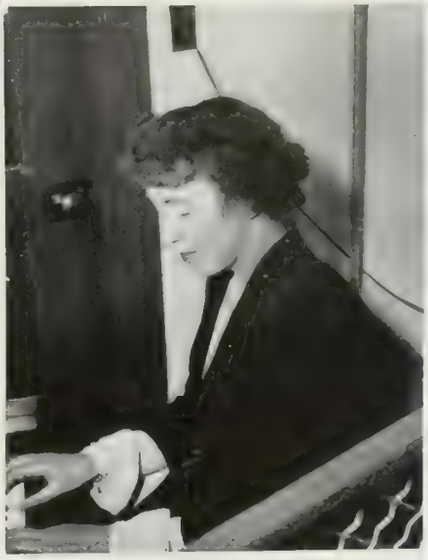

Rancher, Placement Office manager, and Personnel Officer all rolled up in one is Mildred Foreman . . . and she handles all these jobs capably.

Ever hear of "pancro"? It is a new front surface mirror, successful invention of Hiram Edwards, who is also a success as Director of Relations with Schools.

officials

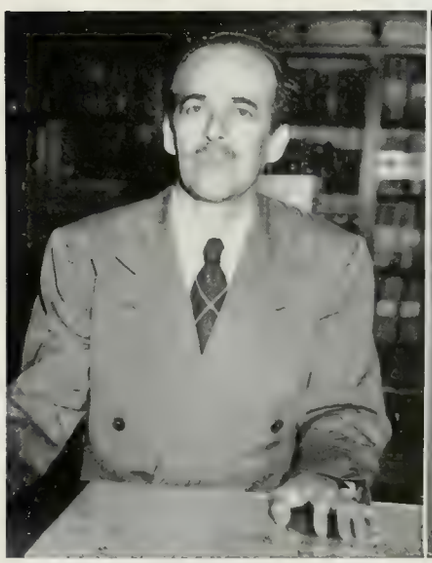

Most people have bats in their belfries, but UCLA has Mrs. Nancy Taylor . . . the woman in the tower, who provides the musical atmosphere which we enjoy each noon.

"Efficient service with a smile" is the motto of Dr. Lawrence Powell, UCLA's head librarian. How he keeps track of all those books and still manages to smile is beyond us!

Want to be a teacher? Aubrey Berry, of Teachers' Placement, is the man to see. His marvelous memory and wonderful sense of humor make an interview with him a pleasure.

Three seems to be a key number in William C. Pomeroy's life. He has three degrees from three colleges, three main hobbies, and served as registrar on three of Cal's eight campuses.

Starlight, formals and Dave Rose were the attractions of the Tropicana, sponsored by the four classes.

These seniors seemed to have garnered some knowledge from their four years at UCLA . . . at least the ability to look intelligent. Seen perched on the wall are President Bob Berdahl of bow tie fame, Patty Whitney, who took time out from her Mortar Board duties to scribble some of her tremendous minutes, Jan Craig, efficient v-p, and money-man Bert Fields.

Fabulous cogs of the senior class . . . the mighty '49'er council. . . This is the crowd that planned the Senior brunch, Senior day and other senior activities. Adding a final touch to their education were the council meetings where seniors learned the three B's . . . rootbeer, brawling, and business. There won't be another class like these '49'ers for a long time . . . 100 years.

This must have been taken before the late unpleasantness down in KH 210 . . . note the grinning faces of Bruin editors Grover Heyler and Chuck Francis. Their conversation could be about newspaper styles and deadlines, their respective fraternities, SAE and Theta Chi, or more likely, centering around their fiancees Carolyn and Barbara . . . they couldn't pick a better topic of conversation.

The $64 question . . . what will the Bruin circulation staff be like without Alpha Chi Barbara Simpson and Kappa Sig Jim Cook? The Bruin box, a familiar sight to all, is even more so to this twosome . . . twosome on and off campus, that is.

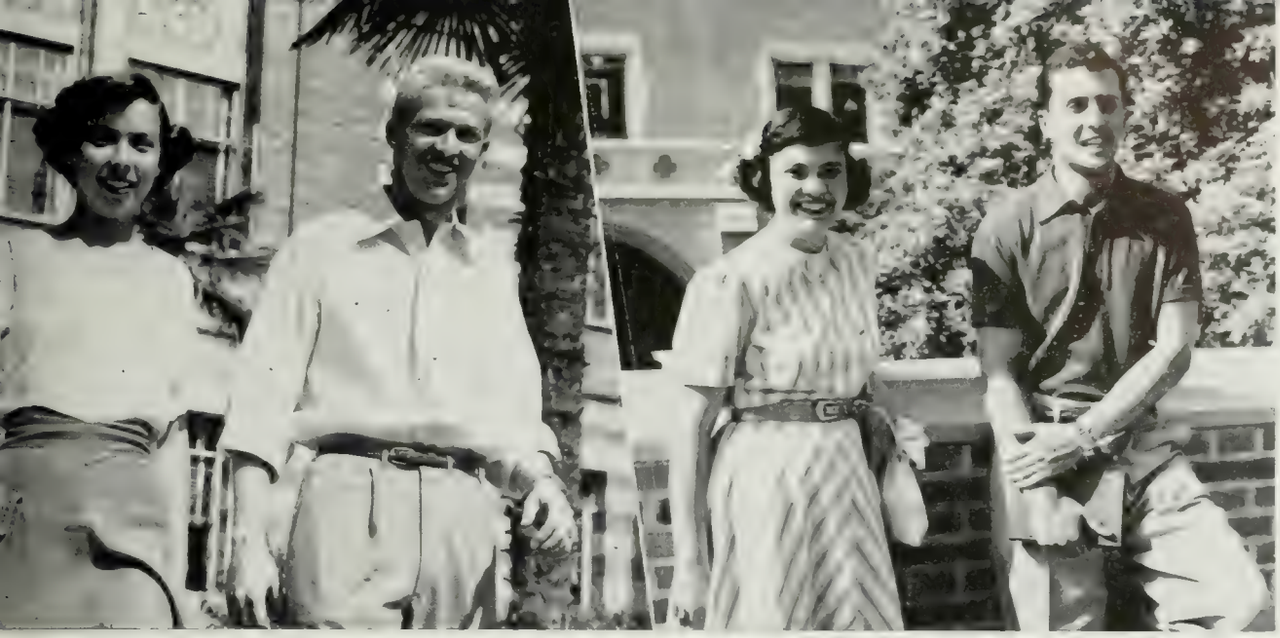

Three top executives . . . all sat down in the same place at the same time. Rosemary Henderson ran OCB and the Alpha Xi house displaying her pin along with Mortar Board and Sig Pi crest. SAE Bob Berdahl prexyed the '49ers, chairmanned RCB Bruin board, and acquired a Phi Bete key, while Cal clubber Barbara Jewkes Business managed Southern Campus and wore Don's Beta pin.

Phi Psi's claim to athletic fame . . . Olympic champion Craig Dixon and brother Gene "Skip" Rowland, outstanding gridiron and diamond star. Notice Craig carrying books . . . we'd think athletic high and low hurdles left little time for crossing academic hurdles. These boys both did well.

ASUCLA's chief executives . . . Prexy Bill Keene's and VP Margie Hellman's futures will involve duties comparable to those performed in KH204. Bill will continue to preside . . . over the Keene household . . . and Margie will hostess for the best looking Poli Sci Prof, Rhodes Scholar, Steve Mueller.

Half of the group of singers who kept senior cabinet dinner "business" meetings going . . . Mortar Boarder, Sec'y, Patty Whitney with usual grin, but Treasurer, ZBT, Bert Fields, "best dressed senior," is without a cashmere . . . bet he's not without sox that perfectly match his outfit or clean saddles.

Last of the ATO Rally committee chairmen Art Fenstermaker and past Rally committee chairman, ATO brother, Hans Morkisch pondered if the group will be able to withstand such a change . . . with them Delta Sig Jim Koenig . . . the conscientious Rep-at-large, who outdid all other conscientious office holders.

Speaking of senior personalities . . . these three really have it . . . personality, that is. Senior Vice Prexy Jan Craig is the "giggle girl" of the DG house, M. E. Brininger (Blanton) often has livened up the Pi Phi house and AWS office, while Alpha Xi Nancy Baker's smile is seen in and out of Panhel.

Study, study, study . . . Bruins couldn't waste a minute even when waiting in line for tickets to the '47 sojourn to Pasadena for the Rose Bowl classic. The listless game also provided rooters with a chance to catch up on studies missed during the many weeks when classes had been cut in favor of the many rallies, parades and trips to the Coliseum.

Woosh ... it's Hoisch! Off on his record making 101 yard run down the Rose Bowl. Al provided Bruins with their one chance to cheer as he mowed a path straight to the Illinois goal line. Failing to gain a match with highly touted Army the local boys felt they drew a poor contender ... till after the first half ... then all heaved a sigh, glad the soldiers stayed home.

Mortar Board meetings and marriage plans kept DG Marilyn Miller occupied this year. ATO Dick Haupt, Rally committee assistant chairman, was also involved in wedding preparations, while Sigma Nu Jack "I'm from Arizona" Stuart looked forward to leaving UCLA . . . this time for good.

The "daily dozen" of this trio included meeting Daily Bruin deadlines. Libby Stewart, TRoLl Low Potentiate, surrounded her desk with men . . . pictures and cubs, eager to learn from the Associate editor . . . writing technique. Delta Sig, Kelp, Dick Hill, almost always managed to have a spare cigarette and served as Managing editor and cartoonist Lee Mishkin cleverly depicted all phases of campus life . . . and had time to "see Catalina."

The layout and lettering man, Art Editor Bob Greenberg, spread his talent throughout most ASUCLA publications during his tenure on campus . . . Southern Campus, Scop, and Goal Post to name a few . . . the "Orientation Man" George Lamb won fame by his efficient organization of . . Orientation.

How'd we get Yachtman Beta Jim Higson away from Bal long enough to take his pic? But who wouldn't want to walk with DG Jeanne Fisher . . . they nicknamed her brainy this semester . . . could Johnny's stay up Palo Alto way have influenced her?

You'd smile too . . . if you'd been Sigma Chi Prexy and IFC Exec Sec as was Bob Cuyler, or maybe if you'd been Don Macbeth and led the SAEs in the Spring sing or managed their football team . . . they are a couple of busy boys.

and mighty

Phi Psi Bill Clements, AMS prexy, proved it pays to be a football star when he came back from Christmas vacation with a Hawaii tan and a smooth wardrobe. A KH star was Phi Kap Logan Boggs, who lists Rep-at-large, Cal club, Gold Key, Jr. Prexy and Kelps as his accomplishments.

Familiar faces to television fans . . . basketball devotees will also recognize Ron Pearson and Chuck Clutska, two of the mainstays of this year's Southern division championship team . . . Chuck is another member of the Figi's preponderous athletic roster.

He of the red hair and the SAE pin was Lloyd McCormick who outdid himself as chairman of the RCB Student board. She of the reddish-brown hair and the Alpha Gam pin was Nancy Haney, long time AWS worker and head of the Co-ed auxiliary for the '48 Homecoming.

Come out from behind the glasses, Kleinberg, we know it's you. Delta Nu Marv and Alphi Chi Jackie Sackett did much to aid the Seniors' liberal education as they planned '49ers Zucca frolics and ZBT Al Kapp has gone for college in a big way, racing around doing one job after another.

Brawn, beauty, brains . . . Deks Bill Frambach was one of Uni Camp's hardest workers and one of the sincerest Reps-at-large . . . Barbara Handorf's beauty graced ski slopes and helped put PiPhi guests and Stanford visitors at ease, and Joe Brodsky's brain helped him to become a Phi Bete.

Looks like character corner with Kelp's pride, Delta Sig Ed Storr and Kappa Delt Barbara Magee, Cal club and Troll gal. And let's not forget Don Caffrey, who, if he sold Apple valley land as well as SoCam, would do mighty well.

Kerckhoff's loss is Louis Pasteur junior high's gain . . . we hear the kiddies love Alpha Gam Nancy Stephen's gym teaching. Two people who still found time to work in the castle are Phil Kap Dick Spence, Kelp's impotentate, and ADPi prexy Micky Walker, SoCam expert.

One guy who'll still be around . . . even after 11 terms . . . ZBT Jerry Prell loves UCLA so much he's going to grad school. But missing will be Dick Dickey, last of the Phi Psi barbershop boys, and Alpha Chi Zim Zimmerman, combination of beauty and ability.

OCB chairman, Delta Sig Harry Longway established a record of longevity on Senior council . . . three of the four years he was on campus. Pat Louchoeim and Alpha Xi Bette "News Bureau gal" Schmitz spent only one year on council, but did great jobs handling the Homecoming float and Alha ball respectively.

Nothing unusual about seeing ADPi June Warner surrounded by Figis . . . Ray Nagel and Phil, where all's ma reader, Tinsley seem to be enjoying it, too . . . familiar faces which won't be seen around the Bruin campus in '50.

Which is the richest class? Ask any junior and he'll proudly answer, "Our class of '50!" Lucky juniors can count their wealth by the number of active members on their council, by the amount of major activities successfully undertaken and by their abundant class treasury.

President Bob Lindh, the man with the perennial crew-cut and the ability to "purr like a kitten," Vice-president Pat O'Connor, Secretary Pat Chambers, and Treasurer Hal Anderson are the members of that efficient Junior class cabinet which prospected the class of '50 to those many successful activities.

This is the staff who brought together beautiful queens, Les Brown, formally dressed couples and crowded them all into those guaranteed nine feet per couple . . . how were we to know that nine feet was one by one by nine? Leave it to an engineering major . . . Prom chairman Andy Anderson, for example . . . to figure such an angle.

Two boys who have more in common than the same name . . . Junior men on this year's SEC, aspiring attorneys, pride and joy of their respective fraternities . . . Rep-at-large and Uni-Camp drive chairman, Beta Don Barrett and Welfare board chairman Theta Delt, Don Hovey are good friends, too.

third

Lucky enough to get a free Southern Campus? If you found a nugget you were . . . we found SoCam nuggets, too. . . Editor Lambda Chi, Frank Tennant and Assoc ed Alpha Xi Nancy Holmes are the greatest . . . Sales manager Kappa Sig, Phil Curran was KH 304's party-time guy.

Saddle shoes, Pepsodent smiles . . . looks like a Desmond ad! Homecoming Queen, Alpha Chi Jackie Wagoner and ZBT Smoothie Bob Koenig not only photograph well . . . but they also know how to handle Catalina day, as any Junior will vouch.

One Kappa Sig who didn't confine himself to the business end of publications is Scop editor Ralph Schafer. What puzzles us is how he has made it up to KH 400 for the past three years. Two flights down in KH 220 was found AWS VP MaLou McCann who wears a Phi Psi badge beside her Tri Delt crest.

Catalina day was an outstanding event of the year and required hard work . . . at least so this committee said . . . the staff was so conscientious that Jackie Wagoner, Bob Koenig and Dave Leanse made the journey to Catalina a day before the student body to check final arrangements on the island . . . checking the water, sand and the Casino, no doubt.

Wonder who they voted for? Wouldn't be hard to guess for whom SAE Felix Le Marienel voted . . . Kris Ketcham and Barbara Langworthy proved that members of THAT disorganization can get organized by working efficiently in almost every Kerckhoff activity.

Efficiency personified . . . Lynn Linden's work on So Cam and Homecoming earned her Key and Scroll, while Alpha Phi Dot Wright acquired a Key and Scroll, a Cal club key and a Beta Pin, and Lambda Chi Lee Seiersen, Masonic club prexy and Bruin Host leader, sports a Gold Key sweater.

Do we hear laughter floating out of the Southern Campus office? Copy Editor Fiji Bob Strock must have pulled a funny . . . he-haw . . . and maybe even haw-he . . . while, Pan Hel, too, gains wit, besides hard work from Alpha Gam Pat McKenna.

Perpetrators of the greatest publicity stunt at UCLA in years smugly recall those "nine square feet." DZ Ruth Greenwood was perennially publicity chairman while Delta Sig Andy Anderson boomed Junior Prom, Catalina day and Jan.

Must be a posed picture! DG Kathy Holzer, Delta Sig Ted Nissen and Lambda Chi Tom Hitchcock spent all last semester electioneering . . . they won, too! In spare moments Kathy worked on Tropicana and Tom served as Welfare vice-chairman, while Ted represented MAC on SEC.

You may not recognize Bobby Anderson without her glasses . . . she probably won't recognize you either. But you're bound to remember her as Pi Phi song leader and George Mair's "A-1" private sec'y. With her are Deke Bob Smith who didn't run for ASUCLA prexy, and Rally slave Dan Cowan.

Four out of five . . . Juniors pride . . . ZBT Dave Leanse, Tep Lee Cohen, KAPsi Sherill Luke and Phi Delt Bob Hight, when not cheering for the teams are seen 'round campus in their usual smooth garb of saddles, yell leader jackets, cashmeres, yell leader jackets, gray flannels, yell leader jackets.

Busiest people on campus were the Soph officers . . . numerous Kerckhoff activities kept class Treasurer Jack Phraener occupied, while Millie Mauldin, vice-prexy, and Jean Bailey, secretary, spent spare minutes cleaning their Spur uniforms. President Ellzy Clark got his track workout running up KH stairs to see Norm Padgett or Mr. Reels about the Spring informal.

Trying to disprove the legend that Kerckhoff kids never crack books are KD Donna Ball, SAE Dick Davis and TEP Al Raffee . . . the effect is good! Dick was kept busy as Soph chairman of the Brawl, Donna did most of the class art work, while Al worked in all activities, mainly sports.

Casual look . . . gives the impression of familiarity . . . at least with the outside of the library. ZTA Barbara Kimball "spurred" many AWS activities and ZBT Lou "Luigi" Sackin could be relied on to liven any affair. Frank Loy was always looking for new ways to serve UCLA and did everything well.

Hardly a "good enough" picture; Delta Sig Craig Lewis, Soph chairman of the Soph-Frosh dance minus Simqu and plus the usual butch; witty and brainy Theta Joy Bullard; PiPhi Smiley Cook, resting between Soph Spring Sing practices; and Phi Psi Pete Kipp, Class publicity chairman.

Two Spurs plus two Yeomen equal four Soph wheels . . . Barbara Schenkel camped in Kerckhoff working on So Cam . . . Enid Franklin did the AEPhis proud by AWS and class activities, while Sigma Pi Fred Thornley boomed as Soph yell-leader and ZBT Stan "I get my pic all over this book" Berman kept council meetings hilarious.

Three people who always put their best foot forward are Yeoman Prexy, Kappa Sig, Elmer Millage . . . but that isn't Joanne in the middle it's Alpha Phi, Alice Hall, flashing her usual smile and flanked on the right by Delta Sig, Lee, the good guy, Good who always does a good job.

Since when have gals been wearing the pants? Don't worry . . . it's only a remnant of Women's week. Two girls still talked to a man . . . Jackie Shabazian, unlike her sis, does get panicky, usually over So Cam and Portia "look I've gained a pound" Graves to Yeoman Henry Yoshimoto.

Walk down Kerckhoff 209 way any day and you're sure to see these two hard working Sophs. Sharla Perrine, Alpha Chi, holds down a post on OCB . . . white skirt and blouse look familiar? And we hope that Theta Xi, Harry Sherman won't say farewell to his job on Welfare board.

student government in

Acting within a structure of student government containing the highest possibilities for student control of their own affairs members of SEC have individually accepted the mandate for responsible action in intelligent and positive representation.

The brown-paneled Memorial Room set the scene of action for animated debate on every type of student action ranging through topics like ASUCLA birthday party, constitutional amendments, academic freedom, Junior prom, and the Association's budget.

Any government organization is measured by the caliber of its representatives. Standing, Harry Longway, Mary Ellen Brininger, Jim Higson, Louise Koches, Don Barrett, Jim Koenig, Don Hovey; sitting, Bill Keene, Lorraine Gray, Margie Hellman, Bill Clements, Grover Heyler, George Taylor, Norma Floyd, Ted Nissen, Dean Ruhlman, Bill Ackerman, and Johnny Jackson. With this caliber of representatives the 48-49 SEC can take its place among the finest in Bruin history.

As much a part of SEC as any elected representatives were Dean of Students Milton Hahn and Graduate Manager Bill Ackerman, whose contributions to policy deliberation were consistent with an old SEC axiom . . . government by and for the students.

On Wednesday evenings, the traditional meeting time of SEC, the long wooden table was cluttered with committee reports, recommendations, and legislative motions. In an atmosphere of lively discussion ASUCLA history was made.

Taking his place as the most recent addition to the university's gallery of great student leaders, ASUCLA President Bill Keene well deserved his position in the campus hall of fame. Initiating action in the sphere of broader representation, Keene introduced through Student Executive Council five propositions for constitutional amendments which resulted in an NSA seat on council and direct election of head yell leader. Through his petition to the administration, control of finances was returned directly to Board of Control with the elimination of the Business Manager's veto. In a year that was difficult, yet significant, student government across the country found itself facing greater responsibility in important issues such as academic freedom and discrimination. In this year Bill Keene was UCLA's proof that students do have the maturity and capacity to meet the strenuous demands of responsible action on the college level.

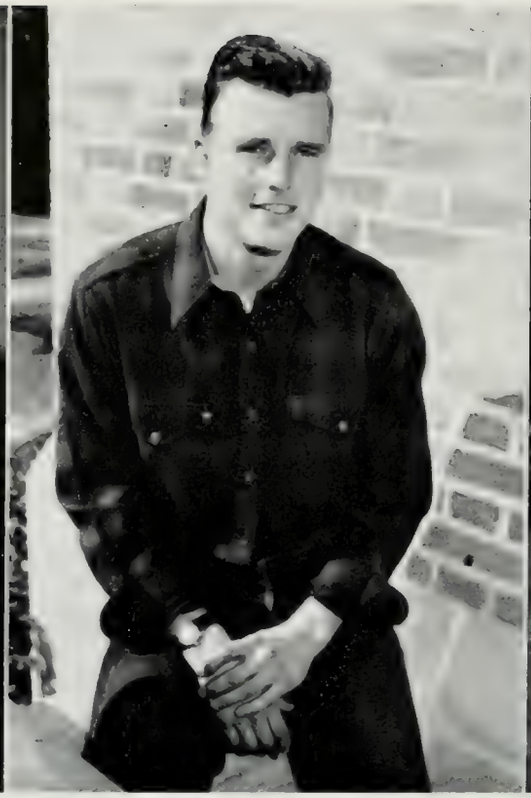

Vice-president was the title on her office door, but for Margie Hellman it was just another way of spelling "welcome." Petite, brown-haired Margie rolled out the red carpet time after time with her "get acquainted" All-u-open houses and her widely acclaimed Hospitality committee that greeted visiting firemen from all over the world. As top woman on the campus totem pole the vivacious coed served one year on Board of control and two on SEC. During her reign Margie's office was a beehive of social activities that included her snappy Charlestown routine, which the brown-eyed vp went into for almost any reason whatsoever. Although her desk was piled high with work in the morning, the afternoon usually found Margie with her house in order and an unbelievable quantity of good work finished. Uni-camp, student-faculty committee and UCLA official hostess duties kept TroLlish Hellman on the go from dawn till dark, but there never was a moment when she couldn't find time to say "hello."

Making known the ideas and plans of the four classes as well as representing the ASUCLA president's view was the job of Rep-at-large Logan Boggs.

Many an afternoon has been passed in Kerckhoff 222 by Rep-at-large Don Barrett in preparing legislation for action by Student Executive council.

Completing his second year on SEC, Rep-at-large Jim Koenig has behind him a full record of active interest and participation in UCLA student government.

reps at large

Introducing a new policy of closer coordination between honoraries and student government was just one of the innovations brought into action through concentrated efforts of Rep Bill Frambach.

"Action, that's what we want, action," is a familiar demand directed to the Reps-at-large but, they admit, an essential and necessary part of student government is a true representation of all existing campus opinion.

A mature approach to the almost unlimited responsibilities of holding an important student government office coupled with an honest regard for the principles of democratic living, a rare combination in any campus leader, is the foundation on which Organization Control Board Chairman Harry Longway has built for himself complete success in every phase of university life he has entered.

The job of providing ASUCLA recognition to all qualified organizations, as well as setting up the calendar of the year's activities, is the task which fills the extra curricular hours of Organization control board members and their efficient secretarial corps.

Biggest AWS endeavor was the Activity banquet according to Enor Jepson.

Anyone can be a wheel by watching Henri Lopez and her Leadership group.

Commuters came into their own through the efforts of Ruth Nelson and company.

Barbara Rouch helped cement those all-too-necessary student-faculty relations.

Mary Rose Walters was kept busy hostessing at the AWS desk in KH 220.

Beverly Rattenbury and her Model Josie committee kept UCLA women well dressed.

Bobette Camp was the dynamo responsible for all AWS Hi-Jinx activities.

Everyone got into the act as Carol King headed the AWS Activity board.

Good deeds were the object of Greta Meltzer and her Philanthropy committee.

From her place on the AWS exec board, Dorothy Wright saw to it that every UCLA woman had the equal representation she deserved.

Recording the business of a going concern like AWS is a woman's size job, but Paula Henderson handles the job like a veteran.

It takes an energetic girl like Mary Lou McCann to make the office of vice-president an effective one in the AWS program.

Running an organization that fulfills the needs of thousands of UCLA women is the responsibility of Associated Women Student President Mary Ellen Brininger, who measures up to the demands of the office. An expert in administrative control, Mary Ellen still retains the natural charm essential for smooth coordination.

Underprivileged children were given fully outfitted dolls through the AWS Christmas philanthropy. Living groups competed for a trophy which was awarded to Alpha Delta Pi for the best doll and wardrobe.

Bill Clements was the man who carried the ball for the Associated Men students through the '48-'49 season. The opposition didn't stand a chance against an experienced footballer such as Bill. Through his expert coordination and split second timing, the organization gained great yardage in campus recognition and service. Fighting primarily for male rooters the AMS team with its captain turned in a performance that rated cheers.

The Associated Men Student's executive board, composed of all AMS committee heads, is the agency that sets policy decisions for all male students on campus. In addition to stimulating leadership among its membership, the board integrates all men's activities into a smooth coordinated program. The enthusiasm generated among the male population this year is more than ample evidence of the board's success.

The man in the underslung levis who has an interest in all activities on the UCLA scene is AMS Secretary Stan Berman. Combining duties of recorder with Activity banquet chairmanship Stan was a busy boy.

Smooth planning was accomplished by Bud Murphy, Hugh Fudenburg, Stan Berman, Bob Koeng, Elzy Clark and Lee Cohen in working out all details of the AMS annual activity banquet.

Spring singmen Hugh Fudenburg, Ken Karst, Stan Berman, and Bill Frambach worked hard and long on UCLA's traditional songfest. This year, for the first time in the event's history, television recorded it for the multitude.

In all the hubbub and excitement of Men's week the AMS committee was the only group to remain serene. They had to, to get anything done or so say Cam Miller, Norm Garrett, Bob Koenig, Stan Berman, and Ken Johnson.

Writer's cramp was one of Secretary Mary Lou Woodbury's rewards after a semester of minute taking.

Money helps, and Treasurer Marilyn Gee kept busy getting the right amounts spent at the right time.

In a university with a student population of 14,000, recreation is a problem of major concern. The University Recreation association has been organized to meet the leisure time needs of all Bruins, regardless of what their interests are. Executive board members Pat Hunter, Steve Klos, Marilyn Gee, Mary Lou Woodbury, Norma Floyd, Lila Pratt, Ruth Greenwood, Ed Gory, Pat Oleson, June Breck and Letty Derus planned the program.

Club life in URA covers every recreation field from bridge to horseback riding. The central body which coordinates all these organizations is the Club council with Steve Klos holding the chairman's position. In the corridors of Kerckhoff it is whispered that without this smooth functioning council, ice skaters would be wearing skiis on badminton courts and fencers would be folk dancing with tennis racquets.

The man with the full word on University Recreation association was Bill Shelton. Guiding genius behind the whole ASUCLA program, Bill also carried legislative responsibility as a member of SEC.

The habit of this URA club is horseback riding. The "mane" interest of UCLA's "horsey set" is a casual canter on a sunny afternoon, but the organization itself broke into a full gallop on a program of activities for its members.

Bruin dance folks who didn't know a polka from a schottishe became full masters of the art through their participation in the Folk Dancing club. "Whirl your partner, Jack," into a university recreation program that has few equals anywhere.

Breaking the ice with new members is easily accomplished by the old timers of the ice skating club. The atmosphere may be chilly, but the fellowship never is, when the group gets together to conga on skates.

Station URA carries as one of its most popular programs the radio club. The UCLA network lists the group as having one of the highest Ackerman ratings of any similar project.

Gathering together at the top of Janss slope, members of ski club appear to have all their bones in normal shape only because of a scarcity of snow. Traces of their tracks in the runs of Southern California mountains have disappeared, but the memories remain securely in mind.

The trump in all the many varied activities of URA is the Bridge club. A dummy is only a hand, not a player, among the group's amateur Culbertsons.

Members of the Tennis club get a swift return from their service to URA in the form of friendly competition in a game where fun is never out of bounds.

Up in the air about their year's program, Flying club airmen made a perfect three point landing on the activity runway of the university airport.

Bruins in the Bowling club made a strike and knocked down the ten-pins of university recreation with a whole alley full of fun and activity to spare.

The feathers flew when racketeers of the Badminton club got together to whack away at the birdie. The net result was a year of fun and exercise.

Bruins in URA's Golf club were over par in their game scores, but way under par in the presentation of a program that included everyone.

It is always clear sailing when members of Tiller and Sail hit the deck of activity at UCLA. Casting off for fun and sport in the briny is the most important entry in the club's log, agree all Bruins who like their lives nautical.

A stroke of luck for the Swim club is having both mermaids and mermen in their membership. Membership made a big splash in extra curricular activities.

On guard against being left out of the URA program, Bruins handy with ice picks and swords formed the Fencing club to put their points across.

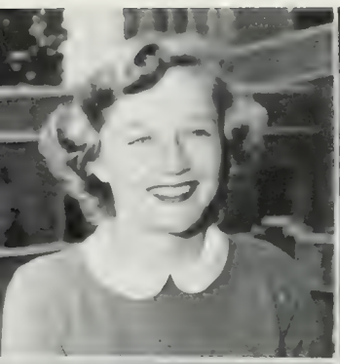

welfare board

Welfare Board Chairman Don Hovey had his hands full coordinating the planning and implementation of the organization's services, in addition to serving the whole year as an active and energetic member of SEC. Don's success was evident in the perfection of Welfare board's action on campus.

Marilyn Westcott is Welfare board's OCB representative.

Felix LeMarinel leads the Bureau of Student Opinion.

Handling the Transportation is Sid Sherman.

Marshall Litchman tops the Labor commission.

Clare Greenebaum gavels the Library committee.

Jack Phreanor heads the Student contact committee.

Administering to the needs and desires of students on the campus level, the executive council of Welfare board consisted of committee chairmen and the board's elected president. In the weekly meetings in KH 309 the agenda called for progress reports and the forming of welfare policy for all ASUCLA.

Chairman of Men's Athletic board, Ted Nissen also held the gavel for Varsity club and a seat on SEC with his honest leadership and quiet sincerity.

The genial personality of Athletic Director Wilbur Johns is the center pin around which the whole athletic program of UCLA spins.

The top organization for athletics on the Westwood scene has always been the Men's Athletic board. With Ted Nissen representing the group on SEC, the board tallied a winning score in leadership and accomplishment. Setting the scope of MAB policy were members A. J. Sturzenegger, Phil Steinberg, Brooks Lovell, Cam Miller, Sidney Miller ,Ted Nissen, Chuck Larzelere, Rem Anderson, Don Hunt, Wayne Bowling, and Wilbur Johns.

The boss, his secretary and the chairman of the Men's Athletic board gather 'round to get the finer details of action into the record book. Wilbur Johns, Sidney Moore and Ted Nissen plan for UCLA's athletic future.

Meeting night for active potentates of the Music and Service board. Those smiling faces include (standing) Marshall Vorkink, Sherrill Luke, Walt Whitaker, Don Armbruster, Bill Brisbane and George Mair; (seated) Jim Higson, Smiley Cook, Hugh Fudenberg, Barbara Simpson, Bob Koenig and Elmer Millage.

A wide grin and a Kerckhoff telephone were standard equipment for Music and Service Board Chairman Jim Higson in carrying out the duties of his office. Under Jim's watchful eye the board initiated new programs for all its member groups.

George Lamb and Ruth Greenwood found out from Jim Higson how it's done the Music and Service Board way . . . and the job is a big one as all the service honoraries, music organizations and home-coming committees get integrated into a single smooth functioning, cooperative association.

Chief host position falls to Bruin Host Chairman Lee Seiersen. Extending host organizations over the Santa Monica mountains into the San Fernando valley to reach more members of the student body was just one idea expanded by Lee's leadership.

The line-up for refreshments at any Bruin host party was a long one, but the line of campus friendships formed at such informal get-togethers was an even longer one. At UCLA the long range commuting factor posed a problem in successful social interaction. Bruin host offered an opportunity for university area parties that served to enhance a spirit of campus loyalty.

Fun was the keyword for these members of the Bruin Host board. Seated, Harriet Gelfand, Eleanor Hodges, Lee Seiersen, Marilyn Hopkirk; standing, Don Sherrill, Jack Dinsfriend, Duane Archer, Dick Leonard. The board put an accent on relaxation and social opportunities for fellow Bruins.

Meeting an increasing need for a full time program for foreign students at UCLA, the International House board composed of Don Tura, Eleanor Neuman, George Fisher, Dorothy Lasher, Dr. Clifford Prator, Farhad Ghahremani, Glory Schuyler, John Ross, Ariadne Mayakis, Jeanette Le Baron and Sam Lipschitz, initiated a series of weekly forums and a program of conversational exchange with American students.

You don't have to know the language of all the members of I House, but the name of Farhad Ghahremani as president was well known when efficiency and action were spoken of.

Student George Fisher and faculty advisor Dr. Clifford Prator were not foreign to the desires of over two hundred international members of the student body of a cosmopolitan UCLA.

The sheik of Araby surrounded by a full contingent of I Housers make merry at one of the many functions in which people of all backgrounds prove the value of intercultural friendship.

The social program of I House was not foreign to the nature of any of its members, with such varied activities as Sunday suppers, week-end excursions, city tours, and costume parties.

Meeting every other week in KH 309 the Red Cross was the central agency for all the organization's action on campus and was composed of Lita O'Neill Seibert, vice-chairman; Jackie Sackett, head of motor corps; Betty Baker, production chief; Sally Kieffer, chairman; Cecile Bonnep, treasurer, and Sue Brock, fund campaign coordinator.

Red Cross Chairman Sally Kieffer brought into action the full capacities of the campus organization. Varied activities including blood donor solicitation and hospital psychiatric parties for disabled veterans kept the agenda full.

Established by Jackie Sackett as a new Red Cross service, the motor corps shuttled between campus and the community carrying blood donors and camp and hospital volunteers.

Corridors of Kerckhoff were the perennial habitat of Kristy Koestner, National Student association chairman on campus. Kris had a whole string of extra-curricular activities in her undergraduate years which served as a foundation on which to build her career as UCLA head of the first country-wide association of student leaders.

The work of NSA Vice Chairman Billie Rosenfield and the many other Student Association supporters aided the organization as it came into its own with a seat on SEC.

The official planning and policy forming body for the National student association at UCLA was the executive board composed of all commission chairmen and elected officers. Members were Dorothy Lasher, Bill Masters, Lenard Kramsky, Ted Frame, Bill Fulton, Nancy Lee Roth, Kristy Koestner, Lyn Harris Hicks; standing, Dave Lazarowitz, Bob Gaudino, Marie Emelin, Lee Nichols, Steve Collingwood and Bud Zahm.

Uniting notions on nations and nationalities in an all university UN week sponsored by NSA, resulted in campus-wide recognition of the purposes and program of the United Nations. The U in the UN that week was every UCLA student who expected to assume the full responsibilities of a citizen in the world community.

Aiming to perfect the structure and function of ASUCLA administration, the student government clinic, under the chairmanship of Bob Gaudino, initiated action in Kerckhoff activities where local improvement was necessary.

UCLA's chief talent scout George Mair had no easy job organizing Bruin troopers.

All-U-Sing committee members were involved in the intricacies of planning extravaganzas for the Royce hall boards for the enjoyment of all Bruins.

The freshmen landed and had the situation well in hand thanks to a job well done by this year's Orientation committee.

Chairman Jim Cook led the Homecoming parade from Westwood to the Coliseum and back.

Homecoming committee members spent months mathematically calculating how much activity could go on in just one week . . . the solution even amazed the committee.

May 6 was the redletter day for hundreds of local high-schoolers as they got the inside information complete with tours through their future home.

in the committee

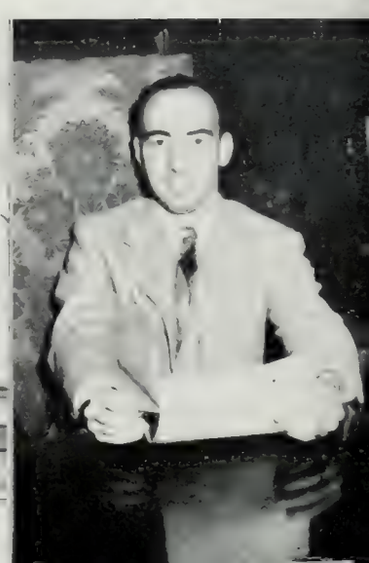

All-U-Open House committee members put the welcome mat out on Hilgard in a concentrated effort to bring eager UCLA students together on a social plane.

Jack Bratton and Pat Louchheim co-chairmaned UCLA's party giving set.

Presiding Judge Joe Brodsky wielded the gavel at the Tuesday night judicial meetings.

Orientation Chairman George Lamb took over and confusion no longer marked UCLA's frosh.

High School Day Leader Don Armbruster led prospective Bruins through the wilds of UCLA.

UCLA's newly organized Student Judicial board capably demonstrated in many cases that they merited both student and administrative recognition.

"Do your best to fill the chest" was the fall slogan of Campus Chest Chairman Willie Morrison.

"I gave" had the most meaning for the ever-working Campus Chest committee members as they added hours of work to their monetary contributions.

Fresh air and fun were the gifts of Uni-Camp Chairman Don Barrett to L. A.'s unfortunates.

"Send him again!" came the call and Uni-Camp committee members answered with every scheme possible . . . not one, but hundreds of campers were the result.

Two polling places on campus testified to Gordon Flett's efficiency as Elections chairman.

Visions of ballots, polls and candidates made their way into the May 13 dreams of Elections committee workers as they handled UCLA's largest vote.

Through these hands pass the riches of UCLA. Anything that costs . . . be it a new football coach or an AMS banquet . . . must be first considered then discussed and finally approved by Board of Control. Accepting budgets, making contracts and hiring ASUCLA employees is all part of the group's job. Student governments' highest governing body and monetary masters are Lorraine Gay, Jessie Rhulman, George Taylor, Margie Hellman, Bill Ackerman, Bill Keene, John Jackson, Jim Higson and Milton Hahn.

Kerckhoff hall 201 was in its usual state of "efficient" confusion. The only details missing from the scene are a few dozen more students asking for help and almost as many ASUCLA officials doing the same.

As much a part of the student scene as the Kerckhoff tower, Bill Ackerman served the ASUCLA in a powerful manner and netted a volley of praise and cooperation for his win with the student body as a friend and counselor.

UCLA will not soon forget one of its most admired members, Assistant Graduate Manager A. J. Sturzenegger, who faithfully and tirelessly devoted 25 years to his school. His passing on April 9, 1949, was mourned by staff and students alike.

Feminine efficiency is prime in the Graduate Manager's outer office as these lovely secretaries prove daily. Usually found seated before work-laden desks, the girls went back to work at 3 o'clock.

Must be important business being transacted in KH 201 as Lorraine Gay takes notes from the words of the Graduate Manager in the "private office that is open to all!"

The ticket department was swamped when ducat demand exceeded supply, and Manager Rowe Baldwin did a great job.

Bookstore queues stretched for blocks as Manager Ralph Stilwell and his large staff doled out precious texts.

Photographer Stan Troutman, whose work adorns many of these pages, keeps everyone happy with his fast personality.

Publicity manager of the most publicity conscious campus was Vic Kelly of the ASUCLA News Bureau.

Guy "Buck" Buckingham was supervisor of Kerckhoff in his official capacity as Chief Custodian.

Looking over the ledgers of student finances was more than a full-time job for Auditor T. D. Stanford.

Supplying hungry Bruins with all manner of food keeps Cafeteria Manager Roy Cullison busy eight hours a day.

The busy hum of the adding machines filled the offices of newcomer Chief Accountant R. F. Blight.

Director of Publications Harry Morris was the guiding light for Publications board during another newsworthy year.

Keeping tabs on everything that the Associated Students possess was the job of Warehouse Manager Joe Felkner.

Working hand in hand with a comptometer was Purchasing Agent Stan Reel whose life was a maze of budgets.

Helping out as assistant Director of Publications was Frank Stewart, of the ASUCLA news bureau.

Norm Padgett was assistant to the Graduate Manager and coached the rugby team during his 26 hour days.

Handling much of ASUCLA's correspondence was Lorraine Gay in her job as secretary to the Graduate Manager.

The man behind the girl behind the iron bars of the money window was Cashier Don Ashen.

The top man among "old grads" is Paul R. Hutchinson, who has held head berth in the association since 1946, proving you can keep a good man up. The Alumni's gain was the music world's loss . . Paul's an old hand at the saxophone.

A former editor of Southern Campus is certainly a man of merit and such a man is likable Johnny Jackson, alumni executive secretary since 1939, and the graduates official representative on Student Executive council.

Assistant Executive Secretary Waldo Edmunds, among other extra curricular activities at UCLA, once tooted the tuba in the Bruin band. Currently he's making much smoother music as coordinator of Bruin Alumni clubs.

In the fall even alumni's minds turn to thoughts of peanut butter sandwiches, shady trees and ant paste . . . all of which adds up to an old UCLA tradition, the alumni picnic. Things seem to indicate it is possible to have a good time even after graduating from college.

In the Cosmopolitan room of the Nickabob restaurant, the twelve Bruin clubs in the Los Angeles area got together for a combination birthday party and banquet. Special honors of the evening went to Regent Edward A. Dickinson and former Provost Ernest C. Moore, UCLA's co-founders.

Bruins who aid in forming policy for the UCLA Alumni Association throughout the year are the members of the Alumni Board: seated, Paul Hutchinson, Hal Wright, Virginia Lindsey Cornwell, Maida Owen Wood, Edesse Davenhill Truax, Peggie Rich Shedd; standing, Carl McBain, William H. Brainerd, Ralph Stilwell, Robert A. Fischer, Dr. Earl J. Miller, Bill Keene, and Johnny Jackson.

Efficiency is maintained at a high level in the Alumni office due to the fine work of these four staff workers. Barbara Howe, Mollie Owen, Ora MacDonald and Jane Strong keep things humming in KH 308.

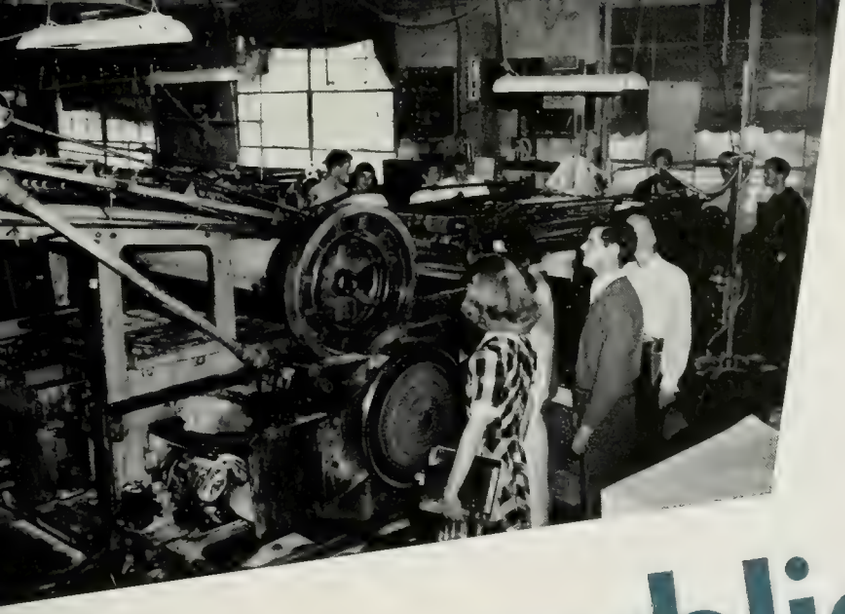

A person who never forgets the name of an alumnus is the distinction enjoyed only by Office Manager Mollie Owen. Things in Kerckhoff 308 would never run as smoothly without her.

UCLA's Alumni magazine gets its direction and inspiration from Bill Tritt, who doubles as both managing editor and advertising manager. UCLA's publications field extends right on past graduation.

Editors of publications are always to be seen waiting for the first press run of their latest creation and express the same pride in their work that these Southern Campus chiefs display.

publications board

There are secretaries and more secretaries, but only one Lee Monteleone. Shorthand and typewriting are listed as her official capacities as Harry Morris's top assistant, but understanding and sincerity are the extra qualities which make Lee a favorite with everyone in or out of ASUCLA publications.

A fact little known around Kerckhoff is that Harry Morris excells as a railroad engineer as well as head man in the student publishing field. Not only owning a vast network of locomotives, chair cars and pullmans, Harry finds time to act as combination coordinator, conductor, and porter in his own special mockup at home. In his spare hours the railroader finds time to direct the fortunes of all the journalistic endeavors associated with a full extra-curricular student program.

The common tie of printer's ink symbolized the extra-curricular activities of the Publications board members with representation by three students from Southern Campus, Scop and Daily Bruin. With Chuck Francis as fall chairman and Grover Heyler as head man in the spring, the board was composed of Chuck Nogle, Frank Tennant, Harry Morris, Len Gross, Lee Montleone, Barbara Jewkes, Chuck Francis, Dick Hill, Bill Van Doorn, Ralph Schaefer, Nancy Holmes and Don Henley.

UCLA's Saturday afternoon Goal Post played the field with an expert board of managers consisting of Irwin Rickel, Frank Manning, Stan Troutman and Bob Greenberg, standing, and Frank Stewart, Harry Morris and Lee Montleone, seated.

Shaping and sizing for UCLA's student handbook layout take the hands of experts like Stan Troutman and Chuck Francis. The Frosh bible has become as big a tradition on campus as its three big brother publications.

Important business is on the agenda when the journalist giants of Kerckhoff confer with the number one publisher. Chuck Francis, Frank Tennant and Ralph Schaefer talk over their problems with Director of Publications Harry Morris.

Frankie Boy . . . Head man Frank Tennant put his golden thought behind this '49er edition of the Southern Campus and came up with a nugget. When not on the party line keeping the printer or engraver happy he was roundin' up the staff to work instead of spendin' time at the chuck wagon. When the dust finally cleared, it was certain that he left his brand on the latest edition of Southern Campus.

Our own Calamity Jane . . . Deadeye Nancy Holmes was Associate editor on the '49er and had to shoot it out with many a desperado that tried to hold up the finishin' of her chores. Always with a smile and a word for the other ranch hands, the gal more than earned her keep.

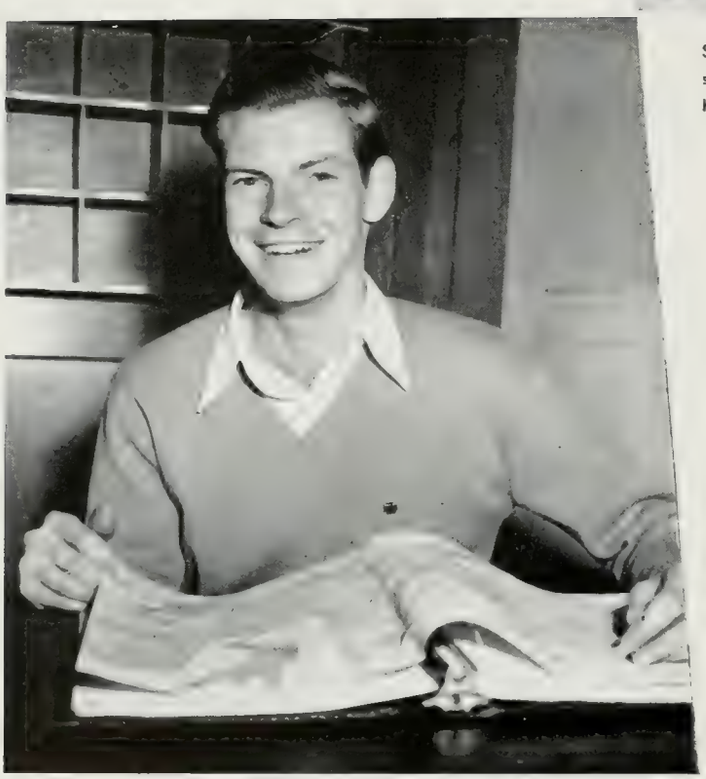

Western beauty on the business staff . . . Barbara Jewkes kept her eyes on the gold dust in the safe and kept the scales balanced all year long. A sure shot with her shootin' iron, her job was officiatin' as Business Manager and keepin' the squatters and bank robbers out of her territory. She proclaimed marshal law when folks failed to stake a claim on the forty-niner.

Wanted dead or alive . . . Associate Manager Dick Miller put his mark on the ledgers during the year and kept goods comin' in even with what was goin' out. Corraling all stray accounts kept this clerk from wearin' out the seat of his levies.

Serious minded commercial art students were Assistant Art editors Harry Garo and Ed Renfro.

Ever seen Stan Troutman without his camera? Our photographer's other trademark is a big smile.

Kansas City's stake in Southern Campus, Art Editor Irwin Rickel is already a campus legend with his subtle humor and his talented drawings signed "Rick."

Student Government Editors Lyn Linden and Bob Gaudino beat deadlines by way of Visalia, Chi, and Mexico.

Hard working yearbook staffers Lyn Hicks, Portia Graves and Char Hutchinson take a short breather between their many duties.

Native Californian . . . Activities editor Sally Horn divides her time between two UCLA publications.

That laugh! . . . "Uncle" Ed Hummel, Sports editor, had claws in more than one school publication.

"Can't you make it peppy?" . . . famous words from the Book editor of classes, Barbara Schenkel.

Size 'em, paste 'em, cut 'em . . . that's the job of Engravings editor. Wonder if Les Curtis goes through the routine in his dreams.

Whiz gal with the whiz tickets . . . fall term Organizations Editor Kris Ketchum kept her staff busy at files, typewriters, and parties.

"Southern Campus calling . . ." sounds like a Photography editor using the telephone. It is! . . . in fact it's Jackie Shabazian.

Fraternity and Sorority editors Fred Nelson and Molle O Davidson are Charleston and ukelele fans. They write too.

Where's the famous "friendly attitude" in this picture? Could be someone didn't meet Copy Editor Bob Strock's deadline.

Eager workers of the Organizations staff are Southern Campus personalities Marcia Tucker, Georgia Spelvin, Joy Wyss, Chris Christianson, Shirley Siegal, Joan Golcher, Kris Ketchem and Craig Lewis. Their job of pasting, cutting and sizing pictures kept them busy.

The Engravings staff found a brief free moment, one of the few from September to July. Responsible for preparing all informal photography for the engraver were Chuck Griffin, Char Weiss, Les Curtis, Margie Smith, Haruko Ito and Mary Jo Sissler.

Writing copy for the book divisions was a man-sized job and required, the concentrated work of Margaret Kranz, Barbara Thomas, Gwen Edminston, Win Millet, Marilyn Linsey, Toby Hale, Diane Tiedeman, Lois Johnston, Lolly Craig, Joan Menashe, Nancy Allen and Leo Kovner.

Playing a major role in the production of the yearbook was the photography staff of Dick Clark, Stan Troutman, Baldwin Baker, Sam Schank and Dick Coleman. Directing their efforts was Ace Photographer Stan Troutman, the man with the ever-ready smile.

She has to be shown . . . Publicity Chairman Marion Melcher is still cheering for the University of Missouri.

Poster Chairman Pam Marshall keeps her pledge sisters busy . . . must be saving posters to paper her living room.

UCLA prospectors were after Phil Curran during December's sales campaign . . . this SoCam Sales manager was responsible for the golden nuggets hidden on campus.

Forever swamped with receipt books and appointment sheets . . . that's what Nink Perrin, in charge of Senior Reservations, soon learned to expect in seeing to it that 1500 seniors were pictured.

That famous grin again . . . Brent Bowen kept smiling through all the hard times of an Organizations manager . . . contracts and money flowed through his hands.

Planning art work for the pages of Southern Compus fell into the hands of the Art staff, Jeanne Hudson, Harry Garo, Joann Arnold, Ed Renfro, Virginia Dahm, Rick Rickel, Betty Lees and Arlene Horn.

The Gold Key man who gave pointed directions was Sales Manager Phil Curran. Nugget hunts, publicity campaigns and personal contacts by the sales staff helped the sales drive hit every part of Bruinsville.

Using their artistic touch to help sell books were the four industrious staffers on the poster committee, namely, Liz Barbe, Lynn Lawrence, Marilyn Power and Pam Marshall.

Handsomest man ever to decorate 212E, Editor Chuck Francis guided the destinies of the UCLA Bruin and the staff of the fall term with a steady hand, aided by a dry, deadly "South Dakota" sense of humor. Co-holder of the "Most Popular Editor" title, Chuck gained wide fame for his series of editorials titled, "Gideon's Dirty Linen." Working nights for the United Press left little socializing time for the bow-tie boy, but he did well enough to marry Social Editor Barbara Klipper right after spring finals. In the time he had left over, he edited the student handbook and Cal-clubbed with fellow editors Heyler and Hill.

Spring Editor Grover Heyler will be remembered in the minds and memories of his staff long after past and future editors have been gone and forgotten. Possessing a "hail fellow" personality and an enviable ability to get along with everyone, Grove also proved to be the most outstanding example of the "fighting editor" that the DB has ever known, battling to the finish for the staff. The co-title of "Most popular editor" went unanimously to SAE Heyler, one of the best-liked, most thoroughly respected men to set foot in 212E. Grove has a standing list of clients when he hangs out his law shingle.

Hairless Garst, they calls him . . . maybe not yet, but soon. City Editor Jim Garst takes the ribbing and then gets even by popping lunch bags with a huge boom right behind unsuspecting victims. The ex-merchant mariner is UCLA's champion of people's rights.

Anyone with a television set will recognize this Bruin staffer . . . Managing Editor Dick Hill has been seen on the screen more than any other DB worker. With "laugh and grow fat" as his maxim, Dick has fellow newsmen wondering how long he can keep it up . . . eventually his "world's most beat-up car" would strain anybody's sense of humor.

More like the movie edition of a newsman than anyone else on the staff . . . when he's not swinging a mean golf club on the local links, Lenny Gross can be found behind the Daily Bruin City editor's desk.

How all these news gatherers were found together in one place and at one time is a mystery to the whole Bruin staff.

Sports staff rests between coverages at UCLA's athletic scenes. Smiling faces indicated another UCLA victory.

To rate a spot in Libby Stewart's photo gallery, one must be male, athletic, male, handsome and male . . . you'd be surprised at how many people meet these qualifications . . . and they're all men. This Turner club president serves in two capacities . . . Bruin Associate editor and the DB official personality kid.

Combining talents as DB desk and IFC publicity editor was Stan Eisenburg.

Senior night editor title was held by Don "Disaster" Panger, a real journalist.

Barbara Huff furnished many laughs from the copy desk for Bruin writers.

Vulcan's Forge was the name of DB's horsey set rep, Diane McInery.

Smiling Ann Cooper never failed to greet headline writers with a grin.

Rapier-like wit characterized fancy fencer and desk editor, Leo Kovner.

Jerry Weiner won the best sports writer award for the third straight semester.

Elfin Carol Quinn was the glamour girl of all male members of the Bruin staff.

Handsome Jerry Schlapik as night editor was the male counterpart of Cute Carol.

John J. Dennis covered the police reporter's beat and night edited, too.

Ruth Greenwood kept busy "on the desk" until 5:30, the time to "take the copy."

Pretty Peggy Klein shot new life into an already hopped up Bruin staff.

Desk Editor Ann Kligman lent variety to the DB staff with her quiet ways.

Acknowledged as an expert on everything was red-haired Night Ed. Bob Lupo.

Stan Backrack, also a sports night editor is best described as "congenial."

A popular member of Nepa-Depa was shy Leonard Strecher.

Bob "Baby-Face" Meyers was an A-1 sports night editor on the DB sheet.

Bob "Rudy Vallee" Benoit's sparkling sports copy is a "must read" in every Bruin.

Art editor of the Daily Bruin was phenomenal cartoonist Lee Mishkin, perpretator and owner of "That Old Feeling."

Sports Editor John Deichman, who kept the horses in clover at all major parks, perennially looked sad as he read the UP results.

Fall Social Editor Louise Kosches was busy keeping tab on the latest pinnigs, engagements, and marriages among fellow Uclans.

Eight pages every Friday were the periodical worry of Neil Horgan, supplement editor in the fall.

Carrying the weight of the world on his shoulders was the heart breaker of all female staffers, Clancy Siegal, feature editor.

Gene Frumkin set a new trend in sports editors and spent a good part of the year wandering around the office like a lost soul.

Her own June wedding kept spring Social Editor Barbara Klipper (Francis) from getting interested in other people's romances.

Spring Supplement Editor Hal Watkins suffered each week trying to find a subject for his highly popular section.

Wire and Exchange Editor Lennie Rilander took drastic measures with anyone found borrowing an exchange paper.

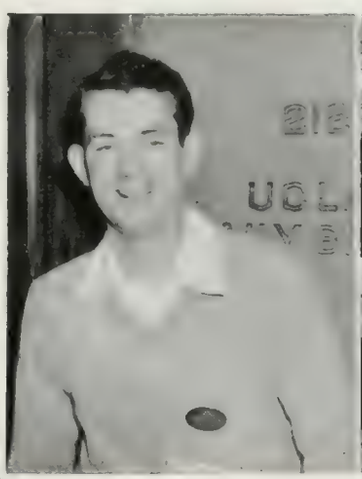

Business Manager Bill van Dorn had a long list of assets to add up at the end of his fall reign. Included on the black side of the ledger were a semester of really organized finances, one green Chrysler convertible and high in the roster was entered the charming Mrs. Van.

Spring Business Manager Dick Mattingley was stony hearted when it came to giving out typewriter ribbons and copy paper to DB staff members. On all other scores his rating was high . . . as witnessed by the weekly perfumed fan letters postmarked Riverside, California.

Circulation Manager Phil Curran was kept busy during the fall semester beating a track between the Bruin and SoCam offices.

Spring semester Circulation Manager Barry Miller covered a slightly wide territory . . . Palm Springs was his week-end destination.

Efficiency and more efficiency . . . Managing Editor Chuck Nogle showed ability in everything he attempted. A mathematical mind earned him membership in a grand total of five honoraries.

Ideas, talent, ambition, cooperation . . . too much credit could never be given Scop's Art Editor Bob Greenberg. His special brand of Chicago corn kept the staff laughing through deadline fever.

Scop's biggest booster, Ralph Schaefer, has spent enough time in K.H. 400 to own a controlling interest in the place . . . but instead of a life-time lease, what has he to show for his two years as editor of UCLA's humor magazine? Nothing but dozens of cashmeres and a grey Cadillac . . . and in three more years maybe he'll be able to afford to drive the car! Ralph's dreams of making Scop "UCLA's all-campus magazine" have been realized with more cartoons, pictures and emphasis on all phases of campus life. With college publishers all over the country showing interest in the new Scop layouts, Ralph can well be proud of his work.

Scop's Good Humor man, minus the white jacket and vanilla bars . . . no temperamental artist is Cartoon Editor, Chip Thompson.

What would Scop's float have been without Associate Editor Frank Hewett, chief party-game man of KH 400?

Everyone is laughing at a cartoon no doubt . . . naturally the cartoon staff . . . Lillian Mlcoch, Irwin Rickel, Willian Klem, Dave Lauren, Al Fischer, Morrey Chung, Frank Petry.

Fashion Editor Ruth Dobrin's new apartment and Sports Editor Bob Lupo's endless supply of sports statistics were main topics of conversation between the two . . . both editors already have head starts on journalistic careers.

Two blondes with careers as school teachers planned, Co-Exchange Editors Kathy Schumann and Hilde Carsten, collected magazines from under the office desks to establish an orderly exchange filing system.

sweet song

It didn't take Ed Lauterbach long to get into the swing of Scop social life . . . another Associate editor, new and dependable.

Guess which Associate editor was behind the dark glasses most of the semester . . . none other than Stanford transferee Joan Levy.

An unlit pipe and corny "Cohen-isms" are trade marks of Saul Cohen . . . are all those weird ideas from one Associate ed?

She seems quiet, but don't be fooled . . . Marcia Borie, the last of the Associate editor quintet is always ready with a witticism.

Letters to be written, telephones to be answered, files to be straightened . . . the office staff can always be found ready, willing, and even eager to serve.

Pick a song, any song . . . Associate Advertising Manager Norm Jacobson will oblige, ukelele and all.

The staff says she's "real efficient" . . . but Office Manager Jan McIntosh insists she's just playing the part of a sucker!

The Scop edition of Burl Ives . . . Advertising Manager Bob Lurie is the sophisticated cynic from Greenwich.

Circulation Manager Phil Gardner and his father built an entire motel. His hobby? . . . naturally it's carpentering.

Perfect for the job of Public Relations head . . . but what's the scoop on Stevie Vorhees' symbolic hats?

"Rings and things, and buttons and bows" . . . the materialistic viewpoint was given by members of the Fashion staff. They were to be consulted on the dress of the well-dressed campus woman.

When they're not looking for typographical errors, they're making certain that the stories fit the provided spaces. . . . The Technical staff takes care of the little errors staff writers always make.

Scop's super salesman, Don Henley, can outsell any Bruin . . . so say the members of the Business staff, and they'll give you odds any time. In his three years as Business manager, Don has seen results from his efforts as the magazine's size has increased from 32 to 48 pages . . . and all because of more and more ads. He now has his staff wondering how many ads he'll sell for Scop during his summer European trip.

These three were usually on the taking end . . . but Scop Photographers Stan Troutman, Stevie Vorhees, and Dick Coleman prove that they too know how to look at the birdie.

honor and service

Campus chest collection was only one of the many functions which brought honor and service to Spurs and other campus groups.

"London Bridges" had nothing on the pants of Chairman Art Fenstermaker at the S.C. game when Rally committee members removed said clothing in the keeping of a well-established UCLA tradition.

Card stunters couldn't have been guided by more able assistants . . . if vocal persuasion didn't get results Dick Haupt and Barbara Lehmann could always resort to the more effective rubber band barrage.

When Irwin Rickel and Virginia Oakley put their heads together for stunt design, the natural result is a card section alive with color.

Northwestern's Wildcat looks ferocious enough to win a football game . . . and he didn't realize he had such a rosy future.

"Come join the band" . . . the UCLA card section in a greeting to the visitors from the farm . . . something new has been added in checkerboards.

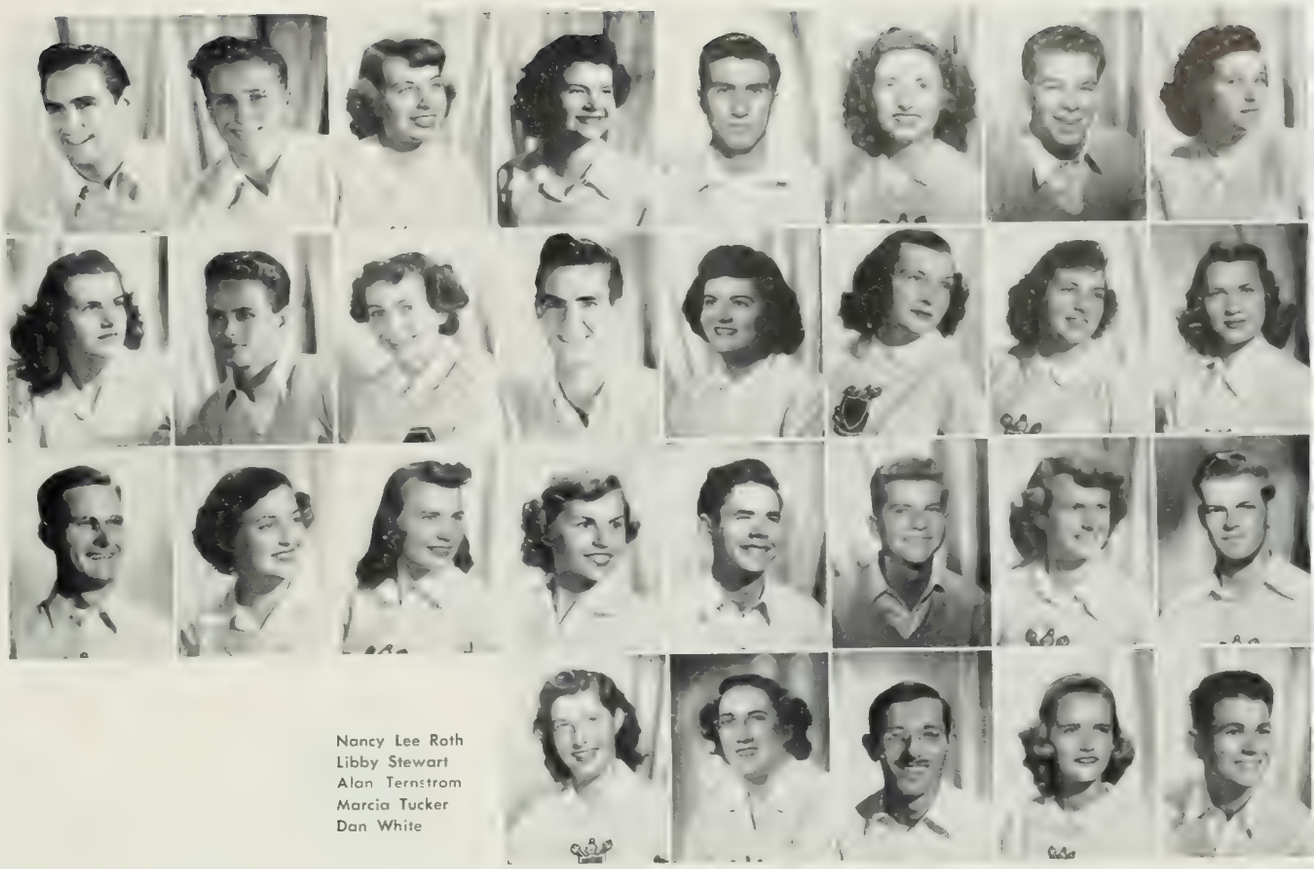

Old Joe Bruin has a sparkle in his eye. Why not, with all the hard work and enthusiasm that the Rally committee put forth in his behalf.

He floats through the air . . . and the sophomores always were found yelling when led by their boy, Fred Thornley.

yell leaders

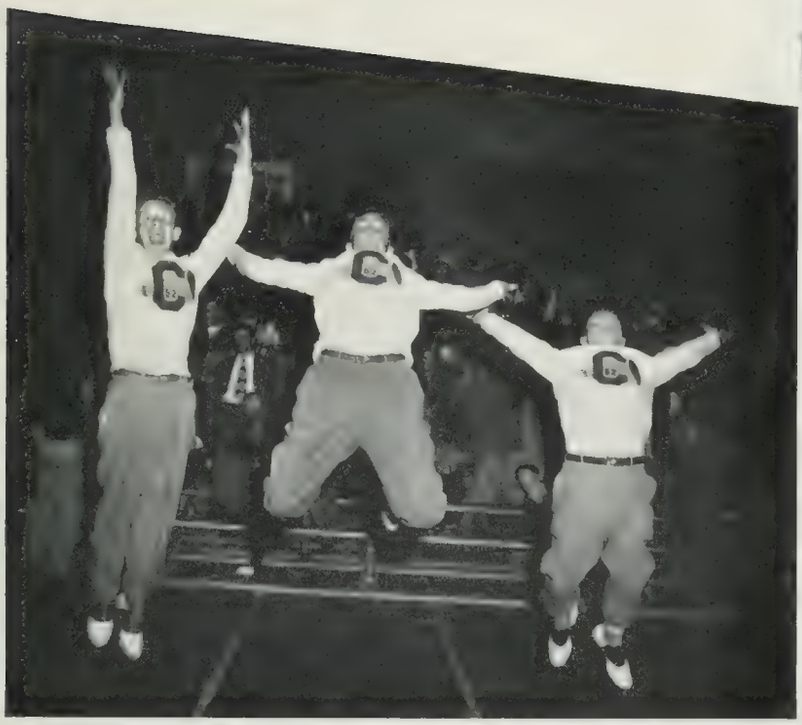

"Fifteen big ones . . . rah, rah, rah . . . for head yell king Sherrill Luke. He's the one who awakened that "new Bruin spirit" in all of us. Win or lose, with him we yelled. Remember the locker room serenades, the great rooting at Cal, and the SC game . . . here's the man who started it booming. Singing, yelling, leading, pep talks . . . you name it, he could do it.

Let's go Brooins! Right, Bob Hight . . . we remember you at all the games and your Juniors pulled through with plenty of noise.

There he is . . . Lee Cohen . . . the boy with all the chatter . . . part two of the Junior class's twin yell leader team.

A new idea . . . three frosh yell leaders . . . new sweaters . . . a smooth move! We're bound to see more of these three, namely Wells Wolhwend, Doug Upshaw and Jack Sobel. They've got that yell leader look too . . . saddle shoes, flying arms, and that ability to leap in the air.

Seniors! Guess who? It's your original "rah-rah" king Dave Leanse. Maybe he wants a little rooting from the top rows.

Who let all of these Kerckhoff characters out of the ivory tower? Cal clubbers keep insisting that they don't always lounge around on the Royce hall steps . . . but there are times when even the BIG wheels have to stop rolling. GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT to students on five campuses of the University of California carry a special significance not ordinarily associated with presidential salutations. In this case distinguished draftees welcome the recognition and appointment that Dr. Sproul's letter bears.

CAPITALIZING ON S's at UCLA, California Club was stimulated by Simqu, supervised by Sherwood, and sponsored by Sproul. Pulling together for all-Cal unity, outstanding members on all campuses displayed a spirited cooperation that made their success an inspiring one.

ROBIN HOOD'S BAND would have come out a sad second in spirit if pitched against UCLA's Yeomen corps. Coming to the aid of all campus organizations, these outstanding lower division men best expressed their marksmanship in all-out cooperation.

KERCKHOFF FOREST was their happy hunting ground as members did active yeoman duty in many ASUCLA activities. Head bowman, Ronny Clark, lined up the target of service for the whole band to score an easy bullseye.

(A)LWAYS (PHI)NDING (O)PPORTUNITY to perform for Uclans was Ringmaster Don Armbruster as he put Alpha Phi Omega into every campus act under the Westwood big top. It was a three ring circus as A-Phi-O organized the side show at Freshman orientation, labeled the levis of class clowns during Men's Week, and ushered at the big Homecoming show.

SCOUTING AROUND for good deeds to be done at UCLA these former Boy Scouts blazed a trail toward new University achievements. Rubbing together spirit and enthusiasm, the organization kindled the flame of campus coordination.

Varsity clubbers hold an informal get-together on the sun-soaked steps of Kerckhoff Hall . . . if someone hasn't just told a good, shaggy dog, story the fellows are probably hashing through details of the highly successful spring banquet-dance. With textbooks strategically placed, varsity men offer visible proof that academic hurdles have to be cleared along with athletic ones.

C'S AND STRIPES FOREVER could well be sung by UCLA's legion of lettermen as they led the march to restoration of lost campus traditions. Through their martial efforts, football highlights once again flashed on Royce hall's screen. The tempo changed from military measure to smooth dance rhythms when the Varsity club staged its annual spring dance.

CASEY AT BAT could never rate with gavel-swinging Ted Nissen who scored for the Varsity club on all counts. Extra innings of teamwork paid off in increased campus spirit.

WOMEN IN WHITE, after aiding school operations with periodic injections of Spuradrenalin, helped regulate the tempo of campus activities. Not artificial respiration, but down to earth cooperation was used by these outstanding Sophomore women as they ushered at football games, collected for Campus Chest and assisted at orientation teas.

SPUR OF THE MOMENT, Lucky O'Keefe, didn't need a rabbit's foot to ensure this organization's success. The eyes of underprivileged children, brightened by gifts of Christmas toys, could well attest to the four-leaf-clover quality of the 52 active Spur members.

SETTING THEIR CAPS for service activities at UCLA, these outstanding Senior women justly wore the crown of campus fame. Topping three vigorous years of scholarship and service, Mortar Board members attended the regional dinner meeting at USC and led the move for better student-faculty relations.

SING-U-ALL made the campus resound as the Cal Men revived the traditional Wednesday class song sessions. Brawl-U-All of Men's Week sprang from soiled sophs and fresh frosh, who were brought into discord by this service organization under Cal mentor Dick Viertel.

HITTING HIGH "C" and lighting it up for Homecoming, the ever busy Cal Men brought the flame from the emblem on the hill to the bonfire on the field. Making sure that no Bruin was without the words to campus chants, Cal Men chalked up another service with the distribution of song sheets on the quad.

Soon that clean white tablecloth will be covered with penciled plans of the next Cal Men venture. In the meantime the Executive board takes time out from their discussion of weighty problems to pose for the camera . . . Dick Viertel and his crew do well for themselves and their organization.

A MILLION DOLLAR HOME greeted last fall's bus ad and econ honor students. The Beta Gamma Sigmas swarmed through BAE exploring and appraising the shiny, modern building.

MASTER OF THE HOUSE, President Mary Louise Gore led the members up the red stairs to the second floor office of the honorary's sponsor, Dr. Harry Simmons. There, were defined Beta Gamma Sigma requirements: 2.5 average in bus ad and econ courses and a 2.0 over-all university average.

Business is the business of Beta Gamma Sigma's two top executives. Statistical averages, current consumer trends and buyers' market are forgotten momentarily as they take a breather between classes before returning to the job of understanding what makes a business operate smoothly.

EVEN AN ESKIMO wouldn't be left in the cold at the fireside flings of the "famous for friendliness" Phateres, social and service organization. The year's activities ranged from erection of a massive home-coming float to the joint UCLA-SC Catalina caper.

THE WELCOME MAT was not only out but heavily trodden as Josie Bruins flocked to the orientation tea. President Arlene Ross and Adviser Barbara Savory well deserved the friendly smiles of thanks from Phateres members.

Establishing Kerckhoff 307 as their headquarters, the high command of Operation Phrateres secured beachheads of friendliness over the UCLA battlegrounds. News from the front was heartening to the smiling officers; every communique carried the same words . . . "mission accomplished."

Concerto in UCLA major, titled Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia by its four accomplished and enthusiastic conductors, rated bravisimos in all theaters of activity. The music national played a year's program of service and action to a large and grateful student body.

SHARPS AND FLATS are the main sounding boards in the lives of members of Phi Mu Alpha, National Music fraternity. With the theme "advance the cause of American music," the honorary harmonized composers, singers, and instrumentalists into its program of action.

SETTING THE PITCH for organization activities, was the job of President Bob Armer and Sponsor LeRoy W. Allen. The sharpest note of the year was sounded at Royce Hall in the May concert which featured music of the western hemisphere.

BOLD FACE TYPE and balanced layouts set the trend of action for Pi Delta Epsilon, National Journalism honorary. The best of ASUCLA newspaper, magazine, and yearbook talent made the columns of the organization's membership roll.

FRONT PAGE NEWS was made by members at their installation banquet in December as Headliner Libby Stewart moved into the position of chief editor. Sponsor Waldo Edmunds had editorial veto rights in all the journalists' activities.

Egads! not four Trolls in one organization! There must be a limit somewhere . . . and Pi Delta Epsilon has definitely reached it with Barbara Jewkes, Barbara Simpson, Libby Stewart, and Mary Ellen Brininger making sure that confusion reigned.

THE DRUNKARD held the attention of the Pre-med association at one of their early social flings and a late semester social put the cap on their activities which were led by President Chip Thompson.

PROSPECTIVE SAWBONES and students in related fields were invited to join the Pre-med association for latest information about medical subjects. Lectures concerning such subjects as hypnosis and plastic prosthes were presented on numerous Friday nights during the year.

Ten future medicos held a convention outside the Education building and not a stethoscope among the group . . . probably because the officers of the Pre-med society made certain that the heartbeat of the organization was healthy enough to forego a check-up.

Just as every great musical creation needs the guiding hands of spirited composers, so a music honorary needs the smooth coordination of talented officers. By these standards Sigma Alpha Iota, through the excellence of its leaders, was a UCLA masterpiece.

For SAM administrators there need never be any problems of management for they head the society for its advancement. In fact, advancement set the pattern of action for the whole organization, as the group moved forward with a program of expanded activities and greater service on campus.

MANAGING COMES EASILY when a society is formed for its advancement. Practical experience in the field of industrial administration, with field trips to city factories, gave members an inside view of their future vocation.

"WE MEAN BUSINESS," stated Presidents Lloyd Stark and Bill Daniels in setting up the program for the society. They managed to budget the group's time between discussion meetings and the year's two initiation banquets.

IN THE DIAPER STAGE, UCLA's Symphony Forum has just completed its second year of action. Growing pains were not evident in the group's smoothly-run program of musical activities, due to the efficiency of President Gay Howard.

OFF THE RECORD were classical disc sessions sponsored by the organization to acquaint its members with the latest note in music. Artists of the Los Angeles Philharmonic scored a hit in their appearances before Symphony Forum audiences.

arts

Campus Theater students were one of the groups finding inspiration for their talents by participating in the arts.

Reshaping the setup of Theater activities board into an executive body combining Campus theater wings, Music workshop, and All-u-sings was the major concern of Norm Padgett, Frank McClure, Josephine Gaines, Mildred Kermeen, Bill Pullen, Elizabeth Surace, Gordon Mason, Joyce Holly, and George Mair.

Student government rarely is fortunate enough to have a double threat man like Bill Pullen, who is as able an officer and representative on SEC as he is an accomplished actor.

theater activities

Top players in Campus theater demonstrate how a hit is staged. The year was exceptionally outstanding in the quality of productions presented because of the work and cooperation given by serious young artists such as Bob Horton, Beverly Churchill, Sandra Dorn, Ivan Rubenstein, Dick Thompson, and Gordon Mason.

Fulfilling the function of a central agency for the coordination of all forensic activity on campus, speech activities board under the faculty guidance of Dr. James Murray and student leadership of Louise Kosches held workshops and labs in the positive aspects of student discussion and debate.

In a spring constitutional referendum, speech activities seat on SEC was re-approved by Bruin voters. Chairman Louise Kosches met the responsibilities of the job with maximum efficiency.

Ed Fitzgerald, Bob Lupo, Frank Loy, Dorothy Lasher, Louise Kosches, and Dr. James Murray form the executive council of Speech Activities board. UCLA again this year set new marks of merit in the inter-collegiate field of debate, extemp, and discussion. On the campus itself a program of monthly forums on events of student interest was devised and initiated concluding a year of speech service for the group.

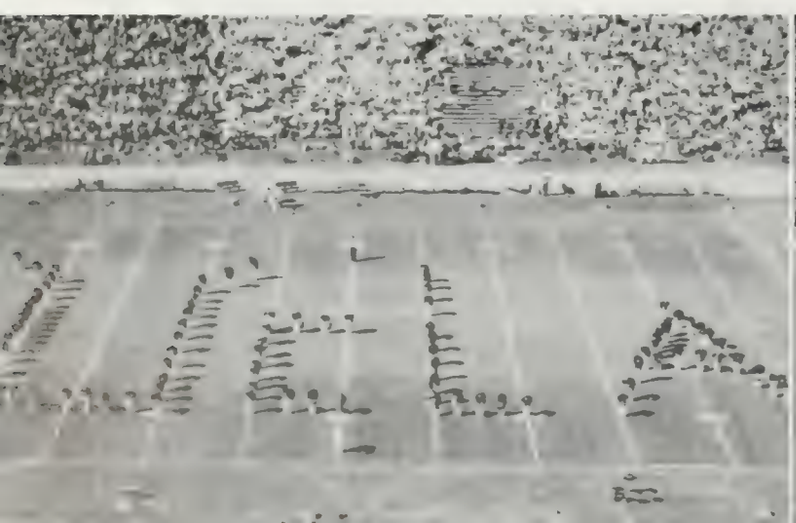

The battle of sharps and flats proved an easy victory for the Greater Bruin Band as it scored in every appearance. Piccolo players, tuba tooters, and other bandsmen were quarter-timed by Co-directors Patton McNaughton and C. B. Hunt, while Gordon Wheatly, leader on the field, cut a sharp figure as drum major, and Cliff Cole handled band managerial duties in high fashion. Greater than great was the reception given wherever the GBB rang out.

how great can you

From every seat in the Coliseum arose the highest acclaim when the cymbals clanged and the drums went bang . . . said a UCLA colleen, "They're better than McNamara." It was the same from all quarters, there was only one word to describe them . . . GREAT.

Centered on the fifty yard line the music men cut a blue and gold bicycle and boomed forth with a familiar strain . . . "Daisy." It was all a part of the half-time transportation extravaganza which depicted modes of travel from wagons to rocket ships.

A whole tuba full of credit goes to Faculty Co-director Patton McNaughton for a year of smooth co-ordination and syncopated timing.

A twenty-one trumpet salute is the order of the day for Faculty Co-director C. B. Hunt for a sustained tempo of dynamic band activity.

Major and manager seem to be happy about the whole year . . . baton man Gordon Wheatley, even with that big smile, doesn't seem quite normal without his twenty gallon white top hat but business exec Cliff Cole looks completely satisfied with his music filled year.

From the smiles on the faces of both Marty Martinez, dressed for the occasion, and Men's Glee club sponsor, Raymond Moreman, the music arrangement must be quite satisfactory . . . and from the reputation of this group, the presentation is bound to be as good.

CLOSE HARMONY with Women's Glee and Campus Theater was the keynote in the presentation of this year's outstanding operetta. A round of applause was definitely due Basil Martinez and the whole organization for their effective work.

IRON LUNGS AND SILVER TONGUES, requisites for any glee meet, were part of the show when these women warblers serenaded UCLA in their all-day Christmas marathon. A song-filled year included Thanksgiving and evening concerts, the annual operetta, and guest performances in off campus shows.

PITCH PIPE POTENTATE Patty Whitney brought her smooth songsters to the great uniform decision setting the new look in melodic modes with blue and gold scarves worn on a background of white.

A major scene in a major production was the sentencing of Joan in "Saint Joan." The title role was played by Joanne Davis. Directer Henry Schnitzler gave sweep and scope to George Bernard Shaw's sterling story of the maid. Such events are proof in point that UCLA's Theater Arts department offers a "theater major" for students and brings forth the all-encompassing work of the theater, encountered under professional standards.

Joan kneels before Robert Maier, the Archbishop, while Stanley Glenn oversees the proceedings in the famous court room scene. Joanne Davis and Stanley Glenn received Campus theater acting awards for their efforts in the spring semester. The large variety of theater productions gave students the chance to display all their talents in the course of the double semester season. In addition to acting opportunities Bruins interested in set and costume design had a chance to use their talents. Those possessed with none of these attributes find they reap a wealth of reward by merely viewing the finished product. It may be said that Theater Arts provides a brilliant opportunity for audience and cast, alike.

saint joan . . . the seagull

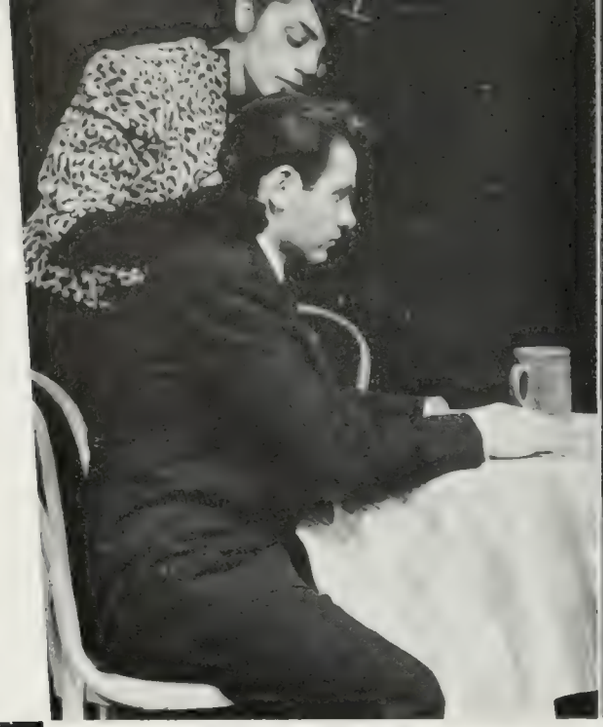

Saint Joan proclaims the moving speech, "Oh God, w' o madest this beautiful earth, when will it be rea.'y to receive thy saints? How long, oh Lord, how long?' Theater goers were enthusiastic over this and a'l ot'c spring and fall stage events.

In contrast to Royce hall auditorium productions are the "intimate type" given in the "Theater in Space" of Room 170. Anton Chekhov's "The Sea Gull" as directed by Dr. Walden P. Boyle, displayed this type of theater to its utmost advantage.

Joan Creears, Anne O'Neil, Paul Levitt, Jane Blaustein, Charles Metten and Harry Cooper surround Elaine Krasny in Chekhov's famous "play scene" of "The Sea Gull." Costumes were the works of art of Bill Campbell and sets were designed by John Jones.

Dolores Kallejian as Anna comforts Lynn Stalmaster as Franci in the cafe scene in "Periphery," directed by Henry Schnitzler. Both students received the Campus theater acting award for their excellent work in this and other productions during the fall term.

Just time for a short, friendly drink . . . Bob Horton as Streeter and William Pullen as Charleston, the lightkeeper, portray a scene in Dr. William Melnitz' metaphysical production of "Thunder Rock" in the little theater off the quad.

periphery . . . thunder rock . . . twelfth night

Stanley Glenn as Sebastion and Greta Tycko as Olivia watch Bob Rodgers, the Fool, while he sings the gay melody that closes the rollicking Shakespearean comedy "Twelfth Night." This was but one of the many fine, humorous works presented by Bruin students.

William Curtis, Sir Andrew Aguecheek, and Bob Rodgers, Feste, appear slightly perturbed at the intrusion of Paul Levitt as the prim Malevolio into their midnight frolic. Jack Ragotzy, Sir Toby, and Ada Friedman, Maria, remain little concerned about the event. This hilarious scene occurred in G. Edward Hearn's RH 170 version of "Twelfth Night."

A pledge is taken by the women of Greece to abstain from their husbands until their husbands cease from warfare in Aristophanes' Greek comedy, "Lysistrata" which was but one of the theater presentations providing humor at its best to Bruin audiences.

lysistrata . . . hasty heart

Against the magnificent settings designed by Nord Whited and the costumes by John Jones, the women and men of Greece attempt to come to an agreement in the production "Lysistrata." The play, directed by Dr. William P. Boyle, boasted a cast of beautiful women, including B. J. Winslow, Dorothy White, Joan Kermin and Joanne Davis . . . description of the presentation . . . superb.

Sweet music is given by Larry Fielder, bagpipe player in G. Edward Hearn's "Hasty Heart." Looking on with awe, amusement ind incredulity are Bob Horton, Harry Cooper, Milt Hammerman, Bill Andrews and Bill Ratcliffe. This warm and tender comedy-drama delighted the season subscribers who attended the novel horse-shoe staged production in Royce hall 170.

Put a blue spot on the Dance Theater board . . . under the direction of Mildred Kermeen a new step was taken in the evening workshop with active audience participation. Waltzing through a combination of group projects and weekly presentations, the Board brought music and choreography to a successful climax in a final Royce Hall evening program.

On their toes throughout the whole year, prospective Pavlovas set new and different trends in dance interpretations. Drums along the Belgian Congo mark little Red Riding Hood's prowl through the woods . . . a tisket, a tasket, she still has her yellow basket.

Keeping things whirling on and off stage, Dance Theater members ran the full gamut of dance routines. Accent was on basic movements but the full grace and sweep of moods and situations was also stressed . . . dance, ballerinas, dance, . . . the chairs are full in every row.

A lonely lamp post on a deserted street sets the mood for a studio evening presentation . . . individual expression carries through a dance theme in a whole series of intricate body motions. UCLA's Dance Theater can take a well earned curtain call for their successful efforts this year.

During his four years as head grid mentor at UCLA, Bert LaBrucherie fielded a Rose Bowl aggregation and earned himself a coveted second place in the FCA's "best coach of the year" poll. An alumnus of Westwood, Bert rose through prep ranks, taking over the Bruin post from Babe Horrell in 1945. He proceeded to bewilder the locals for two years running, but 1947 and '48 were seasons when luck just didn't follow the one-time quarterback-great turned coach. Backfield troubles plagued him in '47, and a general team apathy lasted during the '48 contests. In tendering his resignation, however, Bert could be proud of the fact that he had made a positive contribution to Westwood football.

Former Georgia Tech All-American Phil Tinsley was also co-captain from his position at end as the footballers powered through the '48 season.

Having all the equipment available at the right time is the job of the team managers, better known as assistants' assistants. Kneeling are: Tony Weldon, Al Thompson, Marshal Johnson, and Ted Nissen; standing: Ken Shaw, Bob Lessman, Norman Jacobson, and Marve Sargeant.

Whip-crackers of the supply boys are senior Managers Mike Trieshow and Al Thompson. Their important job always insures them 50 yard line seats.

Keeping the squad in top shape is a task for only the best of trainers. Everything from aching muscles to sprained toes must be cared for, to assure top grid performance. Pat Turner, Dr. George Ruth, Dr. Ed. Ruth, and Ducky Drake are the men who do the job at Westwood.

Ned Mathews, a newcomer to Westwood coaching ranks in '48, but an old hand at ball handling in his college days, helped Bert LaBrucherie prep up the boys in the backfield.

A. J. Sturznegger, perennial mentor at the kicking niche, had the job of smoothing out all the booting problems which arose in the Bruin kicking department.

Shelby Calhoun switched to the line from his previous end coaching slot and drubbed the intricacies of line work into the hardies of the Bruin front wall.

behind the coach

William "Dutch" Fehring, another newcomer to Westwood in the know-how department, was Bert's right hand man in his capacity as assistant coach of the '48 Westwooders.

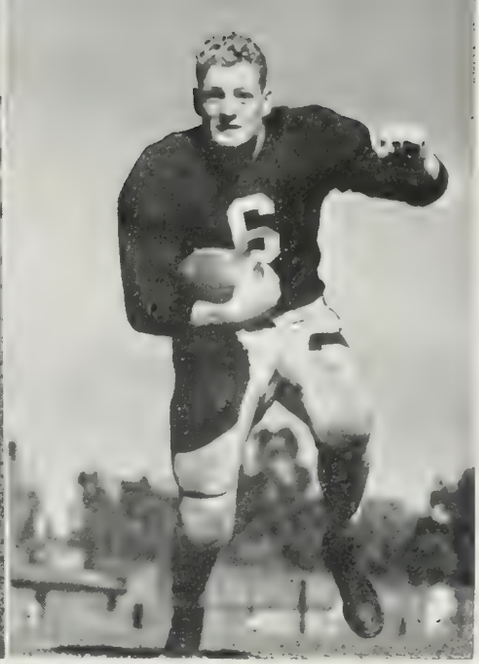

Mike Marienthal, a Bruin great before his days in the service, continued to prepare the JV's for more important duty in his position as Junior varsity coach.

HAL BRALEY, soph fullback, spent most of the year jabbing goalward with the ball tucked safely in his mitt.

JACK BROWN, halfback dynamo, sped into the open for frequent gains at the least provocation.

Hibernation, it appeared, had been good for the Bruins.

GRABBING A QUICK REVERSE, Cliff Schroeder and the rest of the Westwooders spent most of September 25 attempting to outwit the Wildcats from Evanston. Getting their first real workout of the season, the Bruin pigskinners just couldn't seem to click. Powerful Cat drives clawed at the Bruin line until they had scratched their way through . . . scheming Voights strategy drove home pass after pass for fatal yardage. But most important, shrewd Northwestern defense held the Bruin gain to a total of only 66 yards . . . 33 from passing, 33 from ground drives. Thus, the Chicagoans earned an overwhelming victory which helped set them up for the Rose Bowl tilt.

RAY LEWAND, guard, injured early in the season, garnered a stripe by his fine showings in openings games.

BRUCE MACLACHLAN, first year right guard, used his mere 185 pounds to advantage against weighty foes.

"GIT ALONG LITTLE DOGGIE," growls Art Steffen (19) as he hi-tails it around right end via a helpful assist from Howie Hansen. Groveling towards the pert Bruin scatback are two flea-zone Huskies, unaware that Dave Dobrow (22) and George Pastre (69) are headin' in for the kill. Foreign ground bewildered the locals, and though the Seattle sun blazed throughout the game, Westwood's luck was not quite so bright. A series of fumbles, plus a stolen ball at the beginning of the second half, knocked the pins from under the Bruin attack, and caused an untimely defeat for Bert's boys at the hands of Reg Root's Washingtonians.

NOTHIN' TO IT when Ray Nagel tosses the tommyhawk, and for a while it looked like home-coming would have a perfect ending. But an under-rated tribe . . . already on the comeback trail . . . had war-pathed its way from Palo Alto determined to upset the blue and gold rush. Thus a combination of costly fumbles, poor substitutions and injuries which put all but one first string back under the medicine man's care and gave the Injuns a chance to whoop their way through the biggest scalping party the Bruins attended all season.

LEON McLAUGHLIN, head man at the center spot, averaged an astonishing 45 minutes playing time per game.

RAY NAGEL, prize potato tosser, completed more passes than any other quarterback in Bruin history.

JOHN NIKCEVICH, guard, sliced into the first string again this year with high calibre playing.

KNAWING BEAVERS consistently managed to dam the flood of Bruin power in the mid-way battle of the season. Continually hampered by injuries, the Westwood squad was unable to dent the Corvallis front wall, though it was hard to convince back Howard Hansen that those munchers trying to slice him down were invincible. Uncertain substitutions, poor passing connections and, above all, a hot Beaver team were the factors which pulled the pegs from under Westwood's potential Bruins.

PLOWING A NEAT HARROW straight through Nebraska's corn field, Jim Chadwick (61) politely cultivates a resting husker to reap an overwhelming victory in the Lincoln home pasture. Entering the fracas with a determination to pull the shucks over Nebraska's eyes, UCLA's attacking line got hot in the second quarter and made succotash of the corn belt proteges. Though overshadowed on the statistics sheet, the blue and gold aerial department opened two clicking attacks which completely stymied Potsy Clark's squad and brought the much-needed bacon home to victory-hungry Westwood.

GENE "SKIP" ROWLAND, put out of commission early in the season, can be rated as one of UCLA's best halfbacks.

CLIFF SCHROEDER, trading from half to quarterback at intervals, often sparked the winning plays.

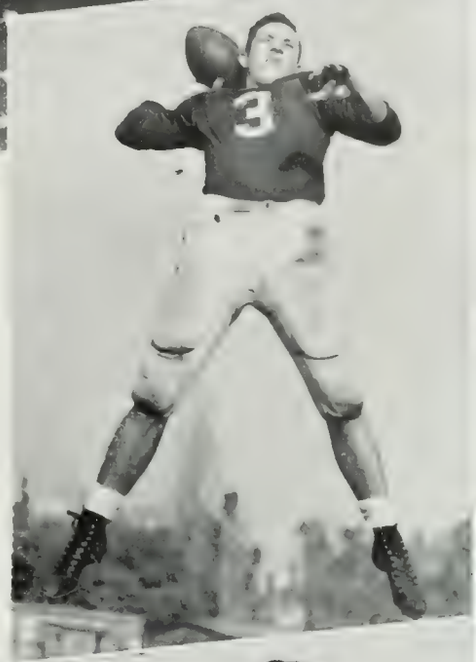

LES STEINER, hardy perennial at the right guard niche, made the year's longest pass interception run.

SOMETHING HAPPENED up at Berkeley. Before a jam-packed stadium in Strawberry Canyon, the Bruin gridders "got religion" . . . football variety . . . and played their best game of the season. All afternoon the southern underdogs clawed at big brother Cal, a team destined to head down Arroyo Seco come January 1. Ball packers like Ernie Johnson (pictured) zipped past galaxies of Cal bruisers to garner needed yardage. Ball spotters like Les Steiner waylaid Cal passes one after the other. Ball tossers like Billy "the kid" Stamper hammered the rawhide into daddy's arms to completely overshadow the Bear aerial department.

"WATCH IT BUDDY" warns Howie Hansen (34) as he blazes a trail for speedy Art Steffen in the nighttime thriller with the conference co-champs. Aching to slice the mighty Webfoots down to waddling size, the Westwood combo hurled everything it had towards the visitors from Eugene in a spirited attack of football maneuvering. But the northerners refused to be denied their exalted position on the PCC tally sheet, and managed to overshadow the new spirit the Westwooders unfortunately, had gotten "too late" in the game.

BILL STAMPER, up and coming quarterback, spent the season sailing long ones straight to papa's arms.

DICK SHORT, dynamic fullback, sped through opponents' lines in many offensive plays of the season.

ART STEFFEN, fullback, named most valuable Bruin player of the year, was the top coast punter.

ROY VUJOVICH, husky lineman, gave fine performances all season at both left end and center.

BOB WATSON, sophomore fullback, sparked his first letter year with an array of perfect conversions.

A THIRTY-TWO YARD RUN by Ernie Johnson brings the Bruins inches from the goal, three downs to go. "What could be sweeter?" scream the 90,000 fans, and with a resounding push into striped territory, the Westwood ball-handlers answer "Nothin!" Not to be denied his final say, the "ruff ref" comes bouncing in to whistle his decision on a play which was only a sample of the afternoon's performance.

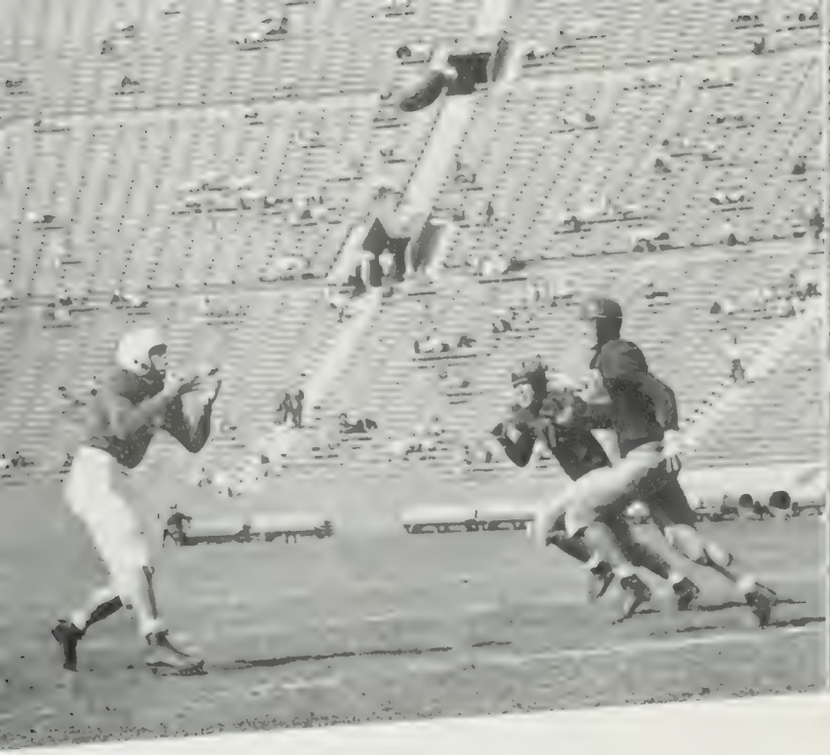

BOB WILKINSON, offensive end and defensive half, snagged his first letter with versatile performances.

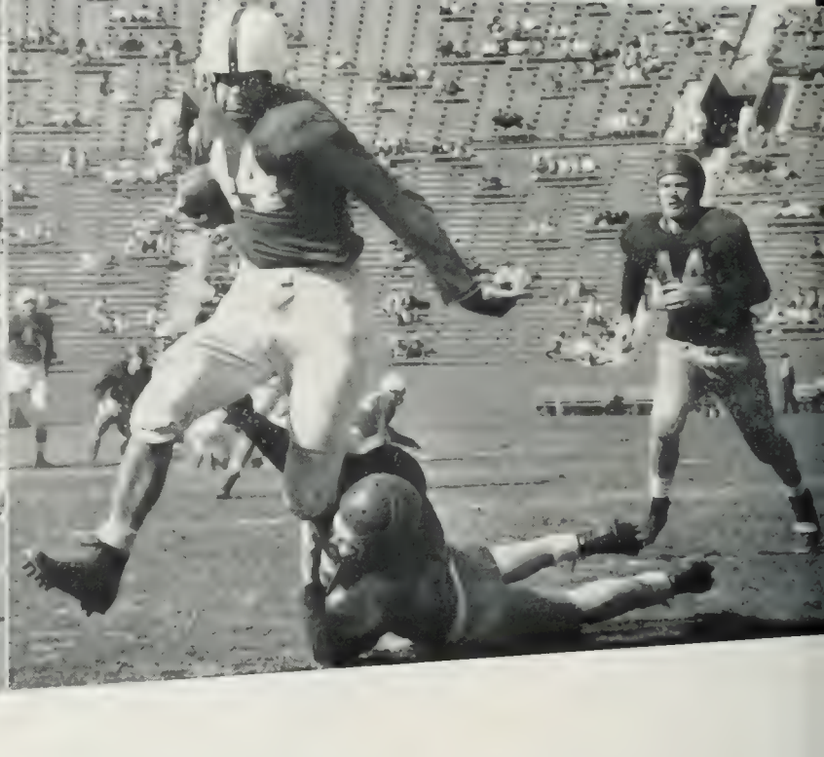

EVERY SEASON'S THRILLER is traditionally the tilt with the Trojans from Figueroa Tech. Smilin' Ernie Johnson and Growlin' Art Steffen (bottom) take charge of the kick-off and start their trek towards the century marker at the other end of the meadow. Galloping towards nothing more than city championship this year, the Westwood eleven displayed greater team spirit than at any other time during the season. But regardless of terrific sprinting by Bill Duffy and Ernie Johnson (top) being given the go-ahead sign by blocker Bob Watson, inspired aerial bombardments by Nagel, Stamper and company, and hard hitting tackles by George Pastre and West Mathews, the Trojan ground division had the all important edge. Thus by luck, power and providence, Jeff Cravath's hardies were able to eke out a one touch-down margin which cinched their lease on the victory bell for another year.

"Come to pop" urges Malc Ellis (44) as the homing pigeon sails straight into his waiting arms. Sensational pass catches predominated in 1948's last game as Westwood's frosh collided head on with the Trobabes. Playing rip-snorting ball, the two teams followed the example of their varsity brothers by continuing the traditional crosstown rivalry as they battled for possession of the rawhide.

"Pardon my slippery heels" says UCLA's end as he slips from a Trojan youngster's arms, and completes a 23-yard run. Ending a none-too-successful season, the Brubabes dropped a close one to the Figueroans in a sizzling hour of upset tactics.

Sharpies of the grid field are the assistant frosh mentors who must constantly be on the lookout for details which make a winning squad out of an assembly of greenhorns. Fitting neatly into the realm of gridiron builders are assistant brubabe coaches Nate De Francisco, Art Reichle, and Bennie Reiges.

George Dickerson, head man of the frosh aggregation, hollowed a second year's niche in his log of Bruin coaching. Genial George spotted prep school talent from local records and proceeded to mold the yearlings into a pre-varsity squad.

"We're going to be known as the toughest, scrappiest, most aggressive team on the coast," Henry "Red" Sanders announced at the Alumni banquet. Judging from Red's sensational performances of past seasons, his Bruin team will be just that.

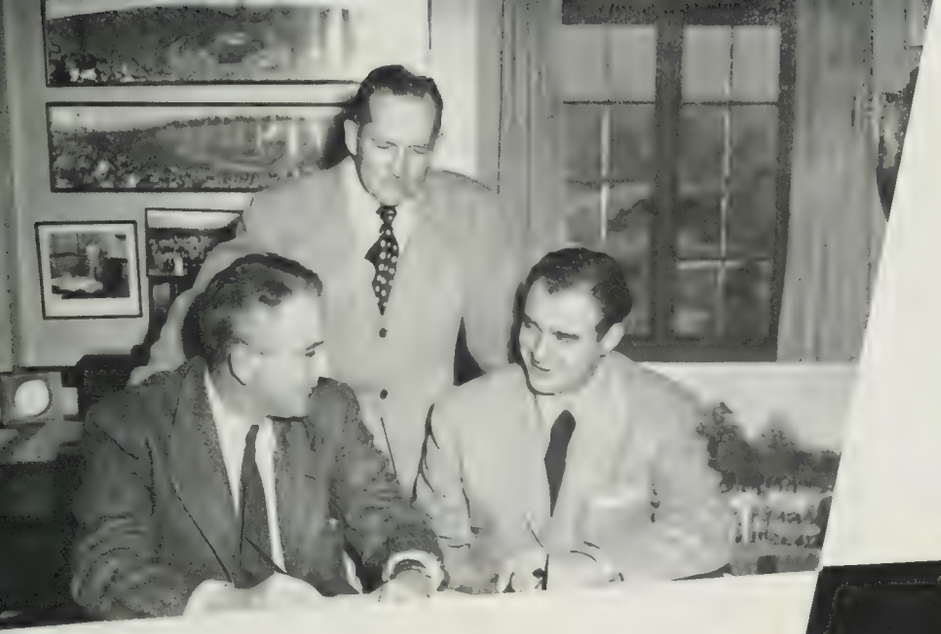

Meeting the press is important business, for first impressions are often lasting with the fourth estate. Completely won over by the sincere, clear-spoken coach, the nation's sportswriters immediately labeled Red the man to watch in '49.

Work began immediately for the new grid staff. After hours of watching movies which show every play made by the '48 squad, Red and his assistants began to plot maneuvers which will simplify the switch from the "T" to the single wing.

Whenever a big smile spreads over Bill Ackerman's face, you know he's latched on to a good thing. And if Red Sanders' past record is any indication of what he'll do for Bruin football there'll be a lot more smiling faces like Bill Ackerman's next season.

"Red, it's good to have you at UCLA" said Athletic Director Wilbur Johns as he greeted the new head-man of the grid field on his arrival at the Los Angeles airport. Mrs. Sanders seemed to share the sentiment.

Two UCLA greats, one of the past and one of the future, get to know each other at the Varsity club dinner. Always a booster of Westwood athletics is former backfield star Kenny Washington, shaking hands with a friend.

Pointing out the lay of the land to his imported staff, Red explains to Jim Myers (line coach), Tom Harrison (assistant coach), Mike Balitsaris (end coach), Tom Prothro (backfield coach) and Tom Whitley (assistant), the set-up at UCLA.

"Not through here you don't!" warns Elwin Swenson, first string goalie whose nimble feet and zooming hands block a goal attempt during a bruin practice session.

Old hands at soccer direction are playing Manager Lloyd Lindell and Coach John Drury, both mastering the same positions they've held since UCLA pivot-ball began coming into its own.

Fielding the best kicking squad ever developed at Westwood, coach John Drury set the pace for hi-falutin' teamwork with his '48 aggregation. Daubed with a rich international flavor, the soccer huskies bounced into prominence with the most sterling performance of toad ball ever witnessed on Spaulding field. Seven of the eleven starters hail from foreign countries, among them Aykurt Dehlil, brilliant Turkish player, and Razmick Gregorian, Indian flash who helped massacre Cal Tech mid-way in the season. Kicking into the western US collegiate tilt, the locals ended a successful season on the upward trail by narrowly dropping the decision to a sizzling USF champion team.

Cracking heads in the opening scrum of the season, the locals call up to Jerry Prell (center) to 'get down in here, ya bum, and help us give these yeggs a run for their money!"

Big grins are the order for the leaders of Rugby's most successful UCLA season, topped by Coach Norm Padgett, Team Captains Sherwood Simpson and Dick Thies, and Rugby club President Guy Way.

Bounding into its second season after a lapse of nine years, UCLA Rugby is finally aiming towards the golden bucket. From a short schedule of only three contests in '48, to a full eight-fiasco agenda for '49, the Bruins became tossball's southern division champs. A heavy shot of hustling enthusiasm by Coach Norm Padget plus a sturdy leaning on the experience of many of last year's squad has helped the ruggers make their pastime a full fledged sport in Westwood athletics. All these ingredients, combined with a strong injection of team spirit and social aid from the Rugby club, have made kick-ball a fresh outlet for varsity rawhiders.

Wonderman Johnny Wooden, a yearling in Westwood mentor ranks but already a great in UCLA's coaching annals, had a spectacular introduction to Bruin athletics. Taking over only an average group of boys, Jovial John proceeded to bamboozle the world of sports by producing the scrappiest aggregation of Lanky Lems ever to set foot on a Bruin hardboard-patch. To coach Wooden, a top-flight leader in the know-how department and a sterling personality if ever there was one, UCLA has already doffed its hat. Hail the conquering hero, and watch for things to come!

Assistant Coach Bill Putnam, 1945 all-coast guard for UCLA, continued in his familiar role as varsity aide. Ramblin' Bill used his three seasons experience under Wilbur Johns to good advantage in helping the new coach get off to a whiz-bang start.

Rebound troubles didn't seem to bother jumpin' George Stanich, even though Ron Pearson (left) and Crash Kraushaar (32) were pretty upset about the whole thing. After a moment's wrestling, George potted the petunia for another goal, giving UCLA the edge over Santa Barbara in the first non-conference game of the season.

RAY ALBA, quiet-spoken center, made the winning free-throw in the all-time thriller with USC.

ART ALPER, crafty guard, sizzled over the redwood and still has two years of eligibility.

WAYNE BOULDING, husky center, was part of the phenomenal Stanich-Bennett-Sale-Boulding combo in JC.

Chuck Clustka, romping into a revengeful jump, slips the leather from a Loyolan's hands and tips it over to Kraushaar in one of the game's smoothest plays. Hitting the stride that made them champions before the season's end, Wooden's boys turned on the heat to completely melt Loyola's ice.

Up an at 'em as Ron Pearson, pint-sized guard, took careful aim at the hoop and let one go (below). Spreading out all over the court, UCLA's bravadoes made like Dr. Scholl and completely plastered the bucking Bronc's from Santa Clara.

"What have you done!" screamed the Northwestern man, 9, (bottom), as he threw up his arms in agony at the sight of Al Sawyer's perfect putt through the wicket. All Al had done, of course, was to sink the winning goal. Why get so upset about that, pal? It's just a game!

Chuck grabs the toss again (extreme left) and pivots in under the hoop for another sweet-Sue straight through the webbed bonnet. Having easily won the second game of the Cal series a week before, Johnny's gymnasts returned to the Cal castle and made it an even three.

Georgie, Porgie, puddin' pie (left) looped a basket, made Cal cry! Sporting a perfect potting average, Wooden's wonders polished off the final game with Brother Bear by stacking up a convenient lead right from the starting gun and maintaining it all evening.

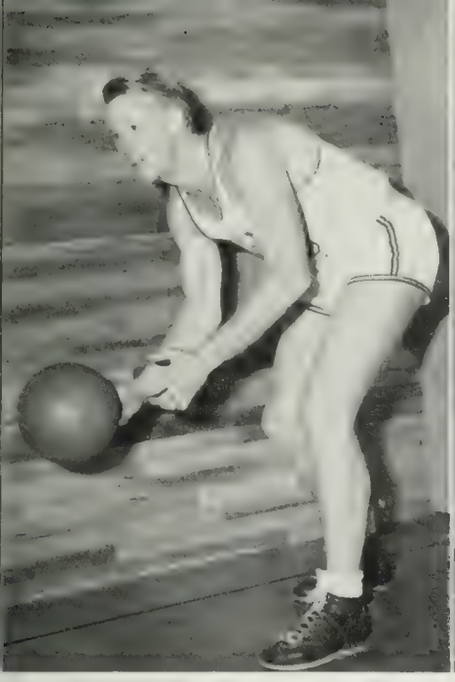

CARL KRASHAAR, lanky first string center and top Bruin scorer, may be described in one word . . . great.

"Watch it, buster, this one's headin' for home!" cries Ron Pearson as he pots a goal. Starting their official PCC season, the Bruins were just getting warmed up when the final gun found them on the slight end of a close score.

Al Sawyer doesn't have to shoot 'em in, he just jumps up and lets them fall through the hoop. Gaining their bearings in the second thriller of the Indian series, UCLA's sharpies mastered the floor and potted petunias almost at will.

One good round deserves another, so Guy Buccola (56) lets the basket boys pop in his rebound in the third tussle with Stanford. Having found an amazing amount of polish and know-how, the Westwood mongers easily clinched the battle.

ELDON BENNETT, graduating senior in the forward position, ended his career as a 3 letter man.

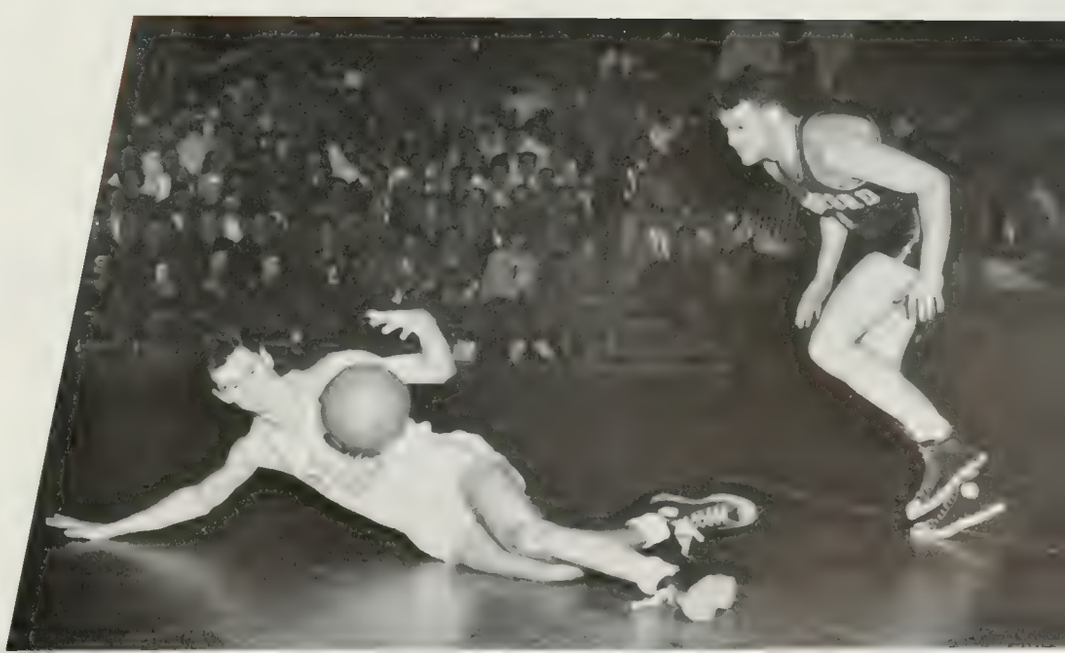

RON PEARSON, perennial in the guard niche, ended his career as unanimously elected team captain.

PAUL SAUNDERS, nicknamed "spider" because of his uncanny maneuvering, won Ace Calkins' cup.

GEORGE STANICH, UCLA's all-around great, won the Caddy Works award for his play in the guard spot.

"Watch it, gentlemen," warns the ref. "You can't ALL have the ball." And you can't win every time, either. Thus a hot Trojan assembly whisked every possible advantage to barely spurt by genial John's giants in the second intra-city tilt of the year.

Free as the breeze, and a darned sight colder, was the reception Westwood's hepped up hardboarders gave Dave Barry's charges in the third handicap of the series. Tied with three seconds to go, Anglin' Alba bucketed a free throw to cinch a local victory.

Smack into the silver rim goes a spinner from the versatile hands of George Stanich. In a "courtesy" game which was supposed to see a fierce Trojan comeback, Westwood supremacy encountered little trouble in dumping the cardinals back into Tommy Trojan's lap.

Number three of the triumvirate is no sooner under way (extreme left) than rompin' Ron Pearson tries to see who can bounce farther . . . he or the cantaloupe. A thriller from beginning, last game of the series found both teams flashing ivory in hopes of capping the PCC championship.

A two man chorus line, composed of a Beaver and UCLA's Eddie Sheldrake, leaves stater number 33 and Bruin Ray Alba aghast at the tricky Dugan and Steen routine they are witnessing. Oregon took the curtain call with a last act performance that was the most tense contest of the season.

Ed Powell, wry young frosh mentor, followed John Wooden from Indiana State to become the head man of UCLA's yearling hardwooders. Quick on witty comebacks, genial Big Ed was an all-state prep cager at South Bend high under Johnny Wooden way back when. Arriving at Westwood, he promptly surprised sportsdom as much as his boss had by unveiling the best frosh squad in Bruin history and smashing most frosh records of the past with his nearly undefeated team.

In his dual role, Art is steadily bringing Westwood hardball up the victory route.

MARIO NITRINI, spark plug of last season's frosh nine, was a flash at short stop during the spring.

BILL JONES is counted on for heavy duty in '50 after his showing on the chucker's mound.

KEN PROCTER made it four diamond years in a row under Bruin colors as he played second base in '49.

"Hey fellas, lookit me!" calls Pete Moody as he holds the ball he has caught up for the whole world to see. Who can blame Pete for being carried away . . . so was the score, in our favor . . . UCLA 10, San Francisco 3.

Boundin' Bob Andrews was given the palm of Mike Gazella after one of the most beautiful homers of the season. Chewing on Arizona's leg, the Bruins won all three of the series, without even a slight case of indigestion.

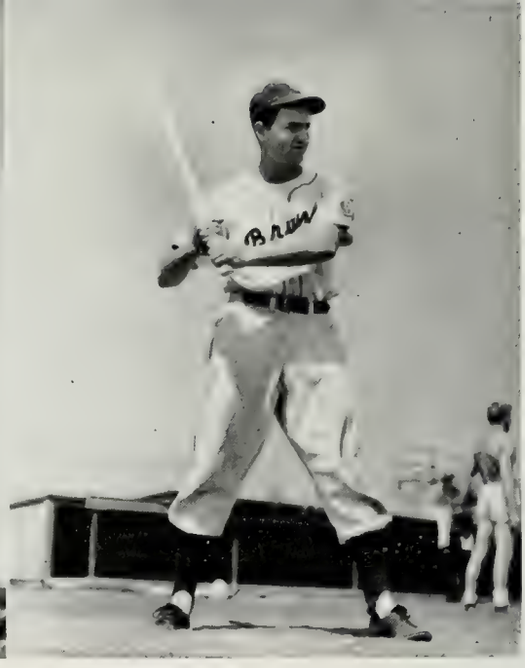

SKIP ROWLAND, erstwhile pigskinner, was a true star at third with an amazing .400 average.

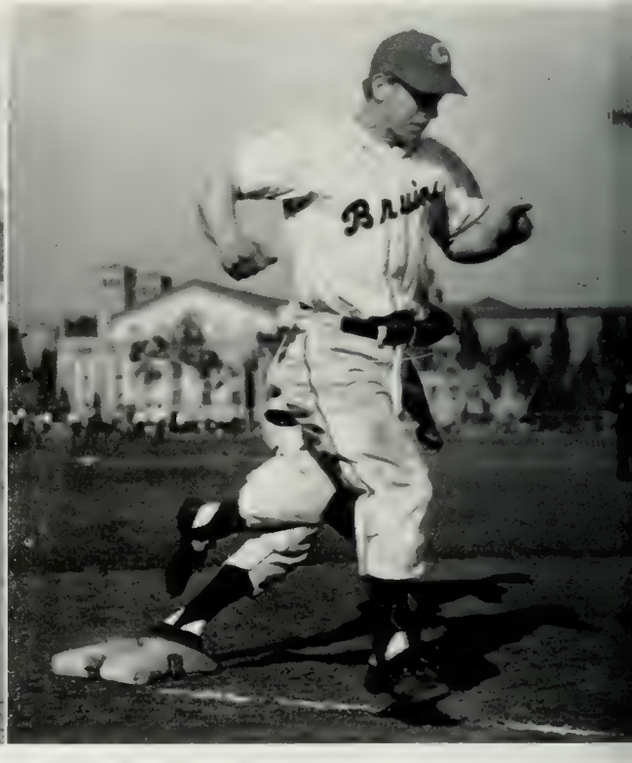

GEORGE STANICH, ace Bruin hurler, took three games of league play by his mound capers.

PHIL STEINBERG was one of the classiest, most consistent third basemen in Bruin history.

A funny place for push-ups, but the Skipper (Gene Rowland) isn't particular as long as he nibbles the mound before the Cal man taps it. In a sizzling two hours, UCLA's hardies tried their best to make the afternoon un-bear-able, but a light-hearted, light-headed Cal crew "put the shows on, Lucy."

Tic-tac-toeing number one-two-three, and around whipped Skip for another homer in the fourteenth game of the season. Pounding the cinders like old man river, Skip and the rest of Westwood's mitters put on a royal display for the Alma Mater to pocket the victory.

A happy contest of leap frog started flying Bob Andrews (on his air power), skidding Bill Hicks (on his face), and skimming Ken Procter (on his) as they all make a dive for a bottle of pop donated to the umpire. We won.

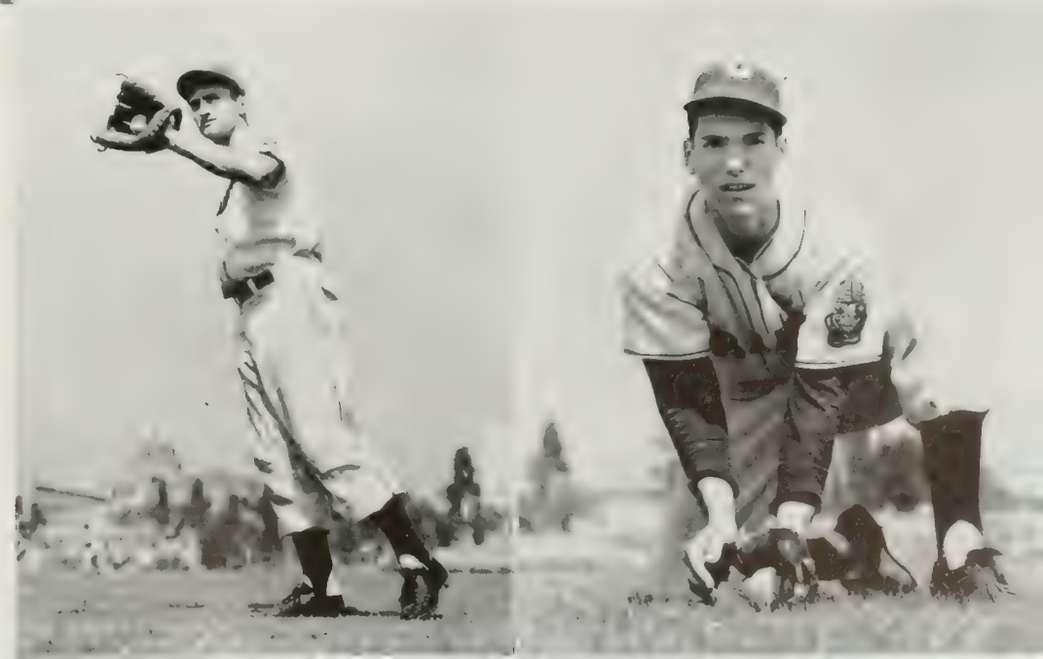

"Presto-chango!" cried the San Francisco man as he attempted to make Bill Hicks disappear, but not-to-be-disappeared-Hicks ignores the passes and slams the brakes on the northerner's lead in a perfect double out. Such shenanigans kept the visitors on the slivers all afternoon.

PAUL TREAT, out of baseball for some time because of injuries, batted back into fine form.

MARTY WEINBERGER, switched from third into the daisy field and did an amazing job.

Watta season! . . . watta year! . . . watta team! . . . we got plenty of everything. Just lookit the scoresheet. Seven wins out of nine starts. Razzle-dazzle playing by every man on the team and the biggest turnout in cricket history. Maybe Coach Drury did it . . . maybe we've just got it. But whatever it is, it should happen again next year. And from the looks of Captain Huttenback's sizzling arm, Assistant Captain Kanoo's tapping, and the rest of the team's enthusiasm, it probably will. What are we waiting for . . . go find a paddle and let's get started.

Atta boy, Jeff! Crack the line after a whippet 440 and give with the cheese. In the big meet with SC, even Mel Patton couldn't steal the ivory from several Bruin flurries of triumph, like the victory of the Bruin's Lawson. Regardless of the SC victory, it was a big afternoon with plenty of victories and smashed records for both sides.

Here's a puzzle for you! Is Cy Young tossing the javelin or has it just come from the other end of the field? Well sir, you're wrong. That isn't a javelin, even though Cy is one of the best throwers on the coast. It's a toothpick that slipped on the photo when we printed it. OK, OK, stop cussing and turn the page.

Ain't that just "Ducky" Drake. The varsity mentor of the cindermen saw his Bruin squad topple four school track records even though the three traditionally big meets were losses on the ledger. Against luck and odds, Ducky managed to whip together a fine coalition of speedsters whose future looks particularly bright.

Craig Dixon, the greatest hurdler in present day collegiate circles, doubled as captain of the varsity squad.

Senior manager of the flying whippets was Art Gudo, genial "johnny on the spot" and supply keeper for the spikesters.

ELLZY CLARK, after three years of Westwood leaping, showed championship form.

CRAIG DIXON, greatest hurdler in West coast history, won every competition he entered this year.

NICK GIOVINAZZO spotted record performances in the sprints and broad jump.

BILL HALOPOFF entered his second varsity year and whished over the hurdles in record time.

JIM HARVEY, veteran of the javelin corps, aimed at further tosses for his senior year.

Two stories up, UCLA's top pole vaulter skimmed over the bamboo during the Stanford meet. The trip up wasn't so tough, Mr. Vujovich, but where's your parachute for the return?

"Oh migawsh, where'd it go?" blubbered Taylor Lewis after letting the discus sail into the competitive field. Massive Taylor set a new school record for sphere tossing of 170 ft. 5⅛ in.

"Darn that guy" gurgled Al Kapp as the Stanford man started to sneeze all over him. But our Al, not waiting for gentlemanly Gezundheits, ripped the tape to pull a victory in the 440.

BOB HIGHT, previously zipping through the sprints, switched to a speedy record in the 440.

AL KAPP, ending his college career in the quarter mile, has galloped over four great varsity years.

After a mile of pounding the cinders, you'd think Royal Balch and Tom Brown would make off for the showers. But those two lads have spotted a blonde in the stands (the gal in green) and are making for her, instead. Watch the birdie, men!

Now hold on there, Mel . . . this is UCLA's show, and just because you happen to be the "world's fastest human" is no excuse to be making monkeys out of us. Now run on outta the picture and break the tape in 9:5 like a nice kid, huh?

SID KRUPKNICK, high school basketball star, participated actively in javelin and high jump.

"Oh my aching feet," cried Royal Balch as he broke the tape at the end of a two mile jaunt. The pained expression was caused by some joker who replaced the usual white string with a ½" steel cable . . . the dirty dog.

Down the home stretch and out in front . . . Craig Dixon, UCLA's fabulous hurdler, didn't give his opponents a chance to get a good look at him . . . all they ever saw were a pair of heels and a lot of dirt . . . better luck next year, boys.

JOHN MILLER, versatile 880 man, showed much promise for his remaining two years from his performances.

JEFF LAWSON, the best quarter mile prospect in many years, got in his first varsity turn.

TAYLOR LEWIS, defending PCC discus champ, set himself up a sizzling season.

ERNIE LIGHTNER, speedy whippet in the century and dashes, led on the home stretch many times.

Just lift a leg and over you go . . . if your name happens to be George Stanich and if you happen to be the most versatile athlete at UCLA. If not, you'd better think twice before aiming at the six and a half feet George is conquering, podner.

HUGH MITCHELL, converted quarter miler, slipped into the 880 for his first varsity season.

JOHN OWEN, youthful miler, made a falshy showing this year and secured himself a brilliant future.

HUGH WILSON, brilliant prospect in the hurdles, spent time on form during his first varsity year.

BOB WORK, top hundred man and new cinder sensation, followed in his father's footsteps.

CY YOUNG, coming into javelin prominence, was heralded as one of the most widely sought JC trackmen.

JEAN REEP, fine Bruin reserve sprinter, garnered the tag of three year varsity winner.

JOHNNY PATTEE, one of UCLA's greatest distance runners, ended his four years as an A 1 track star.

GEORGE STANICH, who needs no introduction to sports fans, was UCLA's all-around athlete.

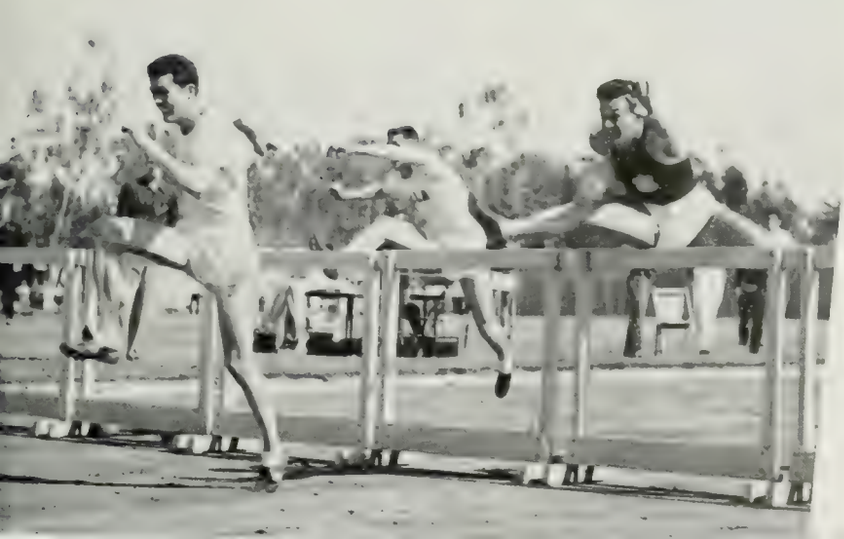

ROY VUJOVICH, UCLA's number one pole vaulter, alternated as a top flight football end.

Whipping through the Stanford relays, UCLA's Hugh Mitchell passed the slip stick to Jack Miller and lets fate take its course because Stanford made the pass at the same instant. With needed practice, the Bruin crew improved greatly by season's end.

Olympic competitor, hurdles champ, speedster, form master and versatile are monikers tagged on Craig Dixon, the most sensational hurdler in Bruin history. What a life that must be, with your only worry being that you're kicking dirt in the other fellows' eyes. Go get 'em, boy!

Don "Juan" Hangen skims over the line in an 880 victory. Though the frosh season was not successful, nine of the yearling stalwarts may prove to be potent material under Ducky Drake's varsity direction.

A trio of roustabouts who made up the fingers in frosh track's pie are coach Pat Turner, Dick "Whaddaya" Shea, captain, and Jack "We ended the season in the" Sellers, manager.

Making a stab at Pacific Coast honors, Pat Turner's lineup for the '48 season was little changed from the previous year. Continuing in the number one spot was Johnny Pattee, ace colt-legger of the Bruin cinder path who scooped himself several times during the season, particularly at the Aztec invitational where he broke the meet, course, and school records to hand UCLA its third straight victory in as many years. Number two man was Royal Balch, bespectacled speedster, whose greased lightning sizzled on the cross-country networks. Close in the running were George Selig, who ran the best race of his career, John Owens, and Al Minjares; a rounded trio which may easily fan into victory during future seasons.

Look, men, we've gotta have an understanding. Just because you're about tops in the college tennis field was no reason for those flashing molars every time you got together. There on the left, Coach Bill Ackerman, what're you grinning about? And the guy standing in the middle, Gene Garrett . . . you'd thing being captain of the varsity squad was worth its weight in popsicle wrappers the way you're chershiring. And Assistant Coach JD Morgan on the right, you look as if you were pretty happy with the season, too. Well, who wouldn't be?

GENE GARRET gave some top performances including wins over SC's Bobby Perez and top man Vic Seixas.

AL GODSHALL, up from the freshman squad, added reserve strength to the '49 varsity.

JIM JENKINS, after an absence, returned to the tennis wars this year at the No. 8 spot.

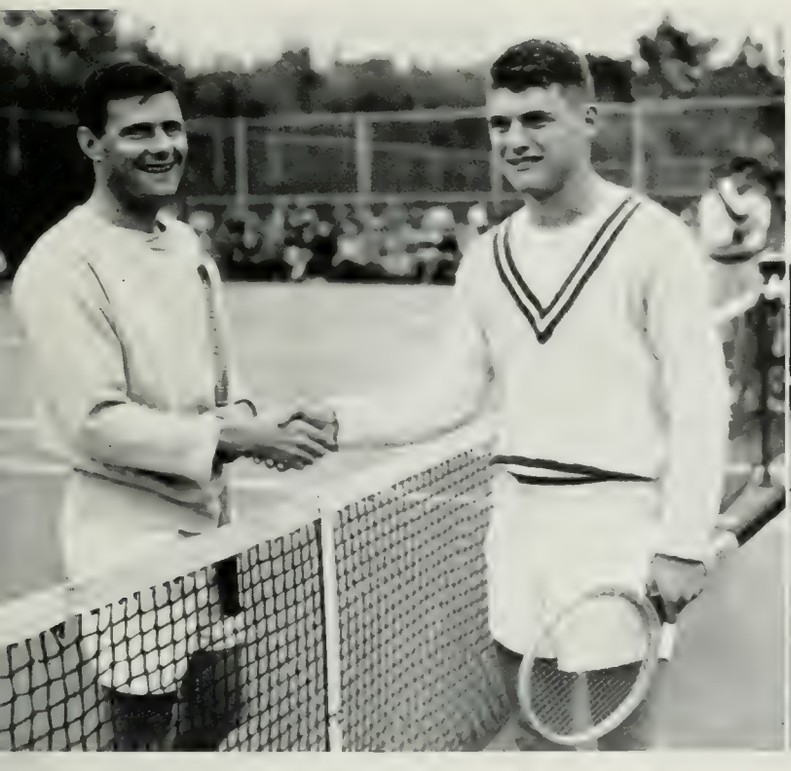

GLENN BASSETT, with still another year, ripped up the courts in his great defense.

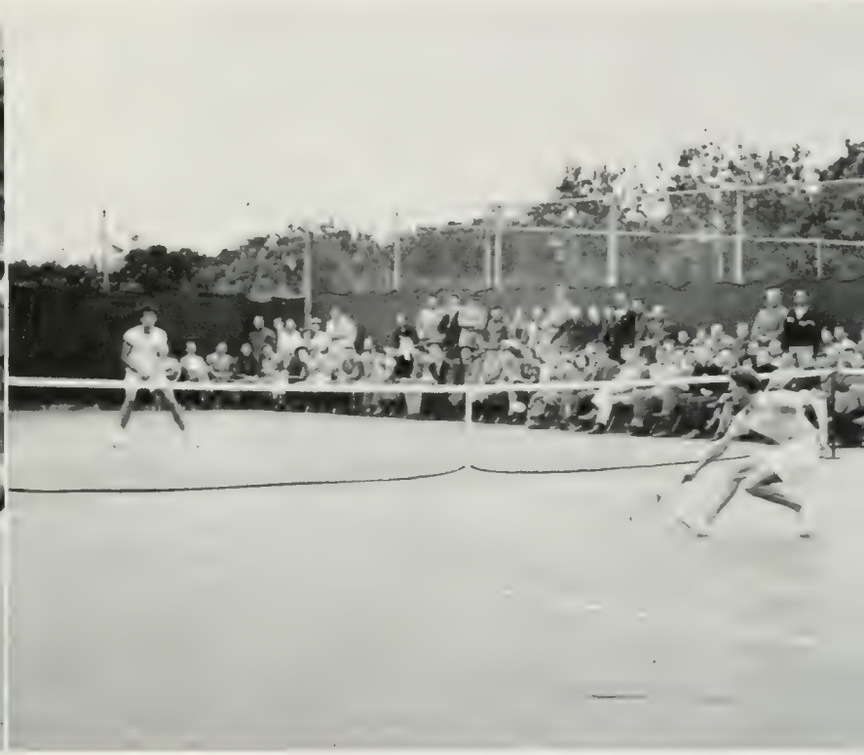

JOHN DUDLEY, "Mister Little" in stature, was a definite "Mister Big" in ability.

"Cheese" Schroeder, the number 2 tennis amateur in the United States, slips the grip to our own Herbie Flam in a concerted effort to crack a couple of knuckles. Herb and Ted slugged it out over the net like vicious enemies, but now that the game's over, sportsmanship makes them the best of friends. Who won? Who cares, when it's just between friends?

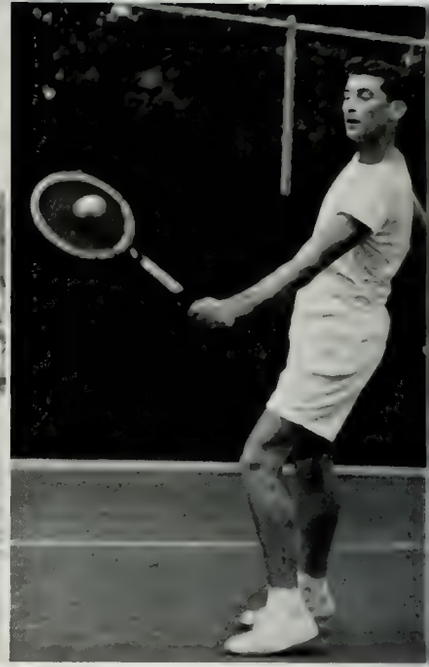

Playing a step up in class. Gene Garrett was matched with 1948 Wimbledon champ, Bob Falkenberg, when the Perry Jones All-Stars tangled with the Bruins on the Westwood courts. The All-Star match was but one titanic meet which treated fans to some of the best tennis matches in the country.

JACK SHOEMAKER, sophomore transfer, scored the vital win in a title-deciding SC match.

JOHN TELLEFSON, returning from the 1947 team, was one of the squad's toughest competitors.

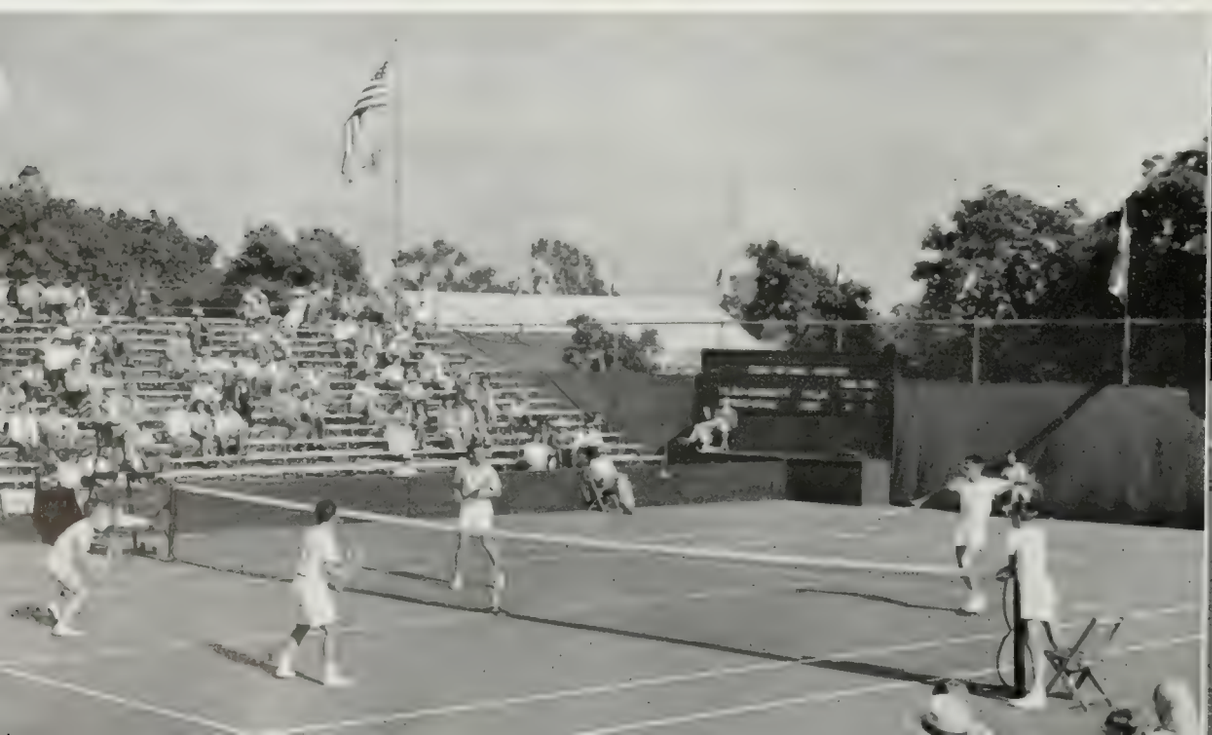

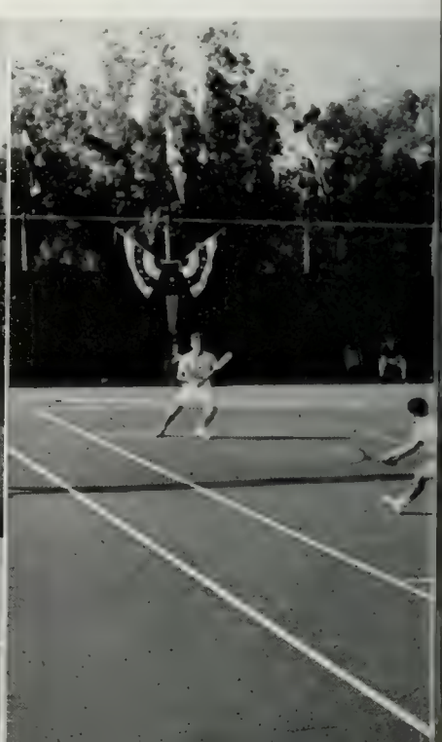

ROBIN WILLNER, lanky southpaw, featured a powerful service and volley in his attacking game.

Wham 'em home, Gene! . . . show the fans the form that's made UCLA's varsity team one of the best in the country. And while you're at it, doff your hat to smiling Bill Ackerman, himself a tennis enthusiast in college, and now coach of the best Bruin team in years.

Westwood's top two, Herbie and Gene, in a scintiillater with Saul and Perez . . . the Bruins shaped themselves into national prominence during the season, matching collegiate teams from San Francisco and USC in potency and ability. Luck alone, the one unpredictable ingredient.

Action in the 1948 NCAA championships at Westwood shows William and Mary's top-seeders teamed against Notre Dame's big-boys. W. & M. took the cup.

PAUL WATERHOUSE, best when luck seemed down, is a solid regular of the hard courts.

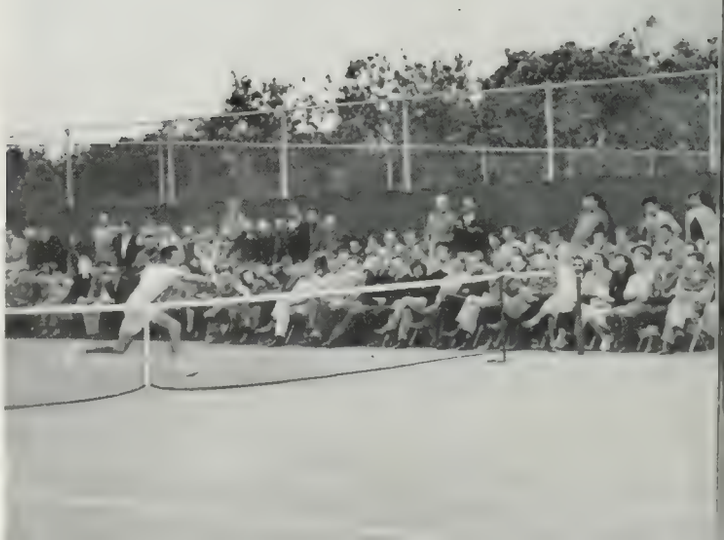

FRANK WILKINSON, ending his successful varsity career, is famous for his hard service.

Robin Wilner serves a nest egg in his first conference match of the season, starting the Bruin galavanting for real honors. Overhand, underhand, between the legs, it didn't make any difference to Westwood's sharpies as they sliced out win after win on the local courts.

Falkenberg and Garrett took to the asphalt in Perry Jone's All-Star Match on the local courts. Sizzling routines kept the spectators' heads bouncing from left to right, but not the score. Our man friday slipped a couple of fast ones through the net to demasticate (defeat, son, defeat) the roving challenger.

Double trouble across the silver line as Flam and Garrett take on Bobby Perez and Arnold Saul during a red hot clam bake with SC. Herbie stood by nonchalantly as Gene whamed the peach to the tied-up Figueroans. What a life, eh boy? What a life?

Frosh captain Keith Self whamed many returns in conference matches. The youngsters cleaned up most of the season, losing only to the SC frosh by diminuitive hargins.

On the mark and watch the shark! . . . Into the drink went Bob Rifkind, Don Smith, Jack Nelson and Sam Allenberg, the 400 yard free style relay team, in an attempt to pass the century mark. The fairly successful season starred such men as these in the hundred, dashes and relays.

Watch the belly flop and the records drop . . . especially when John Chandler headed in toward a sprightly 440. Jumpin' John, Gil Tuffley and Jack Nelson spurted the Westwood crew to success in their individual events during the fin-ish contests.

The University championship was the goal for organization's teams in intramural action.

A real live version of "Casey at the Bat," with mighty Casey slicing nothing but air for the third strike. Intramural baseball competition found the Alpha Sigs and Pi-Lams (above) doing their best to squeeze the inter-fraternity trophy from the Delta Sigs and Fijis, and to edge out the Y-Frosh and Ag Club in general competition.

Dollar, dollar, who's got the dollar? Well, it's certain the third baseman doesn't, unless that's a wart on his left heel. The Pi-Lam speedster rounding in for the home showers didn't seem to mind the competition as he helped his squad garner the baseball championship in a colorful joust with the red-hot Y-Frosh.

"We'll nevah sheltah a Delta Tau Delta" cried the Phi Psis as they meet the runner-up in basketball competition. Sporting handsome records in their leagues, both teams struggled to grab top hardwood honors from the Delta Sig and Phi Delt squads, the two other league winners.

Around the rosie goes Bennie Reiges, top man on the totem pole of the independent Celt team, in the final hustle with the Delts. The independents pulled a sharp upset, making the most of every opportunity and completely overplaying the fouling Delt lads to cop the all-University hardwood cup.

"Aw, come on Homer, I'm tossing it to ya!" . . . but Homer seems more interested in something else, and the excited quarterback is ground into the dust by an anxious adversary. The independent Shmooes crispened the atmosphere as scores began to be stacked up in a sizzling contest with the Phi Delts.

Heigh-ho silver, away! And in gallops the Lone Ranger as Tonto throws himself in front of a wandering minstrel. Battling for league honors, the gushing Zete eleven held fast company with Theta Xi and Delta Sig in the play-off games of the series.

What a sneaky play that was, with Fijis kicking and tossing and running all over the place. Only you and the two thousand spectators know that the hot shot in the middle of the picture is greasing up the ball for a run around right end and a Fiji victory over NBC for the football cup.

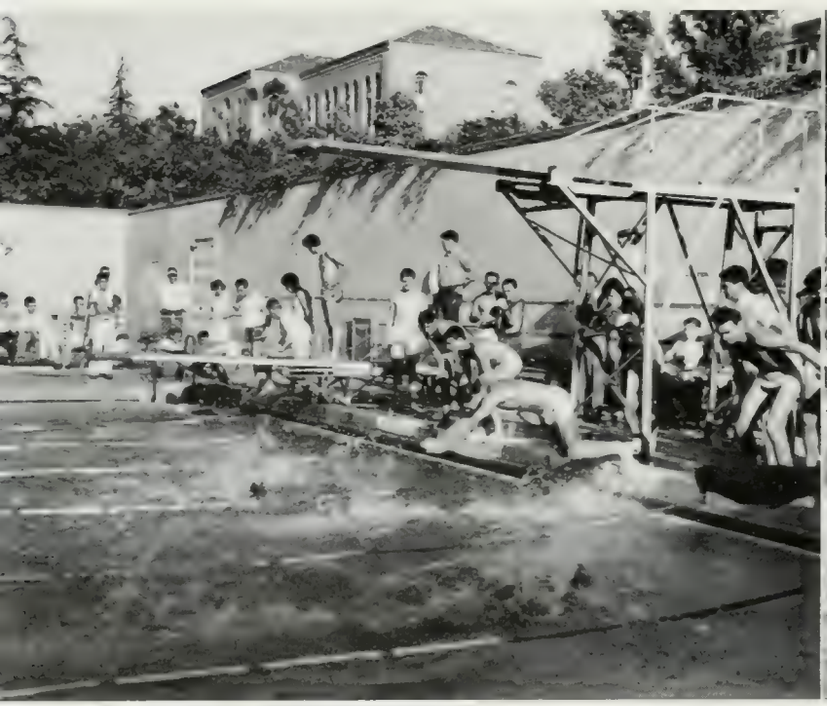

Over the net in the volleyball fiascoes, with the man on the left taking a deep breath, the second man dancing a jig, and the two ballet experts on the right tossling with the ball. Heading into the finals, the Phi Psis, Betas, Delta Sigs, Phi Delts and Delts took a chance at top honors.

No, no! Not over here, please! I've got a weak liver! Regardless, a sharp return gained a point from the Betas and slipped the intramural volleyball award into the laps of the plush Phi Psis. I'm telling you, Herbert, they never had it so good.

Swimming finals . . . and into the soup went a bunch of hard working relay masters. Led by Parks Fritos, an independent league, the relays included squads of Phi Delts, Delta Sigs, Betas, ATO's and Kappa Sigs.

On the marrrrrk! Gettttt set! And pop goes the weasel as the free-stylers take off in a swish of bubbles. Parks Fritos was far and away the swimming meet's all-University champion, with Phi Delt, Kappa Sig and ATO placing in that order. Oh, I wanna go down to the sea again.

1000 leagues beneath

Spindle legs and wind reserves carried the intramural track men over the high hurdles in one of the meet's most thrilling events. The track and field competition was won by The Fiji's, with Delta Sig second, NBC third and Sig Pi fourth. It was a great fight mom, but they won!

Into the wood shavings drops Jim Peyton, Sig Pi's winning broad jumper. Typical of the afternoon's near-varsity records, the broad and high jump (won by Delta Sig Carl Kraushaar) proved that all the difference in a victor and a neophyte is training and practice.

The fastest little man in intramurals, Bob Watanabe, cracked the tape in 9.7s for NBC during the century run. Closely followed by the Fiji entry, NBC held the lead for a time during the afternoon, mainly because of versatile "Bobby."

Tap gloves, pal, and come out fighting! Maybe the record wasn't sensational, but it was good enough to prove that Bruin boxing is on the way up. Having won three matches, lost two and tied one during 1949, the sluggers are gradually getting into the groove for big-time competition. By season's end, UCLA had placed fifth in the PCC tourney, a comfortable spot in any man's ledger. Success was largely due to Floyd Wilson, a 145-pound junior welterweight, and Pete Babin, 135-pound lightweight, each having lost only one bout during the entire season. With the material now on hand, including Hendricks, Weiseneck, Edwards, Ogi and O'Brien, Coach O'Gara should be able to cultivate a winning squad.

Two individual touches in two separate matches were all that stood between an undefeated season and the two losses suffered by the 1949 Bruin Fencing team. In what was probably the best Bruin squad in ten years, bad luck meant all the difference in the two contestable matches that stand out in agonizing brilliance to Westwood's slide masters. Combined with this, the fact that fencing has been relegated to a local basis because of funds dampened the potential of Westwood's ability to be a national winner in the sport, but not the enthusiasm of the players. Led by Captain Bruce Bailey, the fencers slashed down Santa Barbara twice before being hog-tied by USC in the two decisive matches of the season. But hopes for the future, plus the continuous increase in the players roster, have reached a new high, and the obstacles to be overcome to put fencing back on its collective feet may disappear before the beginning of the 1950 contests.

Vic Kelley, erstwhile head of UCLA's Athletic News Bureau, spends part of his waking hours on the green attempting to explain the science of a hole-in-one.

Putter-playboy Dick Runkle, captain of the Westwood country-clubbers, takes a dig in the dust in search of gold.

Westwood's golfing regalia, at top strength for the first time since the war began, sliced itself a healthy chunk of victories for the '49 season to almost parallel the record of the year before. Smoothed up by Coach Vic Kelley, the golfers considered their performance for the year moderately successful, with improvement showing through at every seam. Such men as first-contender Dick Runkle and second-spotter Jerry O'Neal found strong competition in the more youthful Bruin members . . . experience wise .. . as the games began to unroll on courses all the way from Podunk to Berkeley. By seasons end, it was apparent that experience was the main thing necessary to push Westwood's contenders from their solidly achieved second position into the more reputable slot at first.

On their feet, unstead of their hands, for a change, are the big-boys of the gym team, Manager Rockoff, Co-captains John Brown and Don Muir, and Coach Bill Corwin.

The easy way to solve the hammock problem; Ted "Sports" Nissen floating at the bottom while giving Bob Commander a towel massage, and making the top man on the totem pole wish he'd taken up swimming instead.

Cracking every record in the book, UCLA's 1949 combo of gymnasts won the PCC crown for Westwood for the third time in as many years, a feat not equalled by any other team on the coast in the history of strong-arm competition. It wasn't easy for the Bruins, not by a long shot. Inadequate practice time, space and materials joined forces with a rugged schedule to make the going tough. But with excellent coaching by newcomer Bill Corwin, the Bruins outdistanced their conference confederates to walk off with their third succesive title. Welcome to the fold, musclemen!

Shooting for a star, Westwood's ammo-boys aimed at the target in one of the best seasons Bruin Rifle has experienced since the war. Perennial dead-eyes like Baker, Johannsen and Pierce looped the locals into prize-winning positions all year. Scrapping old-time methods, the Westwood wonders scooped up a hot ninth place in the nationwide William Randolph Hearst tournament, edging such sturdies as Tulane, Ohio State and a field of 1,100 other competing teams. On local ground, the squad placed second in the Sixth Army area and a sharp sixth in the National Intercollegiate meet.

Aw shucks, taint nothin' too it! All ya gotta do is start off down the hill and keep on your feet . . . Don Ekins, Ernst Pettersen, Rolf Oeding, Don Wright and Gordon Wright got the know-how.

Fastest way to major in a minor sport . . . take up skiing. "Take it down," maybe would be a better way of putting it, but the "fastest" sport off wheels is a quick way to find out just how sturdy your bones actually are. If you happen to belong to UCLA's ski team you'll be sure to be travelling in speedy company. During the past season, one of the best on record, the Bruin crew copped the Vandergrift trophy, won by the best team from four meets, the Mullin trophy, given to the team winning the Southern California Intercollegiate Ski championship at Snow Valley and placed third at the Yosemite meet. Down the hill men . . . bombs away!

Old "numb bones," Coach Wolfgang Lert, (center) watched many a pretty spill with manager Dick Porter and Captain Don Wright . . . lookit the skis snap all over the place!

Gordon "Ineverdonothin" Wright zoomed down a simple slope during a speedy slalom. There're stumps ahead, Gordon, better keep your eyes on the road.

Let's wipe those mean looks off our faces, boys . . . save them for the ring. Manager Louie (left) Co-captains, Lovell and Higa, and Coach Hunt lead the mat-men through the season.

Take some good advice and keep away from these boys . . . this was the best wrestling team UCLA has produced in more years than you can count on Man Mountain Dean's toes. Winning all six of their starting contests, the matmen dropped a scorcher in the Far West tournament, then rebounded to double arm lock USC and place a tidy second in the PCC tournament. All this, you understand, with an underrated crew and nothing but a toehold between them and defeat. What a sport to be in . . . you spend most of the time on your back!

COMBINING EFFORTS, Panhellenic and Interfraternity presented an all-campus dance at the Palladium in April and swelled the Scholarship and Dean's fund with the proceeds. Their newly formed News Bureau of Public Information and the Student-Faculty teas were more examples of the two councils close unity.

EQUALIZED living regulations arose from the AWS-Dean's rules, and consideration of housing accommodations for foreign students got under way. To the outstanding non-Panhellenic woman, Pat Brehmer, was awarded a $200 scholarship and a like sum was also contributed to a fund established for the aid of students in financial need. Sigma Delta Tau and Alpha Sigma Alpha became regular and associate members of Panhellenic and Alpha Kappa Alpha was welcomed to petition status.

GOVERNING AND GUIDING Panhellenic council were President Nancy Baker, Vice-president Pat McKenna, Treasurer Charlene Friese, and Secretary Jan Samuelson. Keeping an eye on the group was Carita Conner, member of the Dean of Students office. Under their leadership the first UCLA Panhel convention was held for all major chapter officers and four workshops gave further opportunity for members to discuss problems of rushing, social considerations, scholarship and finances.

The busiest street in Westwood, especially at two a. m. on weekends, Hilgard was the center of sorority social whirl.

FAME CAME WALKING in the door of the Alpha Chi Omega house at "Stanford game" time when Jackie Wagoner was chosen Homecoming queen. Football being the keynote of the fall season, the Alpha Chis and Phi Delts got together for an open house before the Oregon tussle. Snow in California may be unusual but the annual Snowball formal at the Bel Air Bay club with UCLA and USC chapters of Alpha Chi and Sigma Chi participating was its usual success.

TAPPING TOPPED the list of activities when the Spurs asked for Sharla Perrine, Margaret Kester and Barbara Lynn. Kathy Shumann unlocked the door of Key and Scroll, while Barbara Simpson held the gavel for Mortar Board. Sharing honors were Barbara Lynn and Pat O'Connor as sophomore secretary and junior vice-president.

AT THE HELM during the fall term was Pat Corkhille and in the spring session it was Barbara Simpson who was called "the chief." The cabinets under these leaders kept Alpha Chi Omega at the top socially and academically.

No textbooks, no bridge game, no men . . . it would seem that Eleanor, Sharla, and Barbara are just getting away from it all.

TREKKING UP AND DOWN winding steps were Alpha Delta Pis and their dates who were headed for a variety of week-end affairs. Talked about by members of both rows for many weeks were the spectacular Fall Tea dance and the Christmas party as well as the ever famous Diamond ball. Also filling up the pages of the girls' date books were the initiation dinners, exchanges and beach parties.

MAKING NEWS on campus were the activity minded members such as Spurs Pat Pritchard, Ruth Ann Krebs and Pat Ballinger. Lyn Harris Hicks claimed membership in Key and Scroll, Pi Delta Epsilon and was an editorial assistant on Southern Campus. Alice Ellis spent much of her spare time on the Red Cross Executive board and Barbara Gale was an NSA secretary. Prize girl of the house was Phi Beta Kappa Kay Toews who kept the ADPi grade average high all year.

DIRECTING POWERS for ADPi were the two presidents Vera Comisky and Micky Walker. Social chairman for the fall term was Jeanne Bird and taking over in the spring was June Warner, fresh from her reign as Homecoming attendant.

FOUNDED IN 1908, Alpha Kappa Alpha was first on campus at Howard University, Washington, D. C. Alpha Kappa Alpha chose as its purpose the encouragement of high scholastic and ethical standards and the improvement of the social status of the race.

DURING THE PAST YEAR, Alpha Gamma chapter has undertaken and completed many worthwhile projects. The most noteworthy of these was the presentation, with the Los Angeles chapters, of contralto Carol Brice in a recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium. The chapter also donated books, by and about Negroes, to the Vernon branch library, which has the largest collection of this type in the city.

NO ROOF O'ER THEIR HEADS didn't deter the houseless Alpha Delta Chis as they climbed to greater heights on the ladder of success.

NO CEILING ON GOOD TIMES for ADChis as they reeled off dinners, exchanges, taffy pulls, skating parties, a Chinatown excursion, a mother and daughter party and a Christmas banquet. An alumnae sponsored bazaar was filled to the rafters with fund-raising success.

THE TOP OF THE ROOST after 23 years of existence for ADChi, commemorated with the Founder's day banquet at the Chateau Elysee. That weekend at Wrightwood for past, present and future actives, will long be remembered in the annals of Alpha Delta Chi. Although houseless themselves, the women of ADChi spent much time and money trying to find homes and comfort for others less fortunate, through missionary and charity work.

Activities take planning and Alpha Delta Chi picked the best when election time came around. A long list of successful events attested to the ability of their officers.

"Louie, drop that gun . . . blub . . . blub . . . " The Alpha Gam roof makes a fine battle ground for a water pistol fight . . . if you don't fall off.

MARDI GRAS SPIRIT began at the Alpha Gamma Delta's New Orleans style costume party. At Christmas time the Alpha Gams celebrated with their alums at the chapter house and more fun-times were the annual round of exchanges, serenades and house parties. It appears that the Alpha Gams were trying to jam Father Time into a 25 hour social day.

IN THE BIG TIME for Alpha Gamma Delta were President Grace Tisdale and Trollish Cal Clubber Nancy Stephens. Nancy Haney punched the time clock as Co-ed auxiliary chairman for homecoming.

SPORTING THE sweater and emblem of Spurs was hard working Pat Cavett, and Key and Scroll member Pat McKenna served as Panhellenic vice president. Peggy MacDonald spent her time chairmanning the AWS orientation.

If ivy really keynotes tradition the Alpha Gams are getting a head start on the rest of sorority row and even on their alma mater.

ALL CAMPUS CAME, as once again UCLA's Alpha Omicron Pi house became a "mecca" of social activity. Members joined with the Theta Xi's in presenting an all-campus open house following the night football game with Oregon, and in April tapered off the season with the traditional Candlelight ball.

SPOTLIGHT ON KERCKHOFF found that the AOPi pin was a most frequent visitor in those hallowed halls. The Spurs' roster included Carol Dalzell, Edie Jensen and Lois Ferman who was also AWS Model Josie chairman.

ON THE BEAM were Lolly Anderson, Key and Scroller, and Joan Creagh and Kristy Koestner with the silver spoons of Trolls. Gay Hayward was president of the All-Southern California Colleges Symphony Forum. Trudy Hagen served as president of Secretariat and Pat Olsen supervised the URA Recs. AOPi's also placed five girls on Rally committee and sixteen on class councils.

Two big olive trees and a bronze door knocker, which was always being stolen by fraternity pledges, identified the Alpha Phi house for all UCLA Greeks.

IF BRUINS WERE SEEN dressed in bleached bloomers or carrying a weeping violin they were headed for the Alpha Phi Suppressed Desires dance at the Westside Tennis club. Following in quick succession were the Theta Delt-Alpha Phi pledge frolic, the spring Phi Psi party and the Sigma Nu beer bust. When not partying, serenades were the order of business on Mondays with Kappa Sigs leading the race with three pinnings.

ACTIVITY WISE, the girls captured five places on Spurs, including the national presidency which Dorothy Wright added to her list of achievements. Gloria Hyde was decorations chairman for the Tropicana and aided in organizing the Spring sing. The Pope twins, besides looking cute, both worked in Campus theater and Janie was secretary of the Frosh class.

ALPHA PHIESTA was a great success as the girls sold tables for bridge to alumnae and friends of the house with all funds supporting their philanthropy. Directed by Millie Mauldin Alpha Phis won a second place in the annual Spring sing.

Spending Saturday afternoon at the scene of the night's big affair were these Alpha Phis who found details of planning a dance made them almost too tired to enjoy the evening's fun.

From the smiles on everyone's face, the Alpha Xi Winter informal was a booming success, as were all their affairs.

CELEBRATING THEIR TWENTY-FIFTH anniversary on campus, Alpha Xis gathered from all parts of the "country" for the Anniversary ball in the Blossom room of the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel. Alumnae, old and new, had a chance to renew friendships and find out the latest about Madge of '45 and Jane of '42. The anniversary year was further enhanced by the once more successful Parisian Nights house party, an informal that is fast becoming a traditional favorite.

PAN HEL found itself an able president in Nancy Baker, who had previously been elected president of the house. Vice president Rosemary Henderson who also found time for the OCB chairmanship and Mortar Board, replaced Nancy for the remainder of the semester. Barbara Rechs took over the house gavel in the spring semester. Other girls busy on campus were Nancy Holmes, Southern Campus associate editor; Jan McIntosh, Scop office manager; Bette Schmitz, ASUCLA News Bureau; and Vivien Webb, Mary Jo Sisler and Edna Reddington all of Spur fame.

IN THE HI JINKS show the Alpha Xis came through again by winning the sweepstakes award which makes it two wins in a row. In the Homecoming parade their entry caused excitement particularly when Nancy Holmes accidentally stalled the float in front of the judges stand, and did her best to win by hook or crook.

NEWEST ADDITION TO THE FAMILY of Panhellenic is Alpha Sigma Alpha. The girls are rapidly making a name for themselves by their campus activities. Highlights of the year were the Founders' day dinner and Christmas party, which were joint alumnae affairs, and the Alpha Sigma Alpha Valentine Sweetheart dance.

SPARE MOMENTS were spent in philanthropic work which included making dolls for the Children's Hospital, doing Red Cross work and sending a monthly Care package to a family in Finland. Margaret Echols was chairman of the AWS House Rules committee. Elaine Mirsky co-chairman of Freshman guidance, and Bonnie Reed were members of Senior council.

REPRESENTING the chapter at the recent Alpha Sigma Alpha regional convention in Denver was Lucia Colavin, president, and Theda Case, secretary. The girls have been conscientious in following their motto "aspire, seek, and attain."

Achievement of Alpha Sigma Alpha from September until June may be credited largely to these five girls who directed their new Bruin sorority in its first year on campus.

SPARKLING AFTER A WONDERFUL weekend at Lake Arrowhead, the Chi Alpha Deltas were in top condition to come back to a campus life packed full of activities and fun. First on the list came the pledge presentation at the Nikabob restaurant. Then, amidst a series of hayrides, barbecues, snow outings, theatre parties and dances, was the outstanding Christmas ball at the Royal Palms hotel. In a gay mood, the Chi Alpha Deltas celebrated the Spring initiation of thirteen members at a formal dance.

EVER ANXIOUS TO HELP those in need, Chi Alpha Delta contributed to Campus Chest and took an active part in the AWS Doll contest for the Christmas Philanthropy. They also extended a helping hand across the sea when they collected baby clothes and toys for the Elizabeth Saunders home in Japan.

THE KEYNOTE of a bridge tea, sponsored jointly with the alumnae, was scholarship. Leaders in many of the house and campus activities were Noriko Chiwake, member of Ephebians, and Kazie Kawakanie, holder of the Chi Alpha Delta scholarship cup.

Adding their smiles to the Bruin scene the girls of Chi Alpha Delta kept themselves so busy they decided college life would be perfect if there were no classes.

Oh, Bob . . . Chi Omegas always at their best during party time, present another one to keep their style from going rusty.

Always on key whether singing from their balcony at serenades or performing for campus organizations were the ever-famous girls with the horse-shoe pins.

NO BRIBE FOR THE SHERIFF, but the carnival "Chi Omega-Theta Delt" was in town to stay . . . the old tent was filled with bright lights, big wheels and gay music. The boys and girls of UCLA town turned out to share the excitement, and after the fun was over, the gay spirits lingered to lighten with memories work of the spring semester ahead.

CHI OMEGAS Jackie Boone, Marilyn Silman and Gloria Fetterman took time off from numerous other activities to spark Shell and Oar, Spurs, and Key and Scroll. Chi Omegas had their feet on the ground this year to dig in to keep their scholastic standing, but it was over the big top in more ways than one.

UNDER THE DIAMOND HORSESHOE, serenades, candy passings, and good old party times sparkled. Chi Omega and Fiji pledges didn't wait for the big show to start, but surprised their active sisters and brothers with a show of their own at a most unwelcome hour of the morning.

Pansies were everywhere at the annual Tri Delt pansy ring breakfast, honoring outstanding senior women on campus and giving them the opportunity to announce engagements and marriages of the past year.

ALL AROUND CAMPUS Tri Delts registered "smooth sailing" under the leadership of Donna Bell and Maury Orr. Socially minded Tri Delts joined the Zetes for an open house, and the Phi Kappa Psis for a barn dance. At the traditional Pansy Ring breakfast honoring senior women, were many lovely girls stepping "through the ring."

TREADING THE STEPS of Kerckhoff were Spurs Suzie Lazier and Ginnie Griffes, while Betty Stauffer, Abbie Lundgren and Ginnie Nelson joined hands and worked on Key and Scroll. Shell and Oar boasted Ginger Fox, Peggy De Flon and M. M. Freeman. Activities boomed with Gale Michaels president of the YWCA and Mary Lou McCann vice president of AWS.

BURNING THE MIDNIGHT OIL, Joan Grieve, in Alpha Mu Gamma, and Jeanne Hudson, in Delta Epsilon, "shone" in scholastics. Last but not least we mention a Troll, Marty Martin.

The members of Delta Delta Delta reside in a spacious California styled home set back among the shrubs and trees.

Over coffee and congeniality DGs entertain in a newly remodeled and modernized home on the row.

SAILING THE SOCIAL SEAS were the Delta Gammas when they gave their annual Anchor dance with the SC chapter. Hallowe'en came along just when the DG house was being rebuilt and made a perfect setting for a Haunted House party.

PROMINENT PERSONALITIES were Spur Barbara Parks, Key and Scroller Sally Kiefer and Mortar Board member Marilyn Miller. Pauline Nelson and Barbara Huff could be seen in the office of the Daily Bruin while the Cal Club roster boasted Jeannie Fisher and Kathy Holser.

ONE SURPRISING EVENING five boxes of candy were passed and two pinnings were announced. Luanne Lyon took top honors as Homecoming queen attendant and queen of the Sigma Nu White Rose dance. Midge Faries was an attendant to the Junior Prom queen.

Behind the new front walls lived the girls of the golden anchor, prominent in organizations and social life on campus.

Friendly, enthusiastic and efficient leaders of their sorority, the officers of Delta Sigma Theta make in-between-class plans for social events.

SEPTEMBER TO NOVEMBER were activity months for members of Delta Sigma Theta as they presented a Gay Nineties rush party, a rush luncheon and held a joint meeting with other Los Angeles chapters honoring two alumni newly named principals of local elementary schools. Swinging into football spirit the girls then held a "Football-turkey Trot" which was the "party of parties."

BUSY TIMES were the keynote of Delta Sigma Thetas during the remainder of the year as they were occupied with their annual Christmas formal, Founder's day banquet, and Graduation party. In April several of the members attended a regional conference in Phoenix, Arizona.

FOLLOWING THE LEADERship of President Charlane Derrick and Vice President Charlett Derrick Hill the house placed third in the AWS doll contest, turned in one hundred knitted squares for the Red Cross and donated toys to "Pilgrim house."

THANK HEAVEN FOR SMALL FAVORS . . . the Sigma Delta Taus finally got a house, and in between spasmodic decorating efforts found time to hold a round of parties and dances. The big affair of the fall semester was the initiation dance, which doubled as a celebration of their final installation as an active chapter and climaxed their hopes and dreams of three years.

EXHIBITING the new active pins around Kerckhoff were Spur Ros Bernstein, who ran from office to office in her various activities; vivacious Bruin desk editor Lennie Rilander; and hard-working Cub reporter Annette Parness. Displaying numerous talents in the Theater Arts department were Claire White and Molly Shucart, while another Kerckhoff regular appeared in the person of Dorothy Lasher.

Successful in their struggle for a home were the girls of the sword and spade who were small in number, yet noted in Kerckhoff.

SPREADING THE FLAME OF THE LAMP into campus life was a Delta Zeta privilege. House parties, snow trips, barbecues and beach parties kept everyone busy through the fall and spring. A top celebration of the fall semester was the annual Christmas formal at the Beverly Hills hotel, and in the spring, the traditional Mood dance took Delta Zeta and dates to the Ambassador hotel.

ACTIVITY LIGHTS shone on Nadine Lang and Lita O'Neil, bearers of Key and Scroll. Lita O'Neil found time to be OCB secretary, while Ruth Greenwood was active on the Bruin, URA executive board and Junior Prom committee. Barbara Lehman was secretary of the Rally committee.

HI JINKS AND HI SPIRITS went hand in hand at the Delta Zeta house with the Spring sing, Hi Jinks and the annual All-U election open house given with the Phi Psi's.

Enthusiastic tradition builders on campus, the Delta Zetas once more made their house the welcome waiting place for candidates and friends at the election night celebration.

RIDING THE MERRY-GO-ROUND of social sparkle and activities were the Gamma Phi Betas under the guidance of President Lillian Manning. Unusual ideas and a double portion of enthusiasm brought the Gamma Phi's the Homecoming trophy for the most original float, a unique roller coaster.

COMING OUT IN FORMAL ATTIRE the Gamma Phis held their annual Crescent dance in the Garden room of the Town House and in keeping with the Christmas tradition the pledges gave a party for the actives. Spring attracted the SC and UCLA Gamma Phis and their dates to the flower-decked Bel Air Bay club for the Orchid ball.

TREADING KERCKHOFF STEPS were Mary Anna Muckenhirn who helped keep the wheels rolling in the OCB office, sat in at Spur meetings and served as hostess chairman for URA recs. Marilyn Hopkirk served as Rec Entertainment chairman and Secretary Pat Chambers recorded for the Junior class council meetings.

Living in the first house on the row gave Gamma Phis added minutes for morning sleep or after lunch bridge before the trek to class.

SOCIAL MECCA of the campus community, the Kappa Alpha Thetas opened the fall semester with a Kickoff open house with the Kappa Sigs. Smoothly sophisticated, the "Beta-Theta" Christmas formal ushered in the holiday spirit with a large Santa Claus, who gave his blessings while happy couples danced their way into Christmas vacation.

JUNIOR WHEELS were Spurs Betty Baker, Jean Bailey and Debbie Bouquet. Mortar Board took Paula Henderson into its midst, while Patty Hine worked hard on the staff of Religious Conference.

THE THETA PATIO resounded with the bridge-playing crowd when unusual exchanges at the Drunkard with the Kappa Sigs or parties with the Betas failed to keep the Thetas busy.

A WONDERFUL SANTA CLAUS at the Kappa Delta annual Christmas open house surprised everyone when he took off his beard and proved that he was really Eddie Eaton. On the smoother side was the Diamond Dagger formal given at the Bel Air hotel in January and a Chinese party presented by the eager pledge class.

SPORTING THE EMBLEMS of the Spurs were Pat Smith and Helen Davis. Carol King joined the ranks of Key and Scroll, while Barbara Magee took her place in TrOILs. Betty Irwin held the gavel at the YWCA and Mary Puntney served as treasurer.

JUNIOR PROM GLAMOUR was provided by Jo Sams who was a princess for the dance. Pat Kerr distinguished herself as chairman of AWS Associate board and Model Josie, and Bar Magee helped bring many laughs to the readers of Scop as an assistant editor.

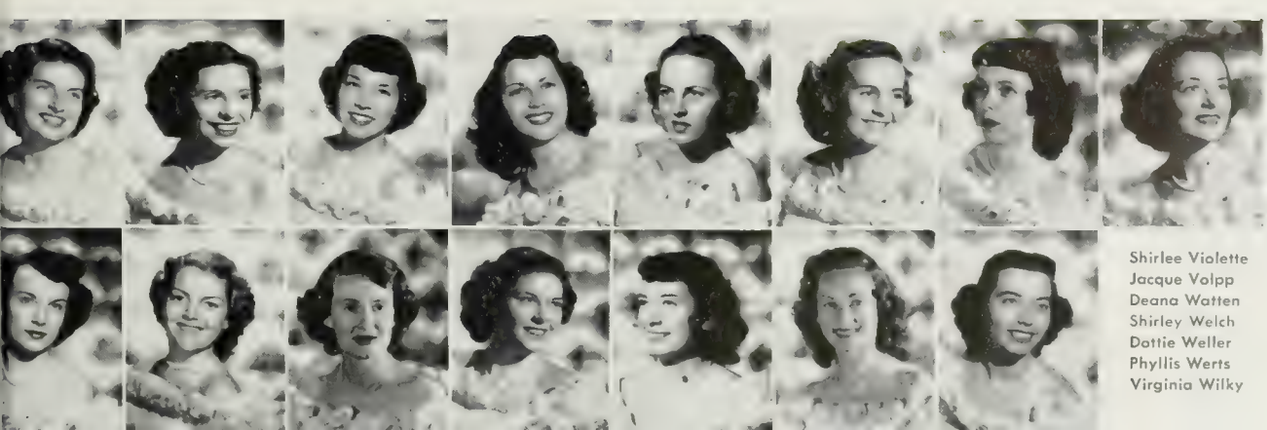

KD imagination brought to the halls of their house on the hill a variety of novel parties ranging from a Christmas get-together with a real Santa to a Chinese party with volumes of pigtails.

The peace of this small KD social set is about to be shattered suddenly by the Lynn Belvedere-like character with the balloon . . . anybody got a pin?

Wonder if the Kappas can use their golden keys to open the door of their Hilgard home after lockout?

DIXIELAND JAMBOREE beat out that good ol' Southern rhythm for Kappa Kappa Gamma. Joining forces with the Tri-Delts, Sigma Nus and Fijis, Dixieland lovers danced far into the night to celebrate Homecoming week-end. Honoring newest members in the fall, the Kappas held their initiation dance at the Santa Monica Beach club. In the Spring, thoughts were focused on the Kappa-Fiji formal at the Hollywood Riviera.

OMNIPOTENTS OF KERCKHOFF were . . . Hope Sterling, who held the gavel of Key and Scroll and was elected to Cal Club, before taking her place among northern Stanfordites; Mary Jo Johansen who added her name to the Troll list and Spurs; Nancy Kneedler and Trudy Haupt who also took on their share of campus responsibilities.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT with the Queen was Katherine Dinsmore who was chosen Sophomore attendant during homecoming week-end. Party time and hard work made 744 Hilgard a busy place this year.

Some look on in envy, some in curiosity, but most Kappas join in the fun and song when serenade time comes their way.

Newest addition to the big white Phi Mu house, a shiny television set, made study hours difficult to observe.

FORMALS AND FLOWERS were worn at two of Phi Mu's stellar dances of the fall and spring, the Snow ball and Carnation formal. Adding their color to the year's social doings were the Sweetheart dance, Street and Barn flings, and the Ciro Initiation dances. Ninety-seven years of existence by Phi Mu was celebrated with a faculty dinner dance at the Miramar hotel.

WEARERS OF THE SPUR emblem were Jean Cornelius and Mary Horn. Pat Horrigan, a member of Kap and Bells, played an active part in Campus theater and Carol Castellaw did duty with the YWCA. Seen in and about the Southern Campus office was Dorothy Aegeter, one of many Phi Mus who took part in Bruin extra-curricular activities.

FINDING TIME to lead their house were Presidents Gloria Page and Erlene Olson who handled affairs in the fall and spring sessions. Under their direction Phi Mu won the most humorous award in the annual Hi-Jinx show and made their annual trip to Catalina.

NURSERY RHYMES IN COLLEGE may still be interesting, as was proved by the successful Nursery Rhyme party given by Phi Sigma Sigma pledges in the fall semester. The actives in turn honored their pledges with a formal at the Bel Air hotel in the spring. Dinners and informal parties completed the social schedule.

THE SIGGY CIRCUS, an all campus charity party, raised money for the Phi Sigma Sigma philanthropy for children with rheumatic fever. In a circus atmosphere it's easy to have fun.

ACTIVITY MINDED Sonya Levin ably filled the job of Desk editor on the Daily Bruin and Joan Mitchell became a member of Delta Epsilon. The Phi Sigma Sigmas will long be remembered for their group in the Spring sing finals singing "Remember Girl."

TENDENCY TOWARD THINGS social started with the initiation dance in honor of six new wearers of the "wine and blue," followed by the joint Golden Arrow ball, uniting Pi Phis of SC and UCLA. The Christmas open house with the Phi Psis was a successful climax to the holiday season and 1948. SAE violets and Pi Phi carnation corsages signified the traditional Delta ball given by the two Delta chapters during the spring semester.

AWS PRESIDENT Mary Ellen Brinninger distinguished herself as an active member in both Mortar Board and Trolls, in which Pat Deighton was another representative. Jackie Yarborough, Key and Scroll, held a position on YWCA cabinet; Luckie O'Keefe headed Spurs; while Sue Evans and Smiley Cook worked with her and other sophomore activity girls.

IN THE LINE OF BEAUTY, Allyn Smith and Marilyn Manville were up for the title of Tropicana queen, Edna Boughn was Sigma Chi sweetheart attendant and Evelyne Miller was TV's cover girl of the week. Pi Phi nights saw serenades by Betas, Theta Delts, Sigma Chis and Phi Psis which contributed to a busy year for the group at 700 Hilgard.

700 Hilgard was the scene of bridge games, meetings and parties throughout the months for those Pi Phis who decided to leave the library's sacred halls.

BRINGING BACK THE good 'ole days the Sigma Kappa Roaring Twenties party featured the popular Charleston for entertainment. A Christmas party with a Mexican atmosphere had a Pinata filled with candy and presents for everyone.

ACTIVITY WOMEN were Spur Jackie Dennis and Troll June Harlan, also vice president of the YWCA. Laura Duclos was vice president of the Masonic club and Marge Draper worked hard as secretary of the Y.

theta phi alpha

DANCING AT THE ROMANTIC Sapphire Ball, Theta Phi Alphas and their dates spent a wonderful evening in the garden room of the Bel Air hotel. The pledge sponsored Waffle wake after the dance rounded out a never-to-be forgotten evening. The Silver and Gold waltz held interest for the spring semester.

HATS OFF to Sue Lees, chairman of the Neuro-Psychiatric parties for the Red Cross, and Angie Scalero, able secretary of the Freshman woman's honorary.

ALWAYS ACTIVE in the Newman club the Theta Phi Alpha's boasted Rosemary Short as vice-president of the group. The annual Bishop's dinner given by the girls honored Archbishop McIntyre.

A big olive tree in front of the Theta Phi Alpha apartment offered shade for many a lazy afternoon of chatter about . . . whatever sorority girls talk about.

ΘΥ

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE SOCIAL world at the Theta Upsilon house featured a spring Iris ball at the Beverly Hills hotel. Theta U's and their dates saw each other's dreams at the novel spring Nightmare party. The pledges entertained at Christmas time with a fine party for the actives.

SPOTLIGHT ON activities showed Alva von Langen in Theater Arts, and Alice Mann and Virginia Logue working hard on Senior council. Joann Honey served as an able president of the German club, while Charlou Gladdish tried her talents in Campus theater.

CHAMPIONS in the sports world may also be found among the versatile ranks of Theta Upsilon. Sheila Brown led the Kappa Alphas and Theta U's to victory in intramural bowling competition and was Southern California amateur champion.

Theta Us didn't worry too much about blue-books and tests and turned their house into a place of continuous fun time.

Walking through the archway of the ZTA abode meant hours of fun and frolic for a whole raft of Bruins.

GOLDEN YEAR was the by-word for the Zeta Tau Alpha's this fall when they celebrated their Golden anniversary with an open house and Founders' day banquet at the Altadena Country club. Costumes and gayety prevailed at the Zeta Water Front party in spring, while tops on the fall list of smooth parties was the annual White Violet ball at the Bel Air hotel.

"ALL THAT GLITTERS IS GOLD" and by being scholastically perfect Zeta Tau Alpha disproved the old adage. Four coveted trophies were won this year as ZTA's were presented with the Los Angeles City Panhellenic Scholarship cup, the UCLA Panhellenic Scholarship cup and the National Zeta Scholarship cup and plaque.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL, composed of the presidents of each recognized social fraternity, is an example of Bruin student government. Meeting every other week, IFC acted as a legislative and advisory body to aid each group with its administrative problems.

GUIDING THE IFC through the trials and tribulations of policy decisions was the job of President Warren Palmer, ATO; Vice Presidents Ken Nichols and Jim Walker, Fijis; Treasurer Don Reithner, Kappa Sig; and Executive Secretary Bob Cuyler, Sigma Chi. Main policy decisions included rushing procedures, public relations, scholarship, intramural activities, pledge training and social standards.

CONTRIBUTING GENEROUSLY to the various charity drives on campus, heading the Boys' division of Uni camp, providing blood donors for the Red Cross and Santa Barbara conferences for house presidents were the most important aspects of IFC work. However, they also found time to sponsor two of the most outstanding social events of the year . . . in the fall Bruins danced to Jimmy Dorsey's music at the Casino Gardens and in the springtime students journeyed to the Palladium and Gene Krupa's rhythms at the joint IFC-Panhel informal.

Eucalyptus lined Gayley, bounding the west side of campus, was the scene of bustling activity, common to fraternity row.

Under the spreading u-ka-lip-tus tree the friendly Acacians live. Known for hospitality the door is always open in their Brentwood estate.

RED LETTER DAYS for Acacia fraternity came during 1948-49. Three major goals were realized . . . a place to hang hats, the chapter house in Brentwood; full recognition by IFC on campus; official installation by the national organization as a full-fledged chapter. The success can be attributed to hard work by all the men, the alum advisors and the guiding hand of President John Stauff.

ENTERTAINING Delta Zeta's at the Westside Tennis club proved to be a socially smooth deal complete with mellow music and soft lights. Many house parties and informal get-togethers completed the year.

FOR THEIR SCHOLARSHIP, the Acacians had cause to be proud. Climbing from way down under they nabbed tenth place on the fraternity scholastic rating, while pledges held the fourth spot.

Westward ho with AGO is the battle-cry of the men who inhabit this "Southern California-ish" bungalow which is characterized by a door that's always open.

STREAMLINED Alpha Gamma Omega highballed along at a fast social clip throughout the past months with exchanges and serenades on Hilgard. Not content with doin's with Bruins, AGO's took off for the Cal game and numerous parties with Northern California brothers.

FROM BIG BEAR snow to Catalina cruises in Spring was a minor transition for talented AGO's, whose Founders day banquet topped off a fun-filled year.

MR. PRESIDENT, Don Armbruster, successfully maneuvered activities for both AGO and Alpha Phi Omega besides working on Music and Service board. Al Unfried devoted his abilities to the Greater Bruin Band, while Paul Jones presided over Lutheran Students association. Gene Molene also was a cog in the A-Phi-O machine as Glen Guyer captured practical joker laurels.

alpha epsilon pi

Happy at their initiation formal are members of AEPi who were given campus recognition after spending time as a colony organization.

JOINING THE RANKS of recognized fraternities on campus this year, Alpha Epsilon Pi plunged into the swing of campus life with enthusiasm. With thirty-eight active members and twelve pledges, AEPi's proved a formidable troupe in major intramural activities, and their trophy room bears witness to their athletic feats.

CELEBRATING the presentation of membership shingles to the new brothers of both the UCLA and SC chapters, AEPi's held an Initiation formal in the Santa Monica Ambassador's Magnolia room, replete with magnolia blossoms, southern belles and gallant gentlemen.

THE TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS of guiding a new fraternity through the grinding turmoil of campus life belonged to capable House President Dave Mathers, Vice President Jack Gladstein, Exchequer Dick Frankel and Scribe Herbert Notkin.

Competing with the chimes of Royce is the newest addition to fraternity row . . . an ex-train bell which Alpha Sigs have housed atop the roof.

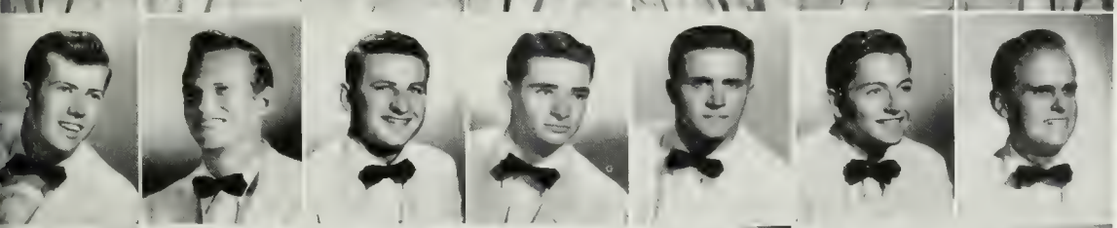

A SOCIAL FRATERNITY, Alpha Sigma Phi had no trouble living up to its name this past year. Among the big affairs of the season were the Three-Way jag held at the Uplifter's club, a Christmas ball at the house to usher in the Yuletide season and loads of house parties.

LIKE THE BEACH? So did everyone else at the beachcomber party with its atmosphere of Sorrento and Balboa. Everyone got in the mood for summer vacation. Unique parties featuring the new Alpha Sig television set rounded out a socially prominent year.

PROMINENT PLACES in the fraternity were filled by Bill Neighbors, house president, Social Chairman Bruce Greenland. Men about campus, Don Cogswell and Bob Segner led the way for George Barnes freshman footballer. Secretary John Krause kept roll and Bill Davis took over in the absence of Prexy Neighbors.

WILD ELEPHANTS AND HORSES couldn't stop the ATO's from winning the "most humorous" award in the circus themed Homecoming parade. This being ample cause for celebration, ATO's presented their Snowed-in party at the chapter house after the SC game.

ATO's PLAYED another smooth round socially as old man winter faded and spring came in with "The Old Heidelberg," costume and stein tipping party. Other successfully maneuvered parties included the not-to-be-forgotten Homecoming dance held with the Kappa Sig's plus a variety of exchanges, formals and house parties.

IN LINE for top honors on campus with a house full of busy men about Kerckhoff, headed by IFC president Warren Palmer, ATO was known for its participation in activities . . . boasting such campus wheels as fullback Art Steffen, All-U-Sing Chief George Mair, Gold Key men Bob Underwood, Hans Morkisch of NSA and Irwin Rickel, art editor of Southern Campus and member of Alpha Delta Sigma, plus OCB's Jack Vollmer and a multitude on Homecoming committee, Rally committee and Junior Prom board.

WITH EVERY MAN in the house maintaining a 3.2 average, Beta's loaded another whirlwind year with everlasting memories and 100 proof parties. Inverted mugs were part of the chug-a-lug game that was featured at the ever famous Rathskellar and Beta Bowery. Still another three-star event was the Miami Triad with the Phi Delts and Sigma Chis at the Bel-Air Bay club.

SMOOTHEST DOGS ON CAMPUS, by far, were Duke and Spot. Of course, every gal on Hilgard will testify to the fact that their masters are pretty smooth, too.

A WELL ROUNDED HOUSE is the envy of all fraternities and the Beta house was the epitome. On the gridiron, Beta was represented by Ernie Johnson, Bruce McLaughlin and Bill Stamper; in basketball by Alan Sawyer; frosh baseball, Boyd Jefferies; and frosh basketball, Dick Thompson. On the other side of the campus, Don Barrett, Cal Club, Cal Man, Gold Key, rep-at-large, head of Uni Camp and Desmond's representative, led the list of Kerckhoff wheels. Two presidents were campus kings; Elzy Clark headed the Sophomore class and Jim Higson, the Music and Service board. Dick Miller, Associate Business manager of Southern Campus, rounded out the roster. Yeomen members were Rush Backer, Lynn Jones and Jim Lennox.

When Betas have nothing better to do, they hop in their Cadillacs and drive to Snow Basin for a week-end of "snow time."

Certain to succeed is the man who lives in the Beta house for it's the rule not the exception for Betas to be wheels.

EVERY EMPTY LOT on fraternity row rated a looking over from members of Alpha Phi Alpha whose roving eyes were ever hunting for a house of their own. President Jim McDaniel asked only a place to park books during the lunch hour, but lack of an official residence failed to dampen their school spirit.

BIGGEST AND BEST event of the year was the annual formal held in the Women's gymnasium when the bare walls and rafters were metamorphosed into a paradise of music and laughter. Almost as much fun were the series of Saturday picnics staged in Griffith park when men and dates munched mellow hot dogs and sipped cool cokes in the noonday sun.

HARD MEN TO BEAT on the maple basketball court were Hugo Hill, Joe Oliver and trainer Harry Thompson. In intramural casaba the A-Phi-A rang up victories to grab third place in the league. After the game dances were held at Music Town where VP Clayton Moore made his now famous statement of "Look for big things to come from Alpha Phi Alpha."

"What are you doing Saturday?" Wonder if she will have friends for all the A Phi A brothers gathered around.

Delta Chi's gather to deliberate on the debatable decisions of the day . . . then out for a quick set of tennis or a brief dip in the icy water of Sorrento.

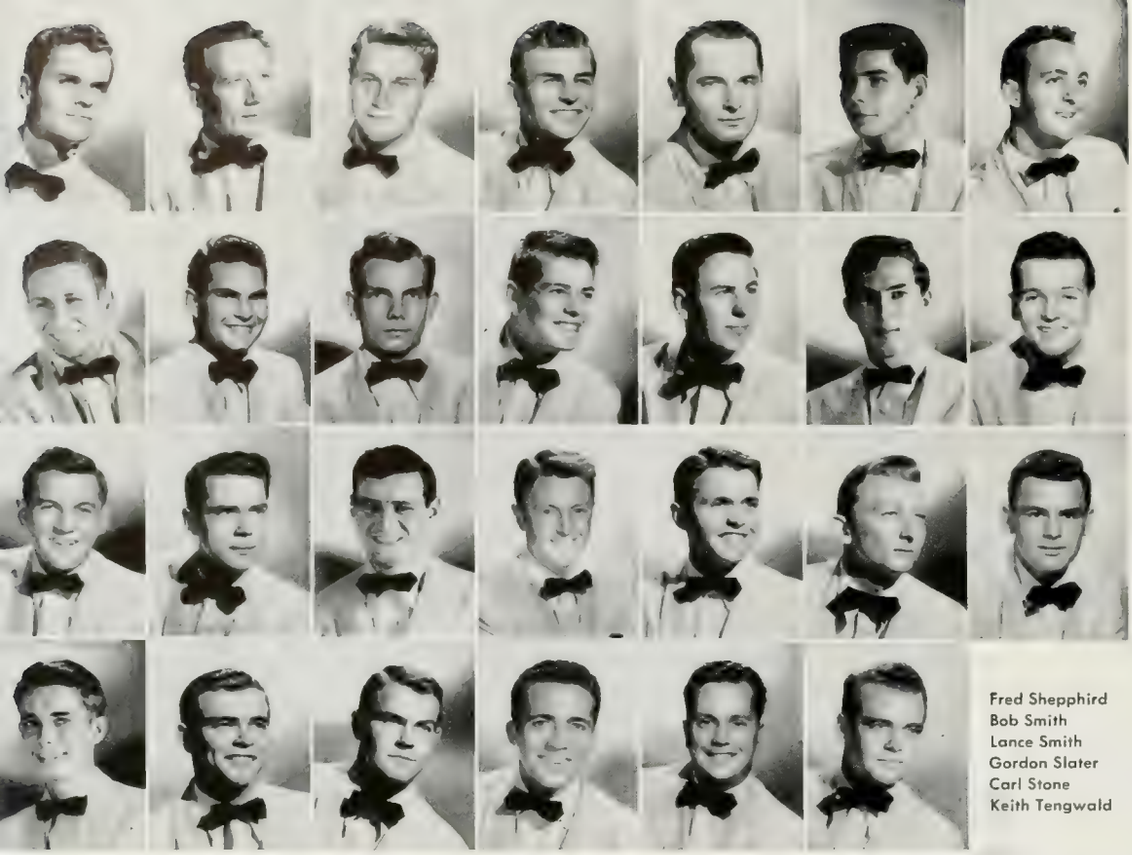

WITH BANNERS FLYING over another successful year, members of Delta Chi's proudly looked back over party times of the past. Outstanding in their memories are the unforgettable Halloween party and the joint Phi Mu dance.

UNDER COVER OF TRUCE with SC, a formal was parlayed with the crosstown chapter. Providing another excuse for a lost week-end was New Year's Eve. Snow time was no time for Delta Chi's to sit idly by . . . they too got their quota of broken arms and legs.

LONG TIME MAYORS of the house were Ernie Long and Lee Mayer. Hal Anderson counted pennies as Junior class treasurer and also squared off on OCB. Bob Carney chimed in on the chimes, but couldn't change expressions on those inscrutable poker faces of Karl Baun, George Beran and Jeff Davis.

RIDING HIGH on the way to happy times, brothers of Delta Kappa Epsilon found the rainbow's pot of gold. In the spring semester they rode the crests of the Three-way Jag at the Uplifter's club, to say naught of the mid-winter formal at Roger Dakin's estate in Pasadena.

YOUNG MEN'S FANCY turned in spring to thoughts of the Four-way formal followed by the fabulous Luau, featuring a Deke-built hut, two roasted porkers and real Deke punch.

FANCY YOUNG MEN of Delta Kappa Epsilon were headed by popular president Bill Frambach who also successfully maneuvered jobs on AMS board, IFC, OCB, RCB, Student Board, Gold Key, Rep-at-large and Kelps. Bill Ahmanson and Bob Smith were mainstays of Junior council, and the latter also quartermastered as social chairman of the Deke house.

Find one Deke and you'll find two; find two Deke's and you'll find three; find three Deke's and you'll find . . . what else? . . . three beautiful gals.

With a room packed full of handsome fellas and lovely girls, all dressed up in best bib and tucker, something is bound to happen but just what, is a deep dark mystery.

PROUDEST ACHIEVEMENT of Delta Nu was the winning of third and first places in the IFC scholarship race during the fall and spring semesters. The house was aided in the cup-winning efforts by Phi Beta Kappas Don Melnick and Gene Jacobs.

ALL WORK AND NO PLAY didn't apply to the Delta Nu's as they presented the fall "Anti-education" party. Several nautical outings, plus goodtime antics in Big Bear and Arrowhead snow provided fun for all.

ALL PULLING toward the promotion of Delta Nu, the members strove hard to make the new fraternity a strong one on campus. Marv Kleinberg was a member of Cal Men and Bob Holtzman orated on the varsity debate team. Also on the roster is Gerald Roys, president and Inter-Fraternity council participant.

ΔN

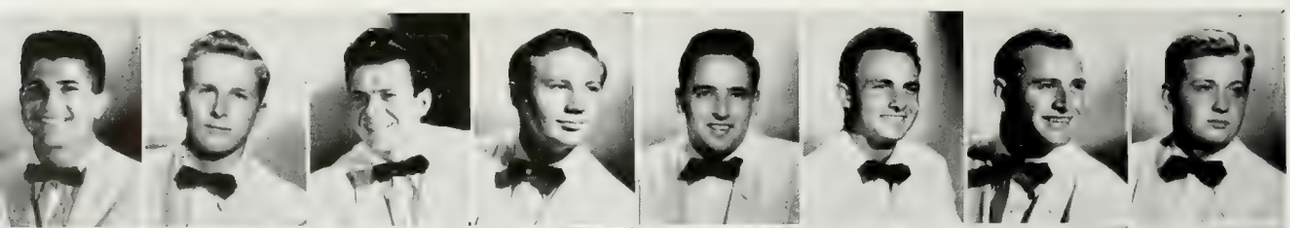

Watch your step, Margie . . . you'll rock the boat! Of course, Captain Simqu will see that you make it all right, but don't trust a Delta Sig pirate on the starboard.

CLEVEREST FLOAT in the Homecoming parade won for the Delta Sigs the fabulous sweepstakes award which made them the envy of every other house on campus. The celebrated trophy held the place of honor at numerous Delta Sig week-end events.

HIGHLIGHTING their social activities were the annual Sailor's ball in the spring and the December Carnation ball at the Westside Tennis club.

ROLLING ALONG with their share of wheels on campus the Delta Sigs didn't put on the brakes when confronted with campus responsibility. Andy Anderson was chairman of the Junior Prom, Ted Nissen presided over Varsity club and MAB, and Harry Longway was chairman of OCB. Hal Martin lent a hand to the All-U sings, and Paul Simqu headed Cal club. Jim Koenig held an SEC seat as Rep-at-large. On the athletic side, the Delta Sigs were league champions in football and volleyball and won the interfraternity tennis trophy. Karl Kraushaar, Bob Wilkerson, Ted Nissen, Warren Junhke and Bill Henricks were all varsity athletes.

Playing it casual are Brothers of Delta Tau Delta who appear as if they are waiting for a prospective rushee to charge up the stairs in hopes of snagging a pin.

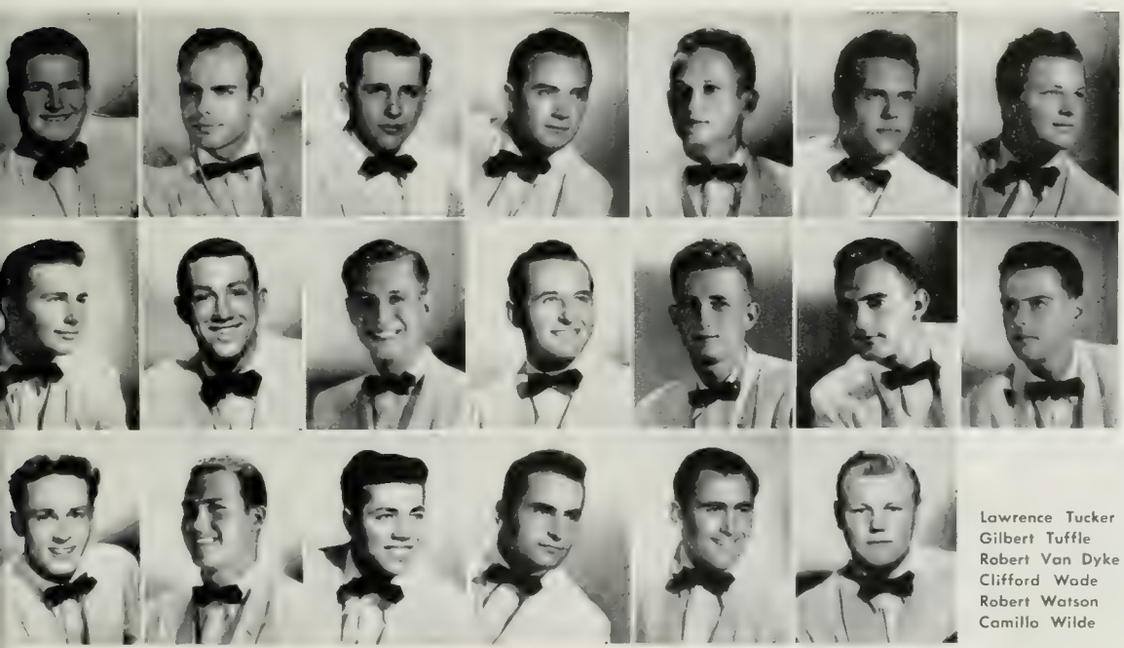

"Oh, how I love thee, dear old Delta shelter." And who wouldn't love living in this temporary barracks.

DELTS, activity and socially minded, emerged from their newly decorated and refurnished house on Gayley into every major campus activity. Dividing their time between many events on campus, the Delts still found time to spend many pleasurable moments at the houses on Hilgard.

DELTS AND DATES turned out in formal attire for the Delt-Dee Gee ball at the Ocean House. Outstanding among many other social functions was the annual Barbary Coast party.

DELT LUMINARIES were Roy Jensen, Darrell Riggs and Bob Watson on the football squad; and boxer Dick Hammond who won the intramural championship in his weight class. Delts were represented in water polo by Gil Tuffli and Dick Roemer, in track by Jim Harvey and in swimming by Jack Nelson and Gil Tuffli. IT'S A LONG WAY to Santa Monica where the men of Delta Upsilon have settled for the present in a brand new residence. Furnishing the house would have been a major problem save for the ingenuity of the men who held a "Shoe-Box" party that featured an auction to raise funds.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTED an adequate occasion for gathering at the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel for the annual yuletide formal. New Year's and Valentine's day affairs set precedents for future DU's. Initial spring activities were a University club formal and the "Barvarian Be-bop."

WELL REPRESENTED in Kerckhoff nooks and crannies were men of DU. Sig Sigler wrote copy for the Daily Bruin, Hatch Grahm was active in Rally club and on the Fencing team, Vince Delamarter, Dick Doty, Tom Lommell and Bob Mancini marched with the Great Bruin Band, and Bill Brisbane presided over the Men's Glee club.

Must be Monday night because Delta Upsilon men are dressed with coats and ties and shined spats for the big meeting that rolls around every week.

TRAPPED LIKE RATS, was the feeling of Kappa Alpha pledges when they were overpowered by the actives on their pledge ditch. With dreams of Arrowhead promptly shattered the dejected pledges returned to their books.

STARTING the second year in their house on campus, the Dixiecoats got back into the swing of campus life with a bang, by presenting such novel functions as the Ferry Boat party, Halloween Masquerade dance and the annual Odd ball. Gathering in January to honor the memory of their spiritual founder, Robert E. Lee, members and alumni from SC and UCLA celebrated the Convivium in traditional fraternity surroundings.

WINNING COMBINATIONS in intramural competition were Kappa Alpha's who gained a trophy by winning the co-rec bowling championship. Competing for the Alma Mater were Bill Davidson of the Rugby club, Bob Haupt on the soccer and tennis team, baseballer Don Schulte, and football fullback Dean Straun.

Guests at the bowery had to make up their minds to enjoy the show, because escape was impossible with tough Kapp Sig bouncers waiting at the door.

OPERATING from their exclusive Strathmore hacienda the Kappa Sigs' completed a year which will be remembered as halcyon when they gather together to talk about the "good old college days."

KAPPA SIG'S social highlights included the spring Sweetheart formal, a fancy formal at Thanksgiving with their prosperous brothers at SC, and the climactic Cardinal and Crescent formal.

AMONG THE BUSIER clansmen during the year was "Great White Father" Bill Keene, student body president of our favorite knowledge mill; Jim Cook, engineer of a bang-up fiesta in the fall as Homecoming chairman; and Bud Murphy, leader of the neophytes in his capacity as Frosh prexy. The field of journalism was well blessed with Kappa Sigs. Ralph Schaefer and Don Henley were editor and business manager of Scop, respectively, Phil Curran and Brent Bowen promoted Southern Campus sales, and Dick Mattingly and Bill van Doorn kept accounts straight in the DB office. "Spider" Saunders aided the casaba men with his well known free-shots.

Tradition was furthered at the mad mimic of pledge presents that Lambda Chi Alpha spins each year for the edification and enjoyment of all.

ALMOST ANY REASON proved cause for Lambda Chi Alpha to throw a party this year. Cross and Crescent, the traditional dress shirt affair, turned out to be a season's winner, with such parties as Heaven 'n Hell and the rollicking, boisterous take-off of Pledge Presents running neck and neck for second honors on the memory lane turf.

HARD WORKING Frank Tennant headed the Southern Campus staff as editor-in-chief and Les Curtis held the job of engravings editor. Dick Dunham and Welfare Board Vice Chairman Tom Hitchcock held down Homecoming committee posts. Cam Miller chairmanned the OCB Recognition committee and Lee Seirsen captained Bruin Host.

INSPIRING Dick Lonsdale presided over Lambda Chi in the fall, then handed the gavel to Frank Tennant for the spring semester. Jack Bratton kept busy organizing Bruin open houses, as did Frank Burns taking minutes as junior executive secretary for IFC, while energies of all were directed toward the vision of a new house on the row.

Barbequed 'burgers and bubbling beverage helped make this Phi Delt outdoor party a success. Of course, the lovely ladies added to the evening's merriment.

SHINED SHOES, polished manners and waxed floors did their bit at the fall formal by starting Phi Delta Theta on the social road to smooth suaveness . . . then the revolution with the "Hog Wallow."

PHI DELTA THETA threw its weight into athletics this past year with Don Muir leading the way as PCC champion and captain of the gym team. Versatile Bob Hight did a bit of leading, too, as yell leader and a member of the track squads. Frank Frost and Wells Wohlwend tackled the gridiron sport in fall, frosh hoopsters Barry Porter and Jerry Rife performed in winter and vaulter Dick Schenz did his barrel rolls in the spring sport.

PHI DELT OF THE YEAR award went to All-Coast Water Poloist Jim Cozens for his outstanding work. Joe Brainard stood out as URA golf club fore-man, while Claw claimed Don Meredith, Gary Jarvis and Business Manager Jack Curran.

CELEBRATION of Kappa Alpha Psi's thirty-ninth year as a national fraternity prompted the lavish Founders' day banquet held in January, where special tribute was paid to the expansion of K-A-Psi to a total of 109 chapters throughout the nation.

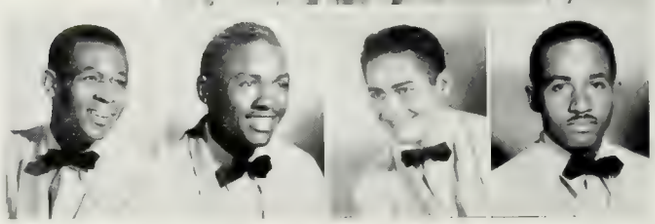

SPIRITED fraternity man, Sherrill Luke, served as head yell leader for the Bruins and was an industrious member of Cal Club and Gold Key. Athletes Floyd Wilson, who maintained an undefeated record for the boxing team, and big Dave Williams, who hurled the discus for the track team, proved themselves in sporting fields of endeavor.

THE CLIMAX of cultural activities was the joint sponsorship by the three local chapters in presenting winners of the Atwater Kent foundation awards, in concert at the Philharmonic auditorium. This demonstration of aesthetic appreciation was an admirable success for Kappa Alpha Psi, whose motto is "achievement."

ANOTHER FIRST: 1948-49 marked the first year for Phi Epsilon Pi as an active chapter on the UCLA campus. Combined efforts of all the Phi Ep's are aimed in the direction of obtaining a house for the group. When that day arrives the brothers guarantee the "greatest of them all" in the way of house warming events.

SOCIALIZING in the coop between classes consumed Phi Ep spare hours, along with card parties, exchanges, house dances and beach time. During the spring semester the annual active-alumni formal and the Founder's day dance were celebrated.

INVADING athletic fields in intramural competition, Phi Ep proved to be a fraternity to watch in coming years. At the close of the semester the boys looked forward to bigger and better things in all phases of college life.

Parties such as The Islander and The Fling allowed veterans and their offspring across the street little chance to sleep on week-ends.

ALWAYS SOCIAL are the Brothers of the Fiji house who traded week-end studies in the fall and spring for such dances as the Jefferson Duo and Kappa-Fiji formal, French Riviera, Fiji Island and the famous Tivoli fling.

BRUIN ATHLETICS would not be the same if it were not for the many Phi Gam contributions to the sporting scene, among whom are tennis stars Glenn Bassett, Ken Nichols, Al Godshall, Jim Walters and Frank Wilkinson. Seen in action many afternoons on the Coliseum gridiron were Brothers Jack Brown, Warren Hart, Leon McLaughlin, Rod O'Meara, Ray Nagel, Dick Short, Sherwood Simpson, Phil Tinsley and Dave Owen. Completing four years of competition with one of his greatest seasons was basketballer Chuck Clustka. Other athletes were trackmen Jack Miller, Nick Giovinazzo and Jim Liebenguth; baseballers Warren Hart and Lloyd Weyenberg; soccer star Stan Grau and swimmer Dave Upham.

CANNIBAL CHIEFS for the two semesters were Ken Nichols and Jim Walker. Besides being active in school athletics the Fijis were all-university champs in football and track and were in the Spring sing finals. Numerous Brothers were members of Scabbard and Blade, Conning Tower, Varsity club and many social, service and departmental honoraries.

Let's hear your tone . . . Les Liscom's direction, plus a little brew put the Fiji boy's club in the Spring sing finals after many enjoyable, but lengthy sessions.

THINGS STARTED BOOMING in the fall for Phi Kappa Sigma with the second annual Black and Gold formal in the Crystal room of the Beverly Hills hotel. Tradition after tradition was perpetuated with the "Last Chance" dance for the not-yet-initiated, the Shmoo-happy Dogpatch Dilemma, the fifteenth annual Skull dance on the eve of the new year and the famous Hawaiian dance in May.

THE GOOD WORK of rep-at-large Logan Boggs gained his appointment to Cal club and Gold Key, while joy-boy Dick Spence became Kelp chief and Ray Maggard presided for Phi Epsilon Kappa. Phi Beta Kappa honored Bernie Crasman and John Farrell with the coveted key.

ON THE WATERFRONT were the four Phi Phi's in the house. Also interested in liquid were pool-performers Bob Blachard and Doyle Sutherland of the swimming and water polo teams, while Johnnie Cross backed the soccer squad.

LOOKING BACK on the social season Phi Psi remembers the Jefferson Duo which was held at the Riviera Country club, the ever famous Presents, the Pajamarino and Spring formal. It was Carroll Alpers who wielded the gavel throughout this eventful year.

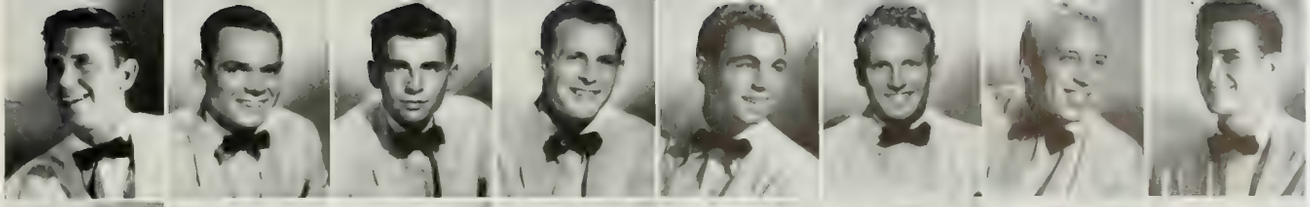

BEING VERSATILE in athletics, Phi Psi claims as its track men Craig Dixon, a UCLA representative at the Olympics, Taylor Lewis and Hugh Wilson. Bill Clements, Corky Johnson, Arnold Leckman and John Nikcevich had a say in football. Baseball boomers were Dave Douglas, Hal Handley, Joe Hicks, Pete Moody, Mario Nitrini, Ken Proctor and Skip Rowland.

FABULOUS PHI PSI'S on campus were Bill Clements, AMS president, and Bill Shelton, who held the reins for URA. Willy Morrison busied himself as chairman of the Campus Chest drive. Gold Key claimed brothers Bill Clements, Dick Dickey, Gene Rowland and Bill Shelton, while Art Karma and Marvin Osburn wore Yeoman emblems.

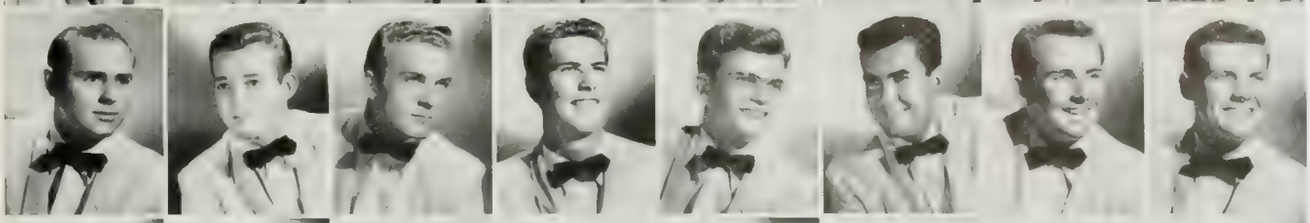

Exploding the rumor that all Phi Psi's drive classy convertibles is pictorial proof as one Phi Psi washes his sedan.

PHI SIGMA DELTA'S sparkling social season began with the initiation banquet and dance at the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel. Followed by many house parties, the season was climaxed with Phi Sig's big All-university Thanksgiving Eve ball held at the Oakmont Country club. After participation in the vaud show and the float parade, the next social event was a unique costume party . . . unique in that everyone came dressed as Groucho Marx.

IN MARCH the chapter initiated its new members with a banquet and dance at the Westside Tennis club. At that time, and with a great deal of pride, Phi Sigma Delta installed Dr. Eli Sobel, campus faculty member, as its first associate frater.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES ranged from fencing, track and boxing to debating, Rally committee, class councils and AMS. Under the leadership of Bob Ross and Harvey Krieger, Alpha Beta chapter of Phi Sigma Delta has made great strides towards obtaining a house on campus, and has firmly established itself in the UCLA fraternal family.

Under the shady "ole tree" are found the powers that be of Phi Sig Delt taking a little time off from leading the chapter.

GUIDING GENIUS behind the recent Pi Lambda Phi redecoration program was alumni adviser Mr. Newton Karp. While Westwood's original fraternity house underwent renovation, its members staged a Beverly Hills hotel fall initiation formal, a Stairway to Heaven house dance and a riotous pair of shindigs at Christmas and New Year's.

FORMAL ATTIRE marked two spring affairs; the Hotel Miramar initiation dance and the tradition-starting Graduation ball, planned by Lenny Frierman and Dave Adler.

SCHOLARS AND CAVALIERS were fall officers Shelly Samuels and Jerry Schutzbank who handed the reins to Herb Ross and Danny Lazovsky in February. Don Fanger and Jerry Schlapik were Daily Bruin night editors with Jerry doubling in brass as Great Bruin band press agent. Original "Quiz Kid" Harve Fishman and composer Al Bergman ranked among Pi Lam celebrities, while only Sergeant-at-arms Stan Gilgus could keep wrestler Bob Weinstein in line. Both fall and spring initiates won the IFC trophy for the best fledgling class grade averages.

MERMAIDS AND SEA SHARKS characterized the annual SAE Under the Sea masquerade ball in the fall, one of the numerous functions of SAE fame: Around presents time, SAE's combined with Beta's and Sigma Nu's to show-off the nuggets to the campus eye.

VARSITY LETTER SWEATERS were worn by many of the brothers of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Best known to the campus eye were Del Goodyear, baseball; Bob Small, in there punching for the boxing team; and newcomers Steve Atherton and Wayne Snell, frosh football and basketball participants.

WELL-OILED WHEELS rolled out of the SAE House. Bob Berdahl won praise as Senior Class president while Grover Heyler and Vince Brown kept presses rolling as editor and desk editor of the Bruin. Don Macbeth and John Flannery made long range plans for homecoming and Lloyd McCormick led RCB Student board.

Luck enough to win the battle of the Bruin, this diligent SAM eagerly scans the sports page to find his brothers' status in intra-mural competition.

WITCHES HAUNTED the Sigma Alpha Mu Halloween party with fantastic costume creations, then to add frosting to '48, the traditional Sweetheart formal was presented at the plush Bel Air hotel. Spring started with a sweater party followed by an affair honoring new actives. April showered a literary themed costume get-together and the fun-packed season ended with an annual headliner, the Spring formal.

HAND IN HAND cooperation by the chapter and the alumni expedited definite plans for a Sammie house. The lack of a home didn't interfere with the local chapter combining with the SC boys to host the national convention.

HOTEL BILTMORE, headquarters of the convention, saw a program extending from December 28 until the New Year and climaxing with a New Year's Eve black-tie dinner-dance in the hotel's swank grand ballroom.

IN THE WINNERS CIRCLE again this year for the second time in as many starts, Sigma Chi's turned out another prize winning float in the Homecoming parade, thanks to idea man Jack Saggsser. After the Homecoming festivities were over, Bruin Sigs hosted brothers from "the farm" to an evening of dancing in the Sun Room of the Beverly Hills hotel.

THE BILTMORE BALLROOM was the site Sigma Chi's chose to celebrate the election of Sam Bullock to the presidency of the national fraternity. The following night found Sigs and Alpha Chi's in tuxes and formals at the Annual Snow ball at the Bel-Air Bay club. Throughout spring the party spirit was maintained with the Miami Triad and the traditional Sweetheart dance in the Crystal room of the Beverly Hills hotel.

MAINTAINING A 2.5 grade point average and wielding the gavel over the brothers was the task of Sam Draper. In January Stan Johnson took over the reins and kept the spirit booming throughout spring. Keeping up his reputation as the busiest brother in the house, Bob Cuyler started the fall semester as president of Gold Key and later took on the added responsibility of IFC executive secretary.

THE WHITE STAR BOYS hopped on the bandwagon from registration day on to come through with another socially and athletically terrific year. With characteristic good nature and enthusiasm the gang held a bang-up snow ball fight with neighboring Betas on the famous corner of Gayley and Strathmore.

LONG IN THE SPOTLIGHT for their Annual White Rose ball the boys held this key-note affair at the Bel-Air Bay club featuring Queen Lu Anne Lyons and her two attendants Midge Faries and Alice Armstrong. Long to be remembered by the many who attended was the Four Way party featuring the Capital Jazz band. The well known Awful Damn Tramp party and Sunday breakfast with the Sigma Nu's completed a well rounded social season.

LOCAL ATHLETES were highlighted by Eddie Eaton, prominent on the football roster, Guy Buccola, Ralph Joeckel and Grover Luchsinger scoring for Coach Wooden's casaba men, and Johnny Pattee burning the cinders as cross country star. Big wheels on campus were headed by Bob Benbrooks, Gold Key, and Rudy Whissler, Yeoman and All-U sing favorite.

Please move that pretty skirt and make room for a tired man who's finished socializing for the evening and wants to just sit and watch.

Last Frontier of the old West was the Sigma Pi house when dolls and dudes dressed for the occasion, in whatever they could round up on the open range.

UPHOLDING A REPUTATION for sterling social performances, Sigma Pi's opened the semester with their original Nut club formal, followed by the formal initiation banquet at Ciro's. In spring the brothers shot their way into Frontier Town but calmed down for the smooth and suave Orchid ball in April.

AS USUAL, Sigma Pi's out-did themselves to support campus activities. Merle Swanson swung the gavel and also snagged first team laurels on the DB All-Interfraternity football team. Ralph Scott kept busy with Gold Key and Al Minjares covered ground on the track squad.

DONNING YEOMAN SWEATERS were Fred Thornley, yell leader, and Jeff Lawson, track star, while Bill McConnell and Ted Ash served as president and secretary respectively of Scabbard and Blade. George Barlow proved a valuable addition to Varsity water polo and swimming teams, and Doug Upshaw served as frosh yell leader. Bob Bohrer, Merle Swanson and Bob Wall battled for Norm Padgett's Rugby team and shutter-bug Dick Coleman performed ably as campus photographer.

Magnolia trees and mint juleps would be a perfect setting for this southern mansion, home of the Sigma Pi's.

PHILANTHROPICALLY MINDED Tau Delta Phi's began their chapter activities by awarding their two annual scholarships to worthy students. The brothers joined forces with Sigma Delta Tau sorority to sponsor the yearly "Chanakah" party for needy children.

OUTSTANDING AFFAIRS of the year were the initiation dinner dance at the Beverly Hills hotel and the Sweetheart dance at the Miramar. Tau Delts welcomed the arrival of the New Year at a private ballroom. Seymour Phillips, social chairman, supervised the annual open dance, The Chase.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES found Marty Lipp busy with AMS big-brother program and track. At the same time cross-country star George Seelig worked as secretary-treasurer of Varsity club. In his specialty of public relations, Stan Eisenberg held down jobs as Bruin Night editor, chairman of IFC News Bureau and publicity chairman of Varsity club. TEP STEPS were long and fast in the direction of social and athletic successes. Fall semester president Pete Miller led the field until spring when he gave the gavel to Cliff Duboff who carried on with equal versatility.

TEP STEPPERS of social life were populated with the traditional mid-winter Tepicana held at the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel. Spring came and with it the formal Sweetheart dance, along with many other fast moving parties and socials.

TEP REPS on campus and athletic field were led to the wire by Herb Flam, court king of UCLA and ninth ranking tennis player in the nation. Jack Grauman, letterman in water polo and swimming, was initiated into Beta Sigma Alpha, national Business Administration honorary. Lee Cohen racked up his second year as yell leader while Al Raffee and Dick Williams were honored by selection for membership in Yeoman. Ray Alba, Sam Allenberg, Jerry Fields and Cy Schneider showed promise in athletic fields of endeavor as future Bruin greats.

TEKES ARE GREEKS discovered those who flocked to the opening of Tau Kappa Epsilon's new, palatial, ocean home. Sited atop Sorrento, the mansion boasts its own private tennis courts.

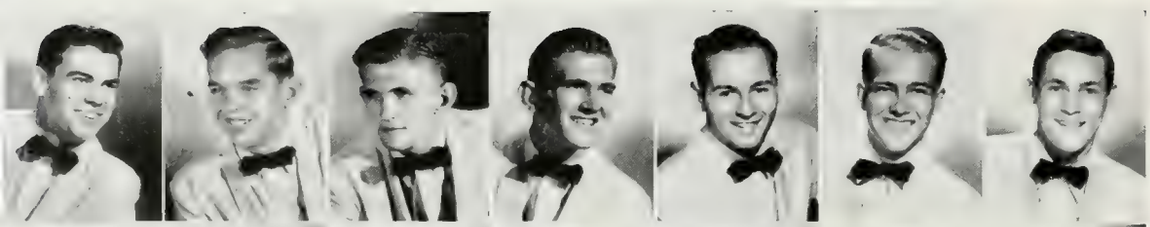

TEKES ARE SHEIKS discovered those who tripped the light La Raspa at frequent fraternity shindigs. Cheek to Teke was the dance style at the traditional Red Carnation ball, while a Teke unique was the Street Car party.

TEKES ARE STREAKS discovered those who glimpsed such men as hustling Hugh Fudenburg, who was a member of Gold Key, Senior Council, Student Judicial committee, Music and Service board, AMS Executive Board, Kelps and Claw staff. Bob Frizzi was drafted by the electorate of Cal-Vets to fill their prexy post. Dean Wolton pounded the president's gavel for Alpha Kappa Psi. Dick Golden spent much time as a contributor to Claw and Scop, while Larry Robinson worked on All-U Sings.

Shining examples of Joe College at one of the many TKE house parties relax between exams, while the skeptics on the sidelines enjoy the ocean breeze.

GOING STRONG and gaining momentum, Theta Chi's ended another fun-packed year at 633 Gayley. Gay parties and exchanges were spearheaded by a fun augmented openhouse with the Alpha Phi's spotlighting Pete Daley and his Chicagoans.

THE CIRCLE BAR X, traditional Theta Chi western shindig, was given in an atmosphere produced by ten-gallon hats and hayseed. The annual Christmas formal at the Beverly Hills hotel introduced the holiday spirit, amidst a grand array of soft music, dim lights and Christmas sparkle.

RIDING HIGH on the activity bandwagon was Chuck Francis, very able editor of the Daily Bruin, not to mention Bob Clithero who went all out to win the far-western wrestling championship, and Bill McMurtry, who brought glory to the brothers by being voted the most outstanding wrestler in the Junior AAU.

Characteristic of the friendly spirit generated by Theta Chis are the broad grins and beaming smiles displayed at the Christmas formal.

ΘX

Celebrations in honor of 102 years of Theta Delta Chi's existence were held at the Theta Delt home all year.

102 YEARS of Theta Delta Chi were commemorated with this summer's national convention in Long Beach. UCLA Theta Delts were convention hosts as a fitting climax to a fabulous social season that saw the annual barn dance, Hobo convention and the Carnival open house.

PARTY SPIRIT was surpassed only by the Kerckhoff invasion led by House President Don Hovey, Welfare board chairman. Close on his heels were Bob Lindh, Junior class president and Ken Karst, Homecoming coordinator, Judicial committee, OCB and Spring Sing head. Ken Johnson presided over the AMS smoker plus working on Student Executive board, and Ray Sturges served as Gold Key vice president.

UPHOLDING BRUIN SPIRIT in athletics were Wes Mathews, Rex Murphy and George Pastre on the gridiron; Pete Babin, Mike Furlong, Mathews and Murphy in the square circle; Lyle Wolfe representing the water polo team; and Bob Dingfelder and Bob Morrison on the cinders.

FLEDGLING PIRATES of the order of Theta Xi hoisted the Jolly Roger in defiance of the actives and sailed to Catalina with the Alpha Gams as willing hostages. Then the pursuing members showered a broadside with the annual formal in Spring and a Stanford, SC tri-chapter informal in the Ambassador hotel's Gold room in the Fall. Hundreds of participants joined in for a terrific Post Mortem.

IN AND OUT of Kerckhoff's busy halls were found Harry Sherman, OCB secretary, Sophomore Open House and Sophomore council member, while Morris Peele, Dick Price and Bill Yow also roamed the corridors for OCB.

STRONG MEN on campus were led by house president Urban Stroy as the Theta Xi intramural football team swept to a league victory with nary a score made against them. Players Bob Work, Urban Stroy, Dave Shaffalo and Ken Baker won "All Scop team" honors. Varsity letter winners were footballers Iggy Polizzi and Dean Kirby, soccer men Jack Meighan and Ike Behlil and hurdler Guy Kraft and sprinter Bob Work.

SOUTH PACIFIC scenery came to San Pedro when the ZBTahiti brought hundreds to the port city for a truly fine affair late in May. The SC-UCLA Zebe dance also provided many memorable moments.

PHOTOGENIC Zebes started what should become a precedent for future years when a film was made of the chapter's activities. Scholastically, the men were listed high on the IFC grade standings.

WELL-KNOWN athletes and wheels on the "hill" were Stan Berman, AMS officer; Bob Franklin, Elections board; Dave Leanse, yell leader; Sy Block, Student Judicial committee and Ski club president; Bob Koenig, Gold Key; Bert Fields, Senior class treasurer, and Len Gross, Daily Bruin city editor. Inter-fraternity intramurals found the ZBTs second in football and also second in the volleyball leagues, while Cliff Getz and Harvey Gonick won the IFC tennis doubles. Trackman Al Kapp and water poloist Bob Koenig earned varsity letters as did Jerry Prell, Lou Sackin and Shelley Siskin on the Rugby team.

Strategy . . . that's what the Zetes have . . . the only fraternity on sorority row. No chair lift to take the boys right on up the hill to the house of their choice?

Giving their attention to election candidates who constantly interrupted meals to deliver nomination speeches were the Brothers of Zeta Psi.

STILL ON TOP at the bottom of sorority row, Zetes, under the able leadership of Bud Kirby, celebrated their 102 year anniversary.

ZETES AND DATES spent many a memorable evening at novel house parties, like A Night in Old Vienna. Dressing up in tuxes and tails, Zetes and their dates attended the Four-way formal with the Phi Delts, Dekes and Delts, and another dress affair, namely, the Christmas formal.

ZETES BOAST about their many athletically inclined brothers. Among those on the football roster were Dave Anderson, Hal Braly, Malcolm Ellis, Larry Lampkin, Ray Lewand, Cliff Schroeder and Breck Stroshein. Don Smith swam for the water polo team and Pete Gates battled on the rugby squad. The Zete intramural football team, captained by John Florence, left an enviable record by winning first in their league with an undefeated, untied and un-scored upon record.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL at Hershey hall began with a Cal-Vet exchange, followed by an open house for parents and friends. Come Christmas time the girls helped Ol' Saint Nick bring happiness to many needy families by collecting enough money to supply them with Christmas dinners. Still in the holiday spirit, the gals whirled with their partners at the Christmas formal in an enchanting atmosphere created by candlelight and soft music. The annual spring formal followed the unique theme of a Carousel for which the formal gardens were decorated with pink horses and cotton candy.

GALS WHO DID A GOOD JOB in leading Hershey hall throughout the year were Louise Haggard, fall president, Gloria Jones, spring president and Haley McGoy, summer session leader. If you ever need a big name motion picture star to appear at UCLA just see Betty Sullivan . . . address, Hershey hall.

"GOOD SAMARITANS" is an apt description of the girls at the Helen Matthewson club. In typical yuletide spirit they filled the horn of plenty with a Christmas dinner and party for many underprivileged children followed by the annual Christmas formal decorated with boughs of holly and eye-catching mistletoe.

IN THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY the Helen Matthewson clubbers celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary. A silver tea was held in honor of the quarter century mark, and the girls spent a lazy week-end at Balboa to top this May-time festival.

IN THE ACTIVITY CORNER Gene Bartlett was a member of Delta Phi Upsilon, while Pat Collins served as vice-president of Phi Chi Theta. Marilyn Spafford and Audrey Turnbull were active in Delta Epsilon and Jo Gaines complained many times of sore muscles resulting from her work in Dance theater. Gavel wielder Betty Woford boasted of membership in WPE club and Inter-dorm council.

A milestone was reached by Helen Mathewson club during the spring semester when it celebrated the silver anniversary of its establishment on the old Vermont campus in 1924.

BOBBING JACK-O-LANTERNS shone on jean-clad couples two-stepping among the stacks of hay at Hilgard club's Haunted Hollow party. In the winter snow enthusiasts hobbled on crutches to the Christmas formal, the Ski Lodge, while numerous other informal dancing, bridge and ping-pong parties took precedence over weekend homework.

HILGARD GALS were frequently seen throughout Kerckhoff hall with members on the rosters of honoraries Alpha Delta Chi, Alpha Mu Gamma, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Sigma Alpha Iota and Zeta Phi Eta. Wilma Fledderman, Ruth Gardner and Peggy Lopez held seats on Senior council while Pat Breitsprecher took notes at Inter-dorm meetings. Ruth Gardner lent a hand to Rally committee and AWS activity board and Betty Underwood served in the Great Bruin band. Bev Churchill's outstanding dramatic talents were used to advantage in numerous Campus theater productions.

Members of Hilgard club who found themselves unable to get a lift from one of the three cars housed in their trio of garages found the long trek up the hill to class a hard one.

Neva hall is the quiet, serene home of many Bruinites where they can get away from the hustle and bustle of campus life . . . except during the months when school is in session.

SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY was the keynote of Neva hall in all its many activities whether they were social affairs or house functions. In December the girls presented their Southern formal. Keeping with the Dixie theme they held a Moonlight and Magnolias dance in the spring. A Christmas Pajamarino, Halloween dance, teas, beach parties and bridal showers managed to keep every free hour occupied.

NOT ALWAYS SOCIAL, but taking an interest in college organizations were members of Neva such as Alice Spahr, activity chairman of the Red Cross, Judy Smith, member of the Flying club and Joyce Stoddard, an all-around enthusiast for URA activities of all kinds.

DOUBLE LEADERS for the year were fall prexy Joyce Stoddard and spring leader Joan Glanzer. Helena Clemensen put her brain power to work on arranging the social calendar. Under the guidance of their capable leaders Neva hall had a full and active year of achievement.

HOUSE SOCIALS such as exchange and community dinners, the Mother's day tea, and the Christmas dinner were but a few of the numerous events presented by members of Rudy hall.

WHEELS, WHEELS, WHEELS . . . Rudy had more than its share. In addition to claiming presidents of Toastmistress and Inter-dorm council, the hall had many active members in Spurs, Key and Scroll, Mortar Board and YWCA. Others spent their spare time planning the activities of MAC, Westminister, Wesley and URA. Leading the list of well-known personalities were honor students Wilma Dornan and Leona Jenner.

FALL AND SPRING sessions at Rudy were headed by Lucy Martin and Mardys Whiteman who had Joanne Adams and Jo Boss as vice presidents. It was the duty of these officers to plan and arrange all hall activities and keep operations running smoothly, which they did in top notch style.

To enjoy living Southern California style in a Spanish type hacienda surrounded by tropical palm trees students choose Rudy hall as their home away from home.

WITCHES AND GOBLINS inhabited Douglass hall during the Pumpkin Promenade costume ball. During the semester pumpkins were exchanged for snowballs and the members presented their Christmas formal, where couples swayed in a make-believe "frozen winter" atmosphere.

SNOWBALLS MELTED in time for several water pourings. Mary Ninnis and Carolyn Torrey announced their pinnings to Gene Freeman, Sigma Nu, and Lou Walters, Theta Chi. Marilyn Doss passed chocolates for "Army" and Jo Ann Christianson announced her engagement to Phi Delt Jim Cozens.

SPOTLIGHTS shone on activity girls Pat White, member of Senior council, Lorna Pittam, president of the French club, and Marge Crapster and Joan Kelley who braved the "wild waves" to earn membership in Tiller and Sail.

twin pines coop

THIRD BIRTHDAY celebration echoed through the halls of Twin Pines on June 15 when the forty members embarked on their fourth year at UCLA. In addition to holding their annual Winter formal and a spring Cotton and Cord dance the group presented a candlelight initiation dinner.

ONE OF THE MANY queens at Twin Pines was Rosemarie St. Marie who was attendant at the Sigma Chi Sweetheart dance. Marguerite Thorne spent her time on the Executive board of AWS and with the Red Cross, and was honored with membership in Prytanean. Audrey Cererghino claimed title to a spot in the Bruin music honorary, SAI. Gaining an award in a UCLA original dress design contest was Rene Zukor while the coop garnered a special honor in the AWS doll contest.

GUIDING DESTINIES of 856 Hilgard were fall president Margaret Chapman and spring leader Marguerite Thorne. Aiding the chiefs were vice-presidents Shirley Shapiro and Jane Groman. If future years follow the past, Twin Pines will become an even more prominent organization on the Bruin campus.

Noted for their campus spirit, those of Twin Pines Coop always found time to be active in Bruin events on the social or study side.

MEET YCUR CAMPUS night at Westwood hall brought forth one of the largest collections of women wheels ever to be seen away from Kerckhoff hall. AMS was the only major organization not to find representation as the dorm girls got the word on how to make the activity grade at UCLA. Guest night was not the only excuse for party time as Westwood hall greeted spring with a Cotton Capers dance and saluted every month with a bridge party, pajama party or old-time vaudeville show.

ON THE SIDE dorm members soon found studies interfering with their social and activity life. Never letting a bluebook come between them and Kerckhoff hall were Dorm council president Barbara Abrams and Henri Lopez, head of AWS leadership training. Campus theater claimed the talents of Norma Platt and Yvette Veder while the Junior honorary, Key and Scroll, tapped Barbara Greenstone, OCB board member and Lyn Linden, Homecoming assistant parade chairman and student government editor of Southern Campus. Sophomore council meetings attracted Norma Yingling, while the Junior council roster listed Lyn Linden and Henri Lopez.

WELL VERSED in parliamentary procedure and dormitory dealings were house President Barbara Abrams, Vice-President Jo Friedmar, Secretary Lyn Linden and Treasurer Norma Platt.

Girls at Westwood hall have the advantage of being close to village theatres, stores, and soda fountains, but just too far from their eight o'clock classes in Royce hall.

Always the center of activity, the Y Coop manages to occupy the majority of its member's spare time with varied social and educational programs.

SELF-SUFFICIENT is a word fitting both the Y-coop as a whole and also each individual member in this unique organization. A spirit of unity and friendliness makes it possible for the group to partake in many phases of life, social, educational and scholastic.

DISTINCTIVE TRADITIONS which highlighted the social program of the coop were the pledge-active exchange dinners, the Winter and Spring formals, and the Beach party. Filling up empty week-ends were such social events as mountain trips, beach parties and picnics. Before and after dinner the thirty-two women members who reside at the coop and the thirty men who board there find time to socialize and make plans for operating the organization.

LEADERS ALL were the guiding lights of the Y-coop who headed its program during the year. Lloyde Moss and Jack Shaw were presidents and Irene Manzana and Margaret Echols acted as vice-presidents. The important job of balancing the books belonged to Joe De Sena and Solace Smith. Helping to tie all loose ends together and make the Y-coop a perfect functioning group was the job of Miss Mary Miller, residence advisor.

STUDENT WOMEN on campus, thirty-four in number, daily climb the stairs to Winslow Arms, their home away from home. Living in separate apartments, the girls do their own cooking and other household duties. Winslow members took an active interest in the many Bruin extra curricular projects among which were intramurals, Red Cross and Campus Chest.

UNI-CAMP DRIVE benefited by a sizeable sum due to the unique apartment competition contest held to raise funds for the event. Under the gavel wielding of presidents Alice Christoffer and Shirley Sowden, Winslow Arms was well represented on Dorm council and on many other UCLA boards and organizations. Adding her charming personality to the apartments was House Mother Mrs. Brown who also kept interest high in the workings of the unit.

Summer ended and once more back to the books and the trials of registration. Organizations try to snatch members on the first day, but the ASUCLA tops them all with a signup of 12,500.

Hurry up here so you can wait there . . . old students are cynical and resigned, new ones bewildered and tired. Faces brighten with the inevitable rumor that next year registration might be done by mail.

Does anyone know a five letter word for registration? L-i-n-e-s. The uninitiated and complaining should have experienced the unforgettable overnight lines of past years.

Any resemblance to Joe Bruin and the face on the ASUCLA membership card is not coincidental. But just loan the card to a fraternity brother and dare him to get in the gate.

Giving the all important "word about UCLA" to frosh and new students is the job of the Orientation committee. A new Bruin is advised by a student counselor, a low sophomore, wise in the ways of campus life.

How do you do . . . so nice you could come. Are you on my dance program? UCLA is not too big nor the President and Provost too busy to extend to each newcomer a personal welcome at the President's reception.

All-University leaders President and Mrs. Sproul, Dean and Mrs. Hahn and Dean Rhulman greet dazzled new students and favored Bruins going down the receiving line.

Up and down the row friends, families and fraternity men went from house to house eyeing the sorority lines. Smiles, pastel formals, bouquets and pledge pins created the pattern that is "Presents."

Crowds, crowds, everywhere . . . and not a place to park. It's the same every year with crowded houses like Alpha Phi whose pledges' stocking feet are hidden by their long formals.

"May I present" . . . at the ADPI house an even faster than usual rate of activity prevailed. How-do-you-do is shortened to "hi" by the end of the evening as late date time arrives.

Thoughtful escorts guide their dates down the steep Hilgard hill . . . through tight groups of old friends, past lost-looking pledges . . . everyone greets Trojans from crosstown who have come to see how the better half lives.

inter-

There was always the view, the pier or the roller coaster for those who tired of the smooth Dorsey rhythm.

Jimmy Dorsey and company give their all for Bruin's dancing and listening pleasure. There was little rest for the man with the baton who had to keep pace with the dancers.

Ken Nichols and his dance committee persuaded Jimmy to stop waving his finger before the camera long enough to play for the event.

Fraternity men and their dates enjoyed the Dorsey solos. "Cosmopolitan" Casino Gardens provided the setting for the all-Greek affair.

Three Sigma Chi brothers, after fighting a mile long traffic jam on the famed "Speedway boulevard" relaxed with their dates between dances.

More exciting than the Homecoming game was the "Battle of the Banners." That day was definitely not ours as we came out on the short end in both tilts, but we did place one of our prizes on the facade of Kerchoff Hall.

After the game Alumni got together at the Biltmore hotel for their annual dance . . . they forgot their troubles by listening to Jim Cook's speeches and getting a close look at Queen Jackie Wagoner and her court.

Village Day offered Bruins free coffee and doughnuts served on campus. Nancy Haney sped early morning refreshments to Bruins who didn't have time to remember breakfast.

City lights furnished a background for the pounding feet of Bruins dancing on LeConte pavement at the village street dance. Chuck Cabot's music made it worthwhile to take a night off and stay in the Village.

Westwood awakened to the fact that it was a college town when Sherrill Luke rallied UCLA spirit around him in an informal procession through the streets. After cutting classes all week for decorating floats and painting posters, one more cut seemed in order for everyone.

Wheelbarrow races and three legged sprints highlighted the annual alumni picnic on Joe E. Brown field. Alums recall undergraduate days during the get-together . . . the opening event of Homecoming week.

"Greatest Homecoming show on earth" . . . would have left Barnum and Bailey breathless. Every seat in Royce auditorium was filled with Bruins displaying growing Homecoming spirit led by Jimmy Higson and his Dixieland band.

Smiles of queens. Jackie Wagoner in the center of her court between Jo Ann Heckert, Kathy Dinsmore, Cathy Raymond, and June Warner is all aglow after being named Homecoming queen at the Royce hall judging contest.

Crossed sabers of Scabbard and Blade provided the proper regal atmosphere as Queen Jackie and her attendants ascend to their places of honor. After the eventful week, it was back to the routine of classes for these pretty lasses.

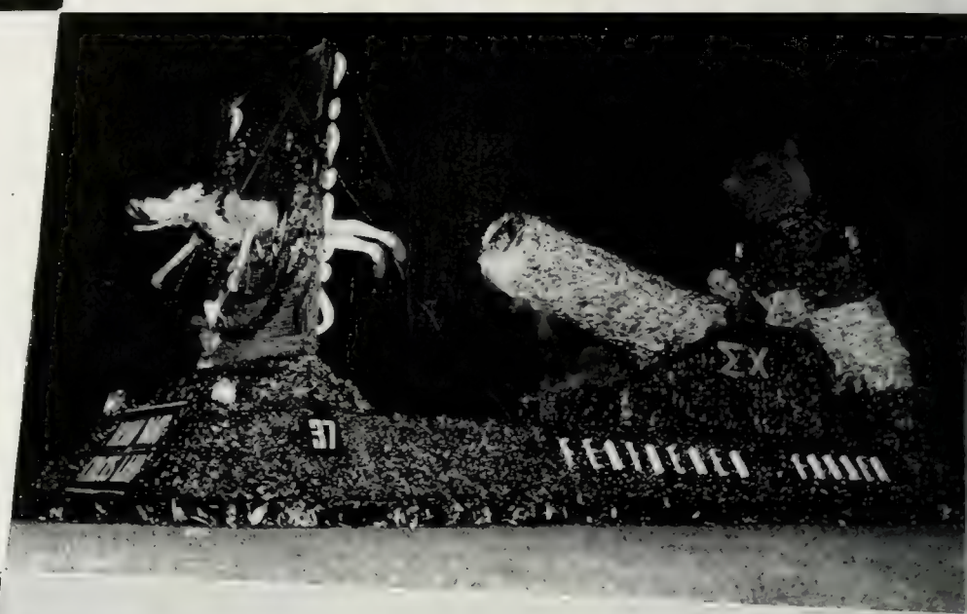

Down at the station early in the morning . . . parade judges awarded the clever hot-rod powered ADPi choo-choo train honorable mention after its trip through the Greek Theater and Village streets.

"Greatest blow on earth" is dealt the Stanford Indian by the Bruin elephant on Alpha Tau Omega's entry. Fraternity pledges worked hard and long and received the most humorous award for their effort.

Sigma Chi received the theme prize with their sparkling production. The Stanford Indian shared honors with a famous breakfast cereal which is shot from guns, the big Bruin acting as triggermaster.

Lambda Chi Alpha's shining merry-go-round of campus beauties . . . not members . . . won Village spectators' approval. The kisses they threw were only candy . . . but the crowds appreciated them just the same.

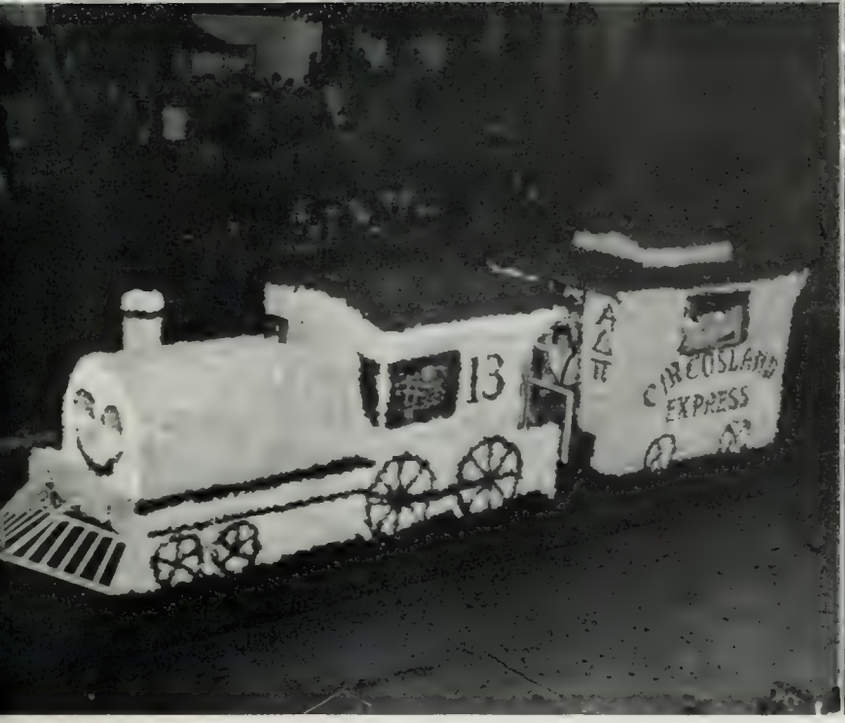

Bruins welcomed the return this year of the traditional Homecoming bonfire. The blaze capped spirited pre-game activities.

injun band in bruin land

And the blocks came tumbling down . . . Delta Delta Delta had an honorable mention ribbon placed on their clever "Injun upset-Bruin all set" entry.

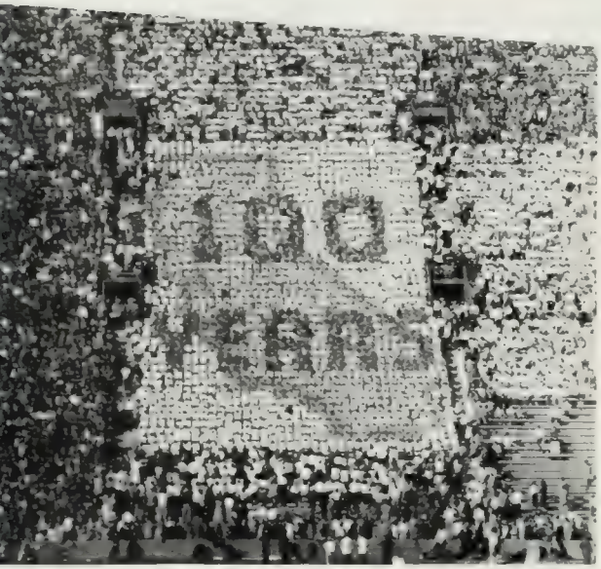

Wolf calls and whistles were long, loud, and low from the SC rooters when they greeted the appearance of the Queen's picture in the Bruin card section.

98 . . . 99 . . . 100 . . . not points scored by UCLA against the cross-towners, but the years since the discovery of gold in California.

California history is old stuff when the '49er, symbolic of the Golden State, comes up to introduce the anniversary series.

One, two, three . . . up comes Old Glory and beneath it the flag of the California Bear Republic in an impressive Rally committee stunt.

On to California! Trappers and woodsmen Tennant and Miller herald the spirit of '49 . . . complete with shovels, picks, and friends.

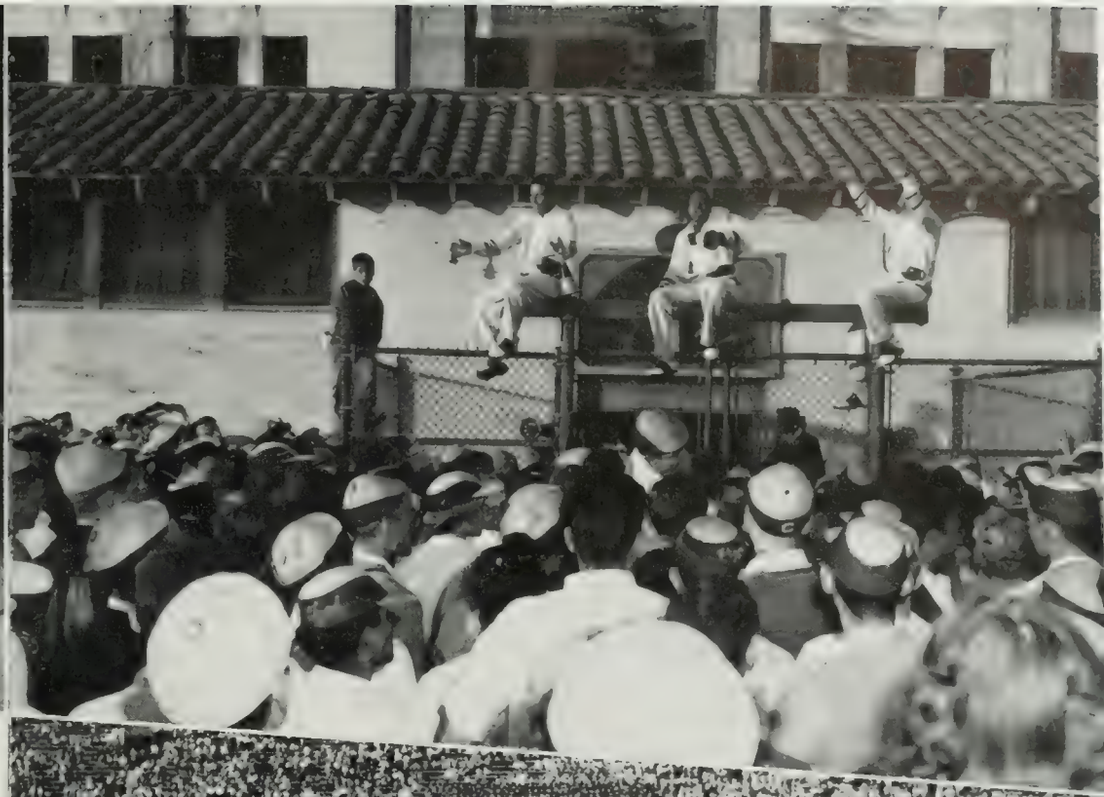

rah!

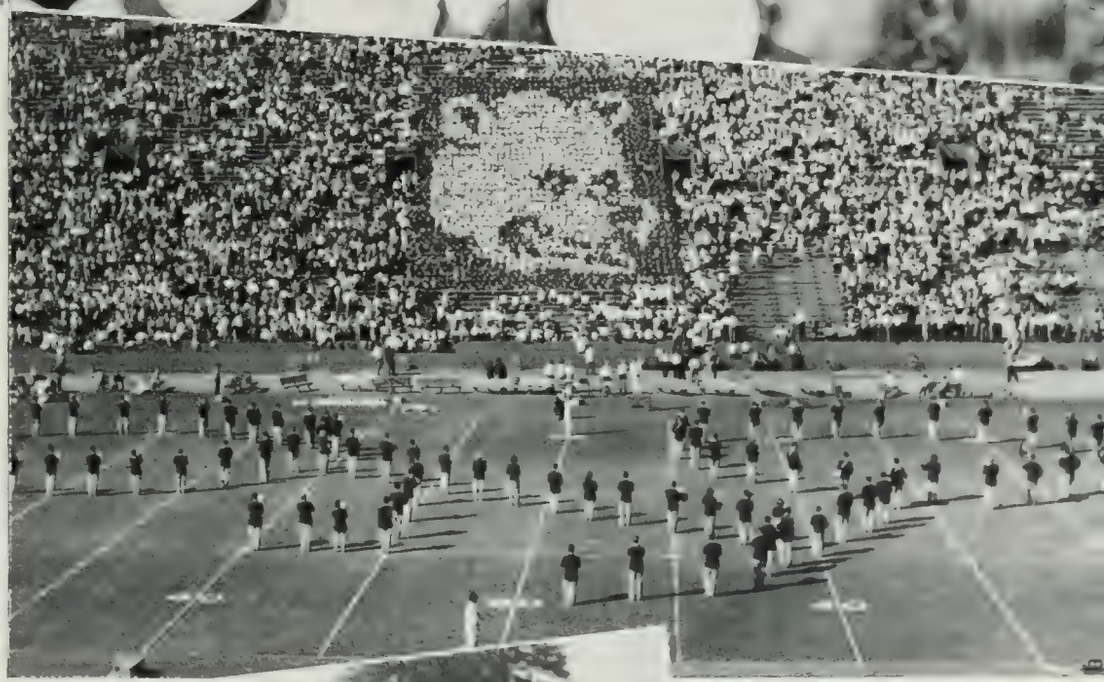

"Hail blue and gold. In proud acclaim . . . " after the game singing of the Alma Mater and a final yell put the climax on many a win or loss for Bruin teams.

Before entering the "great bowl" the band in their snappy two-tone uniforms held last minute rehearsals so their "big play" for UCLA fans would be perfect.

Spirit at its greatest . . . rooters, bands, rallies, and parades all compose the football season. The Northwestern rally found UCLA boosters out in full force.

Dressing room rallies made their appearance before and after hard fought games. Win or lose the rooters were always there to give an added yell for the players and coaches.

Greater than ever this year, the Bruin band kept rooters singing from October to December and had them cheering their precise marching stunts on the field during half time.

Rah!

Went down to the station just to meet the 12: 02 . . . students started on the greatest fling of the year, Cal weekend. Indispensable equipment included texts, pom-poms, and top coats.

Oh to be a graduate manager . . . and have the train named after you. Even Regent Bob Fellows and Mr. "A" aren't too busy for the Cal game.

Knit two, rip two . . . Bruins found many ways to pass time on the trip north and back . . . sleeping, playing cards, or keeping everyone awake with, "They had to carry Harry . . ."

Oskie, the pride of Berkeley, making his usual appearance at Cal's pre-game ceremonies, is giving "lil brother Bruin" a bad time . . . Oskie seemed to think Joe needed a diaper change.

Southern campus visitors in the north found time to stop and admire Cal's famous landmark, the Campanile, before the two o'clock whistle started the game.

This is it . . . the greatest spirit anyone from Westwood ever remembers hearing. Bruins who deserted their seats for a post-game serenade surprised even themselves with their noise.

California's men assembled during half time to escort President Sproul to the opposite side of the playing field. The President's impartiality in the big game is traditional.

"Go, you Bruins . . . " UCLA's student body, after a long ride up by train, bus, and car still found they could give out with the well-known "college spirit" at the pajamarino night rally.

Making mud pies gals? Frosh and soph women cross the finish line the hard way. Lower class enthusiasm at its highest this year, reminded oldtimers of pre-war spirit.

You've got to be best to be first! Frosh prexy Murphy crowns the lucky couple who reigned as freshman King and Queen.

Those shining green numerals stenciled on the levis were better than a free ticket to Men's week. They entitled women to enter the coop, men to receive free pipes and freshmen the privilege of participating in the brawl.

Remember the ring toss game? . . . Object, to toss the opposition out! Fourteen frosh kept their places inside the circle until the end of one of the muddiest battles in history.

Ten-minute-wonder-rallies every morning during the week brought spirit to a climax . . . then Tommy Trojan turned blue . . . from a paint job by Yell leader Dave Leanse.

Plans for the future . . . freshmen displayed their disgust at the lack of daily entertainment in the coop, so on freshmen day they imported their own . . . swoon vocalist and all.

brawl

Bloodiest and muddiest event in the November brawl was the circle fight. The frosh took top honors proving their strength and determination.

"Guests in the house? . . . the uninvited were members of AWS who crashed the all-male smoker during their "mess up Men's week" campaign. Friendly rivalry later developed into a fifty-shot water gun fight.

winter

Snow fell on the campus to put the finishing touch on a season of winter activities filled with the Junior Prom, All-U sings and recreationals.

Promgoers tried out their dancing slippers on the floor of the Diamond Horseshoe, where nine square feet of dancing space per couple prevailed . . . if the walls and ceiling were included in the total.

Surrounded by orchids, prom dignitaries and bid buyers Queen Rosemarie Fehlman took home a rhinestone crown and rated a serenade from her sponsoring fraternity, Sigma Pi.

At a table for six in one of the fashionable clubs on the Great White Way . . . second floor of the Chase Hotel . . . students took time out to soak up refreshments and some New York atmosphere.

By the thousands they flocked to the Junior Prom, as Les Brown and his band of renown provided the background for a "Night on Broadway."

Mellow music, sophisticated Manhattan decor, a coronation and cigarette girls too. . . . Andy Anderson and his dance committee didn't overlook any details in carrying out their theme.

"I give up, he's been down at the bar ever since . . ." A few lucky people found a place to sit down while the boy friend toured the sights on "Broadway."

The tables were crowded, the floor was crowded . . . but few Bruins ever attended a Junior Prom that wasn't. It wouldn't have had that night club atmosphere without all those people and prospective Arthur Murray dancers.

Finalists in the prom queen contest were: Aileen Lehto, Miss Theta Delta Chi; Lu Ann Lyen, Miss Beta Theta Pi; Rosemarie Fehlman, Miss Sigma Pi; Phyllis Carlson, Miss Phi Delta Theta; and Gloria Jo Sams, Miss Lambda Chi Alpha.

Music, drama, jokes, Sonny Tufts too. . . . . All-U sing staff again helped Bruin pocketbooks by presenting many evenings of free entertainment.

A tree in the meadow . . . Margaret Whiting sings her favorite song and also a few requests from the boys in the front row. More stars, and more student talent were the plans of the All-U sing committee. Better put in your bid for a place in those long lines early.

one

Christmas comes but once a year, bringing happiness and cheer . . . and cheer everyone did as the revived tradition of a Christmas serenade for Dr. and Mrs. Dykstra topped a sing performance.

Not an instruction group for mastering the "new" dance step, the Charleston, but a preview of the Trojan team Bert LaBrucherie hoped to meet the next day in the Coliseum. Although the Friday night sing ran as scheduled, the SC squad did not.

Stag or drag . . . everyone shows up at the recs to socialize and practice the "raspa." If the gym floor holds out, recreationals can be enjoyed by future students, too.

After dinner fun-time makes a cafe meal more enjoyable for Bruins who relax before making their trek over to the rec and a big evening of entertainment.

"Five six, pick up sticks . . . " for students of the college level a game of pick up sticks or checkers is just the thing to relieve blue book blues.

A substitution for Sorrento . . . the volleyball courts allow frustrated beach hounds to keep in shape during the winter months at URA recs.

night stands

The night before the morning after? . . . No it's just the Three Cards demonstrating their famous brand of humor before a sing audience, which showed their appreciation by calling for a repeat.

Finalists in the Junior Prom contest display their talent to the eager people, who, after cramming Royce hall for a look-see, cast votes for their choice when buying a bid for a "Night on Broadway." Rosmarie Fehlman, Miss Sigma Pi, walked off with top honors.

Coop atmosphere equals characters, coffee and cliques, but no chairs. This favorite Bruin hangout even compares favorably with its nearest rival, a dignified establishment on Pico Boulevard owned by a gentleman named Pete.

Ah . . . Chocolate soda, two cokes . . . while a friend saves a table Bruins line up for liquid refreshments to sip over the books. Cigarettes and gossip are fine ways to while away class time.

At ten minutes to four, they sweep up the floor . . . and sweep out the characters. The coop looks empty and tired now but tomorrow morning at nine it'll be time to shine again.

Study time . . . a quick seminar before the big exam. But it's hard to study with all the distractions that prevail in the "fun room."

Potential Phi Bates please professors with the wide background which they naturally acquire in the main library reading room.

A good place to go . . . to help the girl friend before her test . . . make up crib notes or sleep over a thick, heavy book. Bruins really welcomed the new library wing.

study time

It may take a little time, but the library staff always gets the book you want . . . if someone hasn't turned eager and already checked it out. Instead of more buildings, maybe more books are needed.

Bruin organizations topped off the spring with the harmonious inter-group sing, sponsored by AMS.

"Congratulations," said President Sproul as he conferred an hononary LLD degree on Viscount Harold R. L. G. Alexander following his address campus during the eighty-first Charter day celebration.

Smooth music in keeping with the blue and silver background was provided by Carroll Wax and his orchestra . . . while downstairs a lively combo furnished jive for the more athletic couples.

To a fine educator . . . the University honored Professor William A. Nitze, retired member of the UCLA French department with a LLD. Also receiving an honorary degree was Henry R. Wagner, collector and author.

Moods in Blue definitely did not apply to the mental state of the Bruins who attended . . . thank goodness some students found a better place than the dance floor to carry on a conversation.

Donning academic robes for the impressive processional, more than 150 faculty and university officials marched into Royce hall. They were merely a part of the great staff of 12,000 who taught 43,000 students in a university that 81 years ago was a small Berkeley college.

Viscount Alexander, Governor-general of Canada and veteran of two wars, saw in the Atlantic pact, then in preparation, a way to protect "the heritage which our forebears have handed down to us." Later President Sproul presented him with his eighteenth honorary degree.

frosh-soph informal

Forgetting the rivalry of the brawl, Frosh and Sophs worked together to present Moods in Blue. The balmy spring night and new football coach Red Sanders, his staff and their wives, brought a large crowd to the Riviera Country club to dance under twinkling stars set in the ceiling.

The night was balmy and couples drifted onto the balcony to cool off. The dance began on the last day of winter, and ended an hour after dancers saw spring come in . . . what could be a better welcome.

Frosh President Bud Murphy stood by, oblivious to it all while Captain Sherwood Simpson presented orchids to starlet June Fulton, Rugby queen . . . maybe he was just inspired by the moment.

"Where do we go? . . . " and who could have told them better than Bill Johnston, DU, who handled all the reservations for the first Pan-hellenic-Interfraternity councils combined blowout at the Palladium.

Two Lambda Chis and their dates look forward to a gay evening . . . judging from the expressions on their faces, they must have gotten a head start at one of the many pre-parties . . . another Greek tradition at which the god, Dionysus, is honored.

Bruins . . . with laughing, devil may care expressions . . . began to arrive at 8 o'clock to take advantage of the really large dance floor . . . 9½ square feet . . . a rarity at Bruin parties. Arrangers for the affair were Warren Palmer, Nancy Baker, Pat McKenna, Paul Simqu, Joyce Lampman and Bill Johnston.

The large turnout for the informal included many faculty members. Among the group was Professor Knootz of the history department and his wife, who sponsored the event. Dick Coleman, Sigma Pi, and Dot Campbell, Alpha Chi, undoubtedly got A's in history this semester.

At the Sigma Chi table flashing smiles almost outflashed the flash bulb. The party goers took time out for refreshments, conversation and enjoyment of the old fraternal "spirit." All in all, enough liquid was consumed to fill the Gulf of Corinth . . . boy! was it a party.

Dancers made good use of the 40,000 square feet of dancing space, and a "walkathon" was prevented only by ending the festivities at one a.m. Contrast this to many parties where dancing consists of sporadic efforts to find a Thermopylaean pass through a dangerous and ever changing terrain.

greek informal

Blow, Gabriel, blow . . . trumpeter Roy Eldridge delighted crowd and band members alike as he poured hot notes into the air. Bill Black and Dolores Hawkins were the smiling vocalists of the newly organized band of ace drummerman, Gene Krupa.

Bruins left the wide open spaces and crowded near the bandstand to witness one of Mr. Krupa's spectacular displays of drum virtuosity . . . with skill and exhaustive speed rivaling those of the Marathon runner, he entertained the modern Greeks.

Bright and early . . . with fog and smog . . . the first boats left the Wilmington pier for Avalon. Early arrivers were the lucky (?) Bruins to ride in the luxurious double decker, Estrella, while others had a rougher time in prosaic water taxis.

After regaining their land legs, one of the first places visited by Bruins at Catalina were the cages full of strange and colorful birds . . . the birds spent many enjoyable hours staring at the many strange and colorful people.

The Cub's ball park was the scene of the Frosh-Soph interclass baseball game, a rally, a wheelbarrow race, lunching and above all loafing . . . with a background of trees and portable radios it was just like the lawn of the Men's gym.

Streets of the island took on a collegiate atmosphere as some 675 Bruin bid buyers moved in for the day. One of the important diversions consisted of merely wandering through town in twos and threes, seeing who was or wasn't there.

Night fell, taxis began carrying Bruins back to the mainland, and the last of the "one-day vacationeers" ieft Avalon to wait on the pier for a ride home . . . as Monday morning neared, thoughts of neglected books crowded out pleasant memories of the day.

Life on a water taxi . . . crowded but gay . . . singing broke out spontaneously, and occasionally some potential Fred Waring made an attempt to get the whole crowd to sing together as they traveled on to Avalon.

Ten men, a ball and a net made a sand-churning combination on a Catalina beach. Other Bruins braved the cold pounding surf . . . both good ways to work up an appetite for dinner at Arno's Sea food grotto. Dinner and dancing rounded out a wonderful trip.

Dancing at the Casino was a good way to top off the strenuous day of activities all planned by co-chairmen Bob Koenig and Jackie Wagoner and the Junior Class council . . . to them goes the credit for putting over one of the year's most successful events.

Straight from the Ozarks . . . except for a short detour to pick up the formal clothes. The Sigma Chi "hog wallerin' " group rendered "Oh Mona" and other tunes and insured themselves the novelty group trophy.

SAE's "Low Lands" pleased even the most stubborn of landlubbers and added the men's division trophy to their mantel. Where did all those "whites" come from . . . bet the laundry bill would have bought several cases.

Southlanders were losers when plans to televise the Spring sing were cancelled. The winners appeared on a Sunday television program to make up for it. The chattering teeth of those that attended in person formed a nice background for the singing groups.

"Nellie! . . . we sang that last year . . . " the Junior council novelty group almost forgot themselves, but their "Make a Miracle" won them second place in the division . . . even though "Nellie," dusters, dark glasses and a car of 1906 vintage got into the act.

Oh those smoothies . . . and the hats didn't even have tops . . . Phi Delta Theta harmonized with night club smoothness and won rounds of applause. There wasn't a tux left on fraternity row that night.

Millie Mauldin led Alpha Phi through to second place in the women's division. Outfitted with multi-colored scarves, they brought down the house with their fantasy from Snow White and an original sorority good night song.

The Tri Delts weren't too far away to win the women's division and sweepstakes trophies with their tuneful trip around the world to "Far Away Places." Looks like the girls will have to buy another trophy case to keep those big cups in.

"Gad! are we collegiate . . . " the Beta brothers changed since last year . . . but no . . . it was merely the TRolLs, wisely hidden behind dark glasses, singing . . . word used loosely . . . a medley of fraternity songs, with new words. Barbara Morrison didn't kill the emcee with the Cad . . . she tried.

mardi gras

There they go . . . spectators gathered at sidelines and placed bets at the exciting frog races. A fan shaped track helped the entrants who couldn't tell which way was north. The only things missing . . . an electric starting gate and Joe Hernandez.

Bruins wracked their brains for clever costume ideas . . . and it paid off. Those who came in street clothes found themselves in jail . . . until they paid a fine . . . you figure out just what kind of cats these were. Probably an almost extinct species.

Smells . . . colors . . . noise . . . there was more than one way to sell sno-cones . . . if the crowd didn't buy, they were clubbed into submission by the barkers. Profits from the annual Mardi Gras helped send underprivileged children to University camp this summer.

Something on the side was this combo with its smooth music . . . obviously they went to great trouble with stage decorations, being careful to include a paper cup on the roof. It was hard to understand why most of the crowd preferred dancing to orchestra music inside.

Delta Gams and Lambda Chis did a land office business in brides and grooms at the Church of the Square, successful successor to last year's Hitching Post . . . with the ceremony came a "just married" sign, marriage certificate, rice and all privileges and immunities . . . until two a.m.

Inside the Church of the Square, a dignified and impressive ceremony was read by a minister in a formal coat . . . typical groom's costume included tight white sweater and perky black headdress. Many couples went through the ceremony twice . . . just to make sure the knot was tied.

A romantic note was struck by the tunnel of love, kiss-o-meter, and wedding chapel . . . every facility of the women's gym was put to good use. An extra convenience of the tunnel of love was that if things got too hot on the raft one could always go for a short swim.

First stop after the wedding . . . the reception booth near the church, and carrying out the Mardi Gras atmosphere New Orleans pralines were sold. Another note . . . wintry weather . . . May in Southern California. Just wait until the Chamber of Commerce hears about this.

Sweet revenge . . . long hours of waiting and sitting for Southern Campus pictures were avenged. Judging from the number of dart freckles Frank Manning acquired, some students must have been bitter . . . or they were just eager to make a generous University camp contribution.

Mary Lou McCann and Lyn Linden tapped for Key and Scroll at the May 19 Activity banquet . . . what throes of artistic creation must have gone into that lettering.

No, they weren't insane, just competing for the "Troll for a day" title . . . the horse holds a doctor's degree in psychology . . . wonder what Buck thought of this?

Head table at the banquet sported trophies and such dignitaries as Margie Hellman, Dorothy Wright, Barbara Savory and Dean Jessie Rhulman.

A harried house mother (Ralph Schaefer) had fits in the Scop melodrama, only non-women's group performing in the show . . . someone forgot to tell her (him) about the new look.

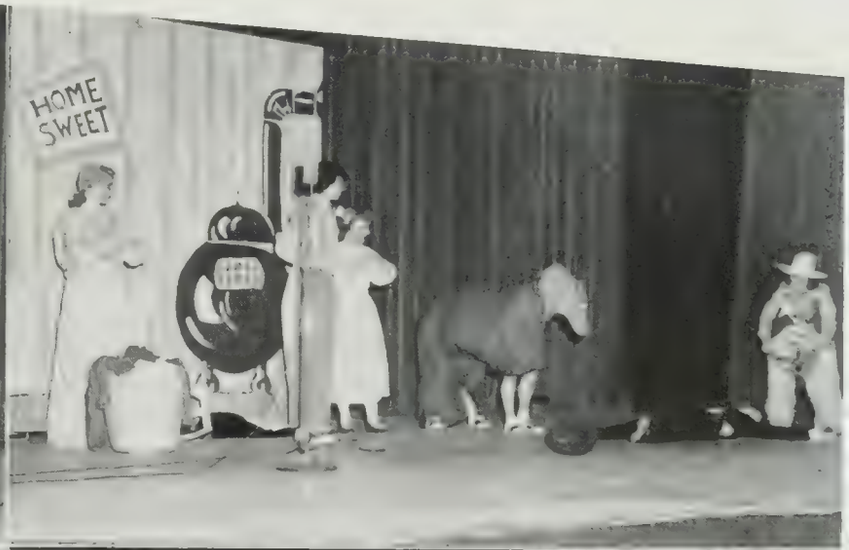

Bizet turned over in his grave as Tri Delts gave their version of Carmen at the Hi Jinx show, attended by more than 600 women and two men . . . the only ones to violate Women's week sanctity.

If it hadn't been for the sheriff, this could have passed for "The Skin of Our Teeth." AEPhis won for originality, Phi Mus for humor and Alpha Xis walked off with the sweepstakes trophy of the Hi-Jinx show.

Men have pipes during Men's week, so it was only natural that Spurs should distribute them . . . licorice variety . . . during Women's week. No blue jeans-plaid shirt costume was complete without one.

Spurs, Key and Scroll and Mortar Board all tap their members, but TRollLs, splendid in their sheets and paper cups, are forced to trap theirs with a king size mallet . . . oh my aching cranium.

Polls in Royce hall were an innovation by this year's Elections board . . . but they saved more travel than time, because after leaving the bright sun voters had to wade through almost 80 candidates' names in the deep gloom of the booths in the balcony above the foyer.

Victor in a record vote of 5140, Luke was momentarily speechless when notified of final election returns. Next year's ASUCLA president was a leading campus personality this year also . . . who will forget Sherrill "crispy, crunchy" Luke, head yell leader.

The artistic side of campaigning was most evident along Kerckhoff walk . . . gay posters shut off the view of the dull surrounding landscape and peppy songs and yells filled the air. If students merely grabbed their Bruins and ran, the campaign enthusiasts entertained each other.

Friends, Romans, countrymen . . . at the top of Janss steps presidential finalists, Don Hovey and Sherrill Luke answered queries on the hot campaign issues, regulation 17, discrimination and student housing.

Good voting weather and the most activity minded student body in years brought a record turnout to the polls. With two days of voting in prelims — lines were shorter . . . but voters still looked bewildered and wondered . . . "Where's my ASUCLA card?"

"And this man will make school spirit rise from the dead . . . " supporters of Dave Leanse for head yell king put on a real hullabaloo campaign, with props et al. The candidate himself, with raccoon coat and jaunty hat, was the star of the show.

Elections committee spent many long hours counting the largest vote in ASUCLA's history . . . but as a reward, they ate steak and were the first to hear the results of the tabulations. Many kudos to the Elections committee for its honest and efficient handling of the ballots.

Time out for refreshments . . . the tropical hut was the gathering place for Bruins between dances. Lucky fellow . . . he talked his friend into buying the punch while he entertained the two beautiful girls.

Queen and princesses . . . Starlight Tropicana bid buyers chose them from the nine finalists. Jeanne Fisher won the hearts and votes of most, followed by attendants Marilyn Manville, Joan Schudder, Lois Quinn and Marjorie Beran.

starlight tropicana

Stars in her eyes to match the stars in the skies and the starlight theme of the dance, Queen Jeanee Fisher, DG, in her crown of orchids, danced with fiance, Johnny Ehrlichman, Kappa Sig, to the symphonic swing of Dave Rose and his orchestra.

Funnyman Bob Hope crowned the queen . . . and, of course, made with a few clever quips. He was presented with an honorary ASUCLA card, and service certificate, as was Dave Rose, traditional Tropicana music maker.

Shimmering fountains . . . lush foliage . . . fragrant flowers . . . all became a part of the tropical scene. Unusual lighting effects and glistening bubbles floating over the crowd cast an exotic atmosphere over the whole setting.

Final salute to the carefree pre-exam days . . . the 1949 Starlight Tropicana was the kind of dance one wants to last until late, and with post parties filling out the evening, the three a. m. lockout was none too late.

The queen and her court and their dates sat one out in regal style. Cancelled last year because of insufficient funds, the '49 event was efficiently handled by Kathy Holser and Jerry Prell, co-chairmen.

Dramatic entrance to the dance was down flower bedecked Janss steps . . . 2,500 Bruins attended the event, the highlight of the social season. What's the matter George, miss one of the pre-parties?

Carpeted with students . . . the quad resounded with the words of President Bob, as he gave advice to one part of his large family of Californians.

Men of California . . . administrators and students paid honor to UCLA's Olympic participants, George Stanich and Craig Dixon . . . "our Alma Mater rejoices."

"And this entitles you to 50 yard line seats . . . " how lucky could a president be? President Sproul received his engraved ASCULA card from another leader . . . top man Keene.

Put up temporary buildings . . . tear them out a month later . . . dig a hole . . . move a hill . . . and the new home for the unit laden engineers appeared on the always growing campus scene.

The pinkish brick of the Italian Renaissance buildings, the gree of lawns, the blue of the southland skies and the soft gray of th hills to the west . . . "California of the South."

From money tossed on the old victory flag, came funds for the new flag in memory of A. J. Sturzenegger, who passed away during the semester with 25 years of school service to his credit.

Dedicated to the memory of A. J. Sturzenegger . . . " a new gleaming white victory flag will symbolize the conquering Bruins. Sturzy's two daughters Joanne and June dedicated the flag this spring.

Hard running and long passes won the outstanding intramural football player award for George Kaufmann, Fiji. George Mair, All-U sing head, did the honor up right.

"Hail to California . . . " symbolic of the southern campus of the university, the towers of Royce and the dome of the Library majestically crown the golden hills of Westwood.

Heads bowed as the professor passed . . . up and down the aisles patrolled the proctors. Agonized groans . . . he wasn't supposed to ask that . . . where's that coin . . . heads . . . it's false.

Usually a good place to make dates and meet old friends, the main reading room of the library was silent as a tomb during finals . . . a good place to read the three philosophy textbooks that the semester didn't leave time to finish.

The clock ticked slowly, but still too fast . . . the proctor wandered up and down the aisles . . . pens scratched and ran out of ink. It was a six hour exam and you had three hours to write it. Afterwards . . . another quart of coffee.

"Neanderthal man lived in the . . . what era was that" . . . a quick soda, a cup of coffee . . . a few last minutes of cramming, then off to the gallows. For two weeks of each semester, books were actually opened in the coop.

Proctors explained the questions thoroughly . . . and then they were even less understandable . . . of course distracting their eagle eyes gave the boy on the right a good chance to look at someone else's paper.

Inside . . . outside . . . all around the campus . . . people studying, but then it had to be done sometime during the semester . . . at least the profs seemed to think so. But then it only happens twice a year.

When except during finals were Royce hall steps so bare? Comparing notes was essential . . . a whole page slipped by while watching the girl in the next seat turn the heel on her argyles.

Two for five, five for ten . . . a good supply of blue books was a good policy . . . there was always someone who didn't bring one. Other necessary items . . . coffee . . . cigarettes . . . a reservation at the nearest rest home.

Leaving only one day in which to recover from their last finals, seniors planned a Top-off frolic at Zucca's Opera house in Culver City. There wasn't much room for dancing . . . but who wanted to dance?

Campus talent added to the laughs . . . short notice didn't bother Bob Fortier, great campus comedian of All-U sings, who kept them rolling in the aisles . . . what aisles? . . . there wasn't that much room.

Grading on the curve . . . scholastic curve that is . . . still fresh in their minds, '49ers were in the mood for Zucca's entertainment. Betty "Ball of Fire" Rowland, Billy Mack and Reggie D'Vorak kept them drooling and laughing to the end.

Into the Lake Enchanto swimming pool she went . . . seniors trekked to the Malibu mountains for an all day outing of swimming, hiking, dancing, baseball, volleyball and picnicking. What better way was there to forget finals?

One, two, three, over the net . . . volley ball games drew the attention of '49ers between swims in the pool and hikes in the hills. All in all, it was a fine opportunity to forget the recent ordeal of the last final.

Bert Fields emceed at the Aloha ball in the Crystal room of the Beverly Hills hotel. The duty he liked best was introducing the class goldbrick, Lee Miskin. A pleasure to give a well deserved award . . . kidding, of course.

Permanent class officers gathered around the mike to say Aloha. They are Dick Hill, president, Margie Hellman, vice president, Mary Ellen Brininger, secretary, and Jim Cook, treasurer. Together with the permanent class council they will coordinate '49er alumni activities.

Kay Martin reigned as the Belle of '49 . . . Ivan Scott's smooth orchestra played the popular tunes of the last four years as seniors reminisced . . . with mixed emotions of relief and regret . . . and danced away the night before graduation.

The courage and intelligence with which they will face the future was told for the graduates by class speaker Joe Brodsky, in a stirring commencement address.

"Pomp and Circumstance" . . . the line of seniors wound into the Open Air theater under a warm California sun in the last commencement in the bowl . . . leveling of the site for the Med school begins this summer.

Provost Dykstra said farewell and congratulations to the class of '49 and presented it to President Sproul for the conferring of degrees . . . a move of the tassel from the left side to right and 3200 Bruins became alums.

About face . . . changing the traditional pattern of diploma, marriage, children to read marriage, children, diploma, a graduating father made the farewell pilgrimage of campus with his family . . . baby accessories and all.

Jeanne Fisher voiced '49ers feelings on leaving their Alma Mater . . . their regrets, thanks, hopes for the future . . . goodbye UCLA . . . hello world.

The long climb . . . ascending Janss steps for the last time as UCLA students, the '49ers wended their way through the campus and heard the merits of their group and the school expounded by campus dignitaries.

graduation

Following Commencement, Dr. and Mrs. Dykstra and President and Mrs. Sproul greeted the graduates at the Provost's reception. Because of the large class, the event was held at Kerckhoff instead of the Provost's residence.

Memories of four years . . . the Pilgrimage before Commencement took graduates and their families to many familiar campus sites. Cap-and-gowned, the class said farewell to their favorite scenes.

Shakespeare would have said "Parting is such sweet . . .". Nancy Holmes would say, "It's been!" But I'll just say "Thanks." Thanks to the hosts of people who functioned on the business staff and to the editorial staff members who with endless patience filled the gaps we left, offered their assistance in the pinches, and worked as a unit to produce this masterpiece despite being harried by the crew at the "other end" of the office. Phil Curran, salesman extraordinary, and tower of strength in the Business office was even fun to have around, yet! He and his crew of more than a hundred salesmen, after weeks of all manner of campaigning, were able in the closing days to give that final push that put our sales figures over the 3800 mark. I'll always be convinced that it was Phil's personal magnetism that was ultimately responsible for the sizeable revenue figure the books show . . . his sales staff was predominantly women . . . blondes.

A brunette very much in the sales picture, however, was Marian "Show Me" Melcher. Our Kansas City Publicity chairman was a godsend . . . a woman who was able to maintain her status with the second floor scribes even during the "late unpleasantness." Marian and her "Melcherisms" were welcome in almost every office in the building, and she could unfailingly be found desk-hopping in Kerckhoff almost any hour of any afternoon. My warmest personal thanks to a woman who sacrificed all her customary restraint, got into levis and led Jack, the Southern Campus' '49er mule around campus to spur book sales. Lee Mayer, longtime friend of SoCampus, and brains (as well as artist) behind the Gold Nugget hunt, was staff member without portfolio for much of the year which produced the '49 book. In the middle of summer, despite cast and all, he climbed three flights of stairs to paint, paste, and type for both staffs. Thanks Lee.

Dick Miller, erstwhile Associate, helped me camouflage my inability in business matters by keeping the books, and punching the adding machine, and telling me when I spent too much. Though R. A. and I usually had our staff meetings between classes, on the walk, in the halls, or over the telephone, still it was fun "Associating," and by dialing 9-9196, having an extra hand in some venture we were undertaking.

What can you say about a man when you've said that he's one of the best guys you've ever worked with anywhere. Brent Bowen has been just that, as organizations' manager, and as my successor he's going to be just that again to all of his new staff. Smiling Brent is the oil on the troubled waters, the most willing aide in the world, and knows men who own donkeys and trucks and things. For service above and beyond the call of duty, thanks Brent.

Ellen (Jones when she worked with us), besides being president of the Gamma Phi house, found time to get herself engaged and manage the business office of the Southern Campus. Friendly, willing, and persistently (to my embarrassment) on time for staff meetings. She knitted and took in the proceedings and then managed to knit the staff together when nobody was looking. Thanks for tying in a lot of loose ends, Ellen.

Ninkie Perrin, robes and mortar boards in hand, could be seen trudging up and down the stairs to Manning's Studio seeing to it that a goodly number of our record class of graduating seniors were photographed and had data cards. Post card correspondence has probably become the sore spot of Ninkie's existence. For shifting the responsibility for those 1600 elusive graduates from yours truly to your own shoulders, thank you Ninkie.

A lot of time and effort, much artistic ability, and a Dee Gee pledge class combined to make the poster staff of our business office a really keen one. Pam Marshall and her staff really delivered the art work so necessary to the sales campaign, and deserves a huge bouquet for their reliability and originality. Thanks Pam and pledge sisters.

There are so many other people who should be thanked . . . the people who typed, filed and generally assisted . . . Jack Sattinger, backbone of the organizations staff . . . Portia, Schenkel, et al, who really belonged to the other end of the office, but who were ready with a willing hand for addressing, for stuffing envelopes, and especially for ideas and inspiration . . . Gloria Jones, Hershey Hall potentate and top saleswoman, Marv Laski, Irwin Branman, all of whom were indispensable to the functioning of Phil's staff and to the success of the book.

Lastly, thanks to Frank for his pleasant, genial manner, for his even temper and indulgent attitude even in the face of such shortcomings of mine as this late copy.

As I sit at my typewriter and gaze out the window at the familiar scene . . . Royce, the Library, the gyms . . . I find within myself a turmoil of emotions. It was almost one year ago to the day that I moved my pencils into the desk labeled editor and started on the job of editing a UCLA yearbook. In some ways it seems like such a long time ago, but in too many ways it has been all too short. The laughs I've had, the party times, yes, even all the headaches, have been fun, more fun than I can express with words. There's a certain thrill in seeing the book being built, which only those who work with it can realize . . . getting the pictures and copy ready, making the paste-ups, watching the forms as they come off the press and finally seeing the full book bound together into one unit. But most of all this year, I've enjoyed the association with the fine people who compose the Southern Campus staff . . . this has been the richest, most wonderful experience of my life.

Here's the product of our labors of the past twelve months . . . I hope you, and the University, are as proud of this annual as I am. After the job's done, you can always sit back and think of all the things that should have been done, but all in all, I am sure that this is the best book we could have produced . . . and that, to me, is a very satisfying feeling.

To you, the staff of the thirtieth volume, my sincere thanks and praise for your excellent work and untiring efforts. The Southern Campus isn't a one man job, and without your continued support and long hours of work, there wouldn't be a book to look at now.

Rick, I can't begin to tell you how fine I think your work is . . . there isn't a person around that can equal your talent or personality. Even though I had some worried moments at times, wondering when in the devil the layouts would be in, they were all worth waiting for.

Nancella . . . trapped in the corner, your desk piled high with everything imaginable . . . even through it all, the proofs were kept straight and filed, and the parties were beyond compare. What's the phrase? . . . "it's been grand."

Les, your cuttin' 'n pastin' job was fine . . . the quality of work excellent and more than any of the gang you managed to keep that "don't get worried, everything's fine" attitude. A lot of thanks Margie for your hard work and for keeping things going during finals, and Chuck for the great job keeping the picture files straight, even with a million people taking pictures out and never putting them back.

Bob, without any qualms, I can say that we have the best copy I've ever seen in a yearbook. All the credit goes to you and your fine crew. Through all the stress and strain you came through in true blue fashion . . . the Friday "work" nights were "the greatest" . . . something to be long remembered. Thanks, book editors . . . Barbara, Fred, Mollie-O, Lyn, Sally, Ed, Bob . . . you did a lot of typewriter pounding, and every piece of copy that came off was tops. (Barbara, I never thought that the seniors would get finished . . . 1500 captions is no small order . . . and, yes, I think everything's peppy.) Although it was a long hard pull for everyone, the copy is great. Your fine writers deserve congrats, too . . . Carla, Bunny, Claire, Wyn, et al.

Char, it's hard to adequately say what a swell job you did . . . it never ceased to amaze me, how you managed to keep every face with the right name. (We all survived the hair cut, too, even though it was a blow at first.) I hope there aren't many slivers left in your hand from the lab door . . . and you really developed quite a voice during the year. To all your staff, which was a good one, go laurels for a job well done. Marcia, Sharla and Char H., you more than helped keep things rolling. Pat, it's good to see you back at the office . . . I'm glad even New York couldn't make you forget KH 304. Thanks, Kris, for all your work during the first semester, keeping the whiz tickets whizzing and helping on the banquet this June.

Jackie, you lightened many an hour in the office . . . kept my desk a mess with your phone books and papers, and were always using the phone when I needed it . . . but I really didn't mind. Without you, the office wouldn't have been the same, and I know that there wouldn't be a picture in the book. Maybe you'll get a chance to use your nom de plume, "Miss Campus" some day.

Portia, I hope everyone to whom I wrote this year doesn't think I'm nuts . . . your letters were priceless . . . I really think we should bind them into a book.

Lyn, you did your usual top notch job, making sure we were always correct . . . I'd hate to see the copy if you hadn't been around to check it.

Stan, I don't see how you manage to produce more and better pictures each year . . . but however you do it, you always seem to keep smiling . . . even with my endless changes and faux pas . . . you've been more than swell. Your able assistants, Coleman and the rest. did an A1 job, too.

Frank, I'm glad we managed to live through it all . . . moving, running out of whiz tickets, burning in all the backgrounds . . . I think your photography was better this year than ever before. Thanks, too, Dorothy, Evelyn and Buster for your long hours of work.

I don't know what would have happened during the year without all the many other members of my staff. Lee, Dave and Claire, and all the rest, you'll never know how I appreciated all your willing help throughout the year, and especially during the last few hectic weeks.

Barbara, you've been the best manager any editor could ask to work with . . . your interest in the editing of the book, your splendid cooperation . . . I've appreciated it all. And what would the office have been like without Marian and Phil, and Ellen, Pam, Brent, Nink and Dick . . . pretty dull.

My thanks for the excellent technical advice received from Bob Rasmus and Johnny Bugel on printing, Warren Lewis on engraving, Bill Retchin on covers and William Weber on binding. You found a way to do even impossible tasks as they came along. Johnny, the many hours I spent down at the plant were all the more enjoyable, thanks to the Cleveland Indians. Thanks, too, Bud and Bing, and all the crew in the shop for a great job.

Mr. Morris, you're the person who made all my problems disappear in the shortest time possible. Your cooperation, advice and help were invaluable throughout the whole job . . . I only wish I could adequately thank you. And Lee, secretary supreme and a source of all types of information and help, my sincere appreciation for your understanding and work.

To all the fine people of the ASUCLA and the University I extend my thanks for your assistance in every phase of production and business. Thanks, Mr. A., for your keen interest in the book, and your encouragement through the year. My appreciation, Stan Reel, Vic Kelley, Frank Stewart, T. D. Stanford, Roy Cullison, Rowe Baldwin, Buck, Roy and Pop, and the girls in KH 201 for your hard work in our behalf. Thanks, Mom and Dad, for your understanding and sympathy during the year. And to Ellie, Bob and Mickey, my gratitude for your guidance and training. To all the friends who wandered into KH 304 during the year with those words of encouragement about how great the book looked, you helped in more than a small way to keep things going and make the job easier.

Well gang, this is the end of a great year . . . the end of a big job, and you have been more than equal to it. Many of us have been together for the past three years, spending our spare hours, and then some, working on the book. Nancy, Char, Kris, Lyn, Barbara . . . we walked into the office almost together, way back in '47 . . . we gathered in new people along the way . . . Les, Bob, Jackie and the rest . . . until this year we had what has been a real team.

To the new crew, my best wishes . . . Bob, Char, Brent, Frank, Jackie, Lyn, Marcia, Nancy . . . take good care of the worry bird, he'll help you out many times. You have a tradition to uphold . . . each volume of the So Cam must not only equal, but excell, the past editions . . . but I have no worries as to next year.

Bob, it's your baby now . . . it's quite a job and quite a year that you have to look forward to. I only hope that you have half the fun that I have had . . . for if you do, you will be more than amply repaid for all your efforts.

Good luck, 30,

Frank

Speculation was high as to whom this year's dedication would be made. The most surprised at the result was Joe E. Brown himself, as he received the first copy of the '49 Southern Campus from Graduate Manager Ackerman.

Banquets are much alike . . . shrimp cocktail, steak, speeches, introductions, applause, awards and the turning over of offices to the new staff . . . the Southern Campus party on June 18 was unique . . . the old staff still had two months of hard work ahead of it.

"Good luck . . . " said Frank Tennant as he handed the editor's job to this year's copy editor, Bob Strock . . . with some of the more tangible accessories of the office . . . a four leaf clover . . . the goldfish . . . and the worry bird.

With a small band playing from the balcony, Kerckhoff hall patio was an effective . . . but chilly . . . setting for the annual presentation of the yearbook. After an hour of munching hors d'oeuvres and meeting old friends, the gang finally got down to eating their shrimp cocktails.

Surprised and beaming, Marcia Tucker accepted the Southern Campus freshm award and the congratulations of the staff for outstanding work as a n frosh staff member. Among other awards presented at the banquet was Pi Delta Epsilon journalism trophy to Libby Stewart.
